Compiled by Jan Robbins Long.

Author’s note: I cannot guarantee the accuracy of everything – but it’s as good as it could be given the accuracy of documents found and the time I had to compile and proof everything.

John Bright from the Bright Side Book

"The following is a certificate for John Bright who joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latterday Saints in Knoxville, Tennessee."

To whom it may concern: This certifies that John Bright has been received into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, organized on the sixth of April in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty and has been ordained a priest according to the rules and regulations of the said church and is duly authorized to preach the gospel agreeable to the authority of that office given April 4, 1842 under the hands of Samuel B. Trost."

The above named John Bright sold three hundred acres of land January 1, 1844, to William A. Fraker for twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) received for payment on March 15, 1844. In May, with team and wagon he and his family left their native town and started for Hancock County to join the Mormons at Nauvoo, Ill. They were able to buy food for themselves and horses on the way. Food for horses was corn fodder, and oats. Food costs averaged fifty cents per day for the horses. John's diary said "On the 6th day of May we came to the cerulean spring, at nine o'clock, which is White Sulphur in Trig County, Kentucky. On May 22 paid 68 3/4 cents to cross toll bridge on the Seline. On May 26 paid two dollars to be ferried across the Ohio in Clinton County, Illinois June 1 ferried across the Illinois River on a boat costs $2.00. A distance of three and one half miles. June 3 stopped to mend wagon at cost of 37 1/2 cents. June 5 landed at Isaac Stephenson's in Hancock County, Ill. 1844". (Source: John Wesley Bright, "History of the Brights" as cited by Dale Bright Miles, The Brights of Cache Valley Utah, p. 130-131.)

They arrived in Nauvoo in the early summer of 1844 with their two sons and the children's grandmother, Susanna Ginther Bright. After arriving there, they resided with the Saints for a period of two years. On the 13 October 1844, another son was added to the family. They named him Isaac Preston. In the year 1846 when the Saints were driven from Nauvoo, they left and journeyed to Council Bluffs, Iowa where they remained until the year 1852. During this time two more children were born to them: a daughter, Sarah Ann, on the 1 April 1847, and their youngest child, John, born 26 March 1849.

On May 8, 1852 the father died. He was a diabetic and had been in poor health for some time. It is said that his deathbed request was that his wife, Susan, put forth every effort to get their family to Utah with the Saints. Soon after his death, they prepared for the trek to Utah. They traveled with the Isaac Stewart company, arriving in Alpine, Utah, where they remained for a few years after which they moved to Willard, Utah.

John, 26 Mar 1849

Susan was the fourth child in the family. On 13 Aug 1835, Susan married John Bright JR in Tennessee, where they settled down to married life, living on a sizeable farm outside of Knoxville. Shortly after their third son was born, the missionaries taught the Bright family the gospel and John and Susan were both baptized into the LDS Church. Susan's baptism date was 2 Mar 1842.

After joining the Church, the Bright family had a desire to join the rest of the Saints. On 1 Jan 1844, John and Susan sold 300 acres of their land for $1200, receiving payment 15 Mar 1844. In May, with their children, John's mother Susannah Ginther Bright (who had also joined the Church), their team and wagon, left their native city and started for Hancock County to be with the Saints in Nauvoo, Illinois. Susan was carrying her fourth child at that time.

In 1846, the Bright Family left Hancock County and moved to Pottawattamie County, Iowa, settling in Council Bluffs where their only daughter was born in 1847, and their sixth child John was also born. John and Susan lived in Council Bluffs for about six years. John suffered with diabetes and without the knowledge of proper treatment, died in 1852 at the age of forty-three. This left Susan a widow with five children and an elderly mother-in-law to care for.

With her five children and mother-in-law, two yoke of oxen, three cows and eleven sheep she joined the Isaac Steward Company headed for Utah in Aug 1842. They arrived in what is now known as Alpine 15 Sep 1852. They lived in Alpine for five years.

It is here that Susan received her Patriarchal Blessing where she was told, "Thou hast had many trials and afflictions in thy past life but because of thy integrity and honesty of thine heart, thou shalt be provided for and thy later days shall be better than thy former. Manifestations of the Holy Spirit shall be given unto you for your comfort and consolation, and thy posterity shall become numerous upon the earth.

Susan and family lived for a short time in Willard, and then in 1859, Susan and the rest of the family moved to Richmond, Cache County, where she passed away 20 Sep 1874 in the place her son Gilbert had selected and prepared for them.

On the first day of January in 1844, John Bright sold three hundred acres of land to William A. Fraker for twelve hundred dollars ($1,200) and received payment on March 15, 1844. In May, with team and wagon, he and his family left their native town and started for Hancock County to join the Mormons at Nauvoo, Ill.

They were able to buy food for themselves and horses on the way. Food for horses was corn, corn fodder and oats and costs averaged fifty cents a day for horses.

John's diary records. "On the 6th day of May we came to the Cerulean Springs, at nine o'clock, which I white sulfur in Trig County, Kentucky. On May 22 paid 66 $\frac{3}{4}$ cents to cross toll bridge on the Seline. On May 26 paid two dollars to be ferried across Ohio in Clinton County, Ill. June 1 ferried across the Illinois River on a boat costs \$2.00. A distance of three and one half miles. June 3 stopped to mend wagon at cost of 37 $\frac{1}{2}$ cents. June 5, 1844 landed at Isaac Stephenson's in Hancock County, Ill."

John and Susan had three children – Charles, Joseph Minet and Gilbert – before leaving Knoxville to go to Nauvoo, Ill., in May of 1844. On June 5, they reached Isaac Stephenson's in Hancock County, Ill. Stephenson had married Susan's sister. On Oct 13, 1844 another child was born to John and Susan, and they named him Isaac Preston. In February 1846, John went back to Knoxville, to collect bills no doubt, as he owned 400 acres and only sold 300.

The Bright family has no account of their journey from Illinois to Pottawattamie County, Iowa. It must be that this journey was made in 1846 as Sarah Ann, another child, was born at Council Bluffs, Iowa, on April 1, 1847, and in this county.

Their youngest child, John, was born on March 26, 1849. The elder John Bright was stricken with diabetes, which caused his death May 8, 1852. His dying request to his wife was, "Never cease your efforts until you reach the (Salt Lake) valley."

On September 15, 1852, Susan with family and her husband's mother, Susanna Ginter, reached Utah County with the Isaac Steward Company. They located at Mountainville, now known as Alpine.

A branch of the church had been organized at that place on Feb 10 of that same year with Charles S. Peterson as branch president. The Bright's oldest boy Joseph – Charles had died in infancy – was 14 years old. They obtained a city lot in town and 25 acres of farm land outside the little settlement.

They brought with them two yoke of oxen (4 head), three cows and 11 head of sheep from Iowa. Gilbert and Isaac walked a great deal of the distance to help drive the sheep and cattle which the company brought.

The crops were good in Mountainville for three years – 1851 through 1853. Susan and her family arrived in September 1852 and they experienced a good year in 1853. This was the last of good years in Alpine. The following is from the book "Alpine Yesterdays."

"The settlers worked hard and although they were poor in worldly goods, their faith was strong. They had been blessed with good crops for three years and life was beginning to look a little brighter. The crops of 1854 were very promising and they were looking forward to a bounteous harvest.

One day the sky suddenly darkened. People rushed outside to see what the matter was. A cloud of swarming insects flew toward the fields, settled on the crops and began their destruction. The people tried all kinds of ways to destroy or drive the insects off. They fought until they dropped with exhaustion, but in no avail. The insects just moved slowly on, devouring nearly everything in their path.

For 10 years, the settlers were tried with this plague of crickets and grasshoppers. It was a struggle to save enough of the crop for seed for the coming year and a meager existence for the families. Some of the people nearly starved to death and many of the animals died. Several settlers left Alpine for other locations where the insects weren't so bad.

The winter of 1854 and 1855 had snow four to six feet deep in the valley, but little in the mountains, which caused a shortage of water the next summer. Crops were poor and the hordes of crickets finished off what little did grow. According to Nelson, the winters of '55 and '56 were the most severe ever experienced in Utah...Nearly all the animals died."

To say the Saints were sorely tried at this time would be putting it mildly. Susan Bright remained in Alpine for five years. Then they consecrated their 40 acres and went to Willard, Utah. Joseph, at that time, was 19-years-old and his mother allowed the contribution to be given in his name.

In 1858, when the United States Army came to destroy the Mormons, the northern settlements were advised to move south of Salt Lake City. They went south – supposedly to Alpine or Utah County – until peace was established with the soldiers, known as Johnson’s Army.

When the Bright family returned to Willard, in the fall of 1859, Gilbert came to Richmond where he remained and made his home for the balance of his life. In the spring of 1860, he had a garden planted for the family when they came to make Richmond their home.

After moving to Richmond, all of Susan’s younger boys – Gilbert, Isaac, and John – went back to Nebraska at various times to get the poor emigrants. The trip took a full summer. The boys had to take two of their own teams and the Church ward would furnish the flour and supplies to make the trip.

This helps to show what faith and dedication Susan and her family had to the establishment of the Church. Susan had much faith, to start out for a 1200 mile trip with horses and wagon and five children under 14. Then after she got here, they had to build their own log cabin and provide their share of work for the community.

Living was difficult after arriving in Mountainville. The move to Richmond proved to be a blessing for each of her sons was able to homestead 80 acres or more of good farmland. We, as the Bright family, owe Susan a great deal of gratitude for her great faith and hard work.

Annetta was born in Portsmouth, England. She had very little schooling because she was busy assisting in bread winning for the family. She married Henry Fleet with whom she moved to northern France where their three daughters were born. He was not a good husband and they were divorced before the birth of her third daughter.

She married Thomas Smart who was a brick maker working in northern France. They emigrated to the United States and settled in St. Louis, Missouri, as farmers. Here they heard of and investigated the message of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. They were converted and baptized as members of the Church. They crossed the Plains in the Allen Weeks Wagon Company and arrived in the Salt Lake Valley on October 12, 1852.

They first settled in American Fork area. Then they moved to Provo where Thomas managed a tannery shop. Their final move was to Franklin, Idaho, where they were founding pioneers. She and her husband had a large farm and became prominent in the community. Annetta served in civic and church positions, particularly the Relief Society Presidency. She was industrious and frugal by nature. She enjoyed the pleasure of extending hospitality to the leading dignitaries who visited the area.

Annetta passed away at the age of fifty-four when she was struck by lightning as she sat sewing at the door of her home in 1876. She was buried in the private cemetery on the farm.

Hayter_annsmart_1822sep_hayter family

Now as to Ann Hayter's family. She was born 18 Sep. 1822 at Portsmouth, Hampshire, England as recorded by her father in a record copied by her son William Henry Smart when he visited England in 1886. Her mother Keziah died four years later at No. 8 Buckland Place, in Portsea, a suburb of Portsmouth; the family had lived in the Parish of Portsea and attended the Church of St. Marys since 1804 when their first child was born.

FRANCE

Ann Hayter's Mother, Kezia, died when Ann was only 4 years old; she was probably unhappy in her father's home and ran away a few years later to live with her older sister Sarah who had been married in 1829, (by this time Ann would have been 7 years old. Many years later (in 1886) while on a visit to England her sister Charlotte told Ann's son William Henry that his Mother had run away. (log 5, 7, 17) 24 Oct 1841 Ann married Henry Fleet a son of Henry Fleet a Baker, he gave his occupation as Labourer. This event occurred in the Parish Church of St. Marys' in Southampton about 20 miles North West of her home in Portsea, a suburb of Portsmouth. Her sister Sarah Cooper was a witness to the wedding.

Shortly after their marriage the Fleets moved to France, where Henry had obtained a job as a teacher. Sarah told William Henry that she went to the ship to see her sister Ann off to France. Sarah's eldest daughter, Jane, said she remembered very well her aunt Ann and cried to (go) with her when she went to France. (17.)

Thomas Sharratt Smart

Ruby's adopted great-grandfather

BIRTH (1823): THOMAS SHARRATT SMART

When Thomas Sharratt Smart was born on September 14, 1823 in Shenstone, Staffordshire, England, his father William was 42 and his mother Mary was 28. He was married three times and had five sons and ten daughters. Thomas Sharratt Smart married Annetta Ann HAYTER in France on March 1, 1847, when he was 23 years old. He crossed the Plains in the Allen Weeks Wagon Company and arrived in the Salt Lake Valley on October 12, 1852. He died on April 18, 1901 in Franklin, Idaho, having lived a long life of 77 years and was buried there. Thomas Sharratt Smart was Ruby's maternal grandmother's adopted father.

"This is a picture of the Smart Barn in Franklin, Idaho. We were told by the owners that Thomas and his children built this huge barn with their own hands. Picture was taken in 1981."

SMART, Thomas Sharratt, one of the founders and the first president of the Franklin (Idaho) ecclesiastical branch, was born Sept. 14, 1823, at Stonewall, Shenstone parish, Staffordshire, England, the son of William Smart and Maria Sharratt. He was the second son of his father's family, which consisted of four boys and five girls. His father was a tallow chandler and truck gardener and from early boyhood Thomas assumed responsibilities with his father in business. When only seventeen years of age he was offered a position in Normandy, France, where he engaged in brick making. Here he remained five years, and during this time married Ann Hayter, daughter of Henry Hayter and Kezia Dennison of Portsmouth, England. Ann had previously been married, but her husband had proved unworthy of her. Bro. Smart took care of her three children (Mary Ann, Alice and Louisa) and subsequently they became his by celestial adoption. The New World having become attractive to Thomas, he came to America and settled in St. Louis, Missouri, where he engaged in business and farming. Having leased a farm near the city, he hired, among other men, Henry Gale, a Latter-day Saint, and from him heard the gospel of salvation which he eagerly embraced, and after only six weeks' investigation he and his wife were declared ready for baptism. Bro. Smart was baptized by John A. Richards and his wife by Samuel Obray. President Brigham Young having issued a manifesto for all Saints who could do so to emigrate from the Pottawattamie country, Iowa, to the body of the Church, about 10,000 responded, among them Brother Smart and his family, leaving for the West April 8, 1852. A Brother Rigby, who was then president of the St. Louis branch, organized a company of seventeen wagons and about twenty families over which he was made captain. They arrived in Salt Lake City Sept. 4, 1852, and Bro. Smart soon afterwards located in American Fork, Utah county, and while here was ordained an Elder by Claud Rogers. In 1856 he moved to Provo, where he had been requested to take charge of a tannery and shoe shop. Here he was ordained a Seventy by an Elder Thomas. Brother Smart also took an active part in military affairs and at the time of the Black Hawk war (1865-1867) he served as a captain of guards. In 1860 he moved to the district which is now known as Franklin, Idaho, being one of the pioneers of that locality and the first president of the branch of the Church organized there. Subsequently, this branch was organized as a Ward, when Bro. Smart was installed as a counselor in the bishopric, a position which he filled with great fidelity. Being very frugal in his habits he accumulated a considerable amount of property and he was always on hand to assist others who were in need. Thus he sent his teams several times across the plains after poor emigrants, going once himself as teamster. When the Oneida Stake was organized he was ordained a High Priest by Apostle Franklin D. Richards and set apart as a member of the High Council. Besides the three children, whom he adopted, his first wife, Ann Hayter, bore him eight children, namely, Charlotte Elizabeth, Maria, Thomas H., Sarah Ann, Eliza, Frances Ann, William Henry and Mary Jane. He also married Minnie Shrives (daughter of Edwin Shrives and Elizabeth Holton), who was born Dec. 12, 1860, and who bore him four children, namely, Leslie Edwin, Vernon, Iva Lilla and Melvin Shrives. He also married Margaret Justice, who bore him one daughter (Jane). Brother Smart was very active in organizing utility business companies for the advancement of the several localities in which he lived. He died in Franklin, Oneida county, Idaho, April 18, 1901. A few years ago a monument was erected in Franklin in honor of Bro. Smart and his associate pioneers by the citizens of the town and the posterity of the pioneers of the settlement in recognition of their labors for the public good. Elder Smart was of fair complexion, having blue eyes and auburn hair and was of a pure Anglo-Saxon type. He was about six feet in height, robust and well built, weighing about two hundred pounds. He was strong and athletic and enjoyed hunting, fishing and all natural innocent sports. He was of a sympathetic and kindly nature, ever upholding the rights of the weak and down-trodden, and was honest to the core. He held various positions of public trust, serving many times as a juror, his judicial temperament being of a high order. He was often chosen as an arbitrator and was known generally as a "Good Samaritan" and a man of peace. He was spiritually as well as temporally minded, fervent in prayer, faithful in observing, for the most part, the cardinal principles of the gospel, ever upheld authority and was especially gifted in administering to the sick. He was retiring and modest in his nature, never intruding himself and was among that great body of true sons of Israel who must be known to be appreciated, and of whom it is written "There are they who are last that shall be first," and who, having taken their pioneer burdens for pillows, await the reward of the faithful.

Elder Justin C. Wixom was appointed president, and Elders Harry Luff and Hyrum P. Folsom his counsellors: these appointments were unanimously sustained by the vote of the passengers. The captain of the ship, D. P. Birth

Gilbert Bright

Holly's grandfather

BIRTH (1840): GILBERT BRIGHT

When Gilbert Bright was born on March 9, 1840, in Knoxville, Tennessee, his father John was 31 and his mother Susan was 29. He married Alice Hill on December 6, 1869 in Salt Lake City, Utah. They had seven children in 17 years. He died on January 26, 1917 in Richmond, Utah and was buried there. He lived a long life of 76 years. Gilbert Bright was Holly's maternal grandfather.

Biography: Gilbert Bright was born March 9, 1840, Knox County, TN. He is the Son of John Bright Jr. and Susan Pugh, she joined the Church in Knox county, TN. It was in the month of May, 1844 with team and wagon, that they journeyed to Nauvoo, Illinois where the Mormons were. Their family consisted of two parents, two children, Joseph and Gilbert, together with John's Mother, Susanna Ginther Bright. On 13 Oct 1844, another child was born whom they named Isaac Preston Bright. In the year 1846, they moved to Council Bluffs, in Pottawattamie county, Iowa, where a daughter, Sara Ann was born, April 1, 1847. They remained there until the death of the father John, May 8th, 1852.

On March 26, 1849, their son John was born in Pottawattamie county, Iowa. The father's death bequest was for his wife, Susan to not cease her efforts until she reached the Salt Lake Valley with the Saints. After his burial, his wife began to prepare for the journey westward.

On the 15th of September 1852, they reached Alpine, Utah (then known as Mountainville, Utah). They arrived with the Isaac Stewart Company. All the way crossing the plains, it was Susan's sons, Gilbert and Isaac's job, to walk and help drive the sheep and cattle that were not used for beast of burden. Beside their ox team, Susan Pugh Bright, had eleven head of sheep, plus one or two milk cows. They remained at Alpine for a few years, after which they moved to Willard, Utah.

When Johnson's Army came to exterminate the Mormons, the people were all ordered to move South of Salt Lake City. It was then that the Bright family moved back to Alpine. After the scare of the Army was over, they consecrated their property in Alpine to the Church and moved back to Willard, Utah.

In the spring of 1860, the Bright family moved to Richmond, Cache Valley, Utah. Gilbert came to Richmond in the Autumn of 1859 where he wintered in company with others. When the family arrived the following Spring of 1860, Gilbert had a garden planted for them. Gilbert made one trip across the plains bringing emigrants who were coming to Utah in 1866. It took him all summer to make this trip.

Gilbert married Alice Hill Dec. 6, 1869; made his home and raised his family in Richmond, Cache, Utah. He died January 26, 1917 and was buried in Richmond Cemetery.

(This was taken from the original copy in possession of Hazen Bright's records March 13, 1963, by Armina S. Bright, wife of Laron A. Bright, (grandson of Gilbert Bright Sr.)

"I Laron A. Bright was personally acquainted with by Grandfather Bright. He came to stay at my father's home in the Winder Ward, after the death of my Grandmother who died March 18th, 1914. Grandfather was a very religious man and I remember him as being very kind to we grandchildren. Grandfather was a great lover of horses, and I remember of him having a team of rhone mares and he always kept them well fed and well groomed. His farm was located in the west fields of Richmond, but he had his home in town, just two blocks east of the center of Richmond. Their first home was built of logs (like other pioneers) then later they built a frame home near the old log house. Grandfather had a big lot there on that corner and we grandchildren were free to run and play without being restricted too much, we even played on his hay stack and "boy!" did we have fun. Many times my cousins from Downey, ID; Freedom, WY; Lewiston, UT and those living in Richmond, would be with we Winder kids and we really had a good time at Grandpa's and Grandma's. Grandma's cookie jar was always open to us on such occasions. We loved our Grandparents dearly."

Thomas Mendenhall Jr., Feb 18, 1844, North Carson, Delaware. Elizabeth February 1847. Died April 27, 1847. In 1843 [Thomas Sr] joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Later Day Saints. His wife did not join until January 1846. After joining the Church, he had a desire to go west and join the Saints, so he came to Nauvoo. His wife died at Council Bluff April 27, 1848, leaving him with four children to care for alone. In March 1850 he married Catherine Barton. She was born November 26, 1805 at North Umberland, Pennsylvania. She was sealed to him the 26th of October 1861. She died in 1877. He also married Marjoretta Neilson. She was sealed to him March 7, 1870. She was born May 30, 1819, at Colerup, Denmark. He came to Utah with his family September 15, 1852, in David Wood's Company, settling in Spanish Fork. [Thomas Sr.] made three trips back across the plains to bring immigrants to Salt Lake. In the spring of 1860, he and his family was called to settle Franklin, Idaho. At the time it was thought to be in Utah, but proved to be in Idaho. So it was the first permanent white settlement of Idaho. They endured all the hardships and privations of pioneer life. [Thomas Sr.] was active in the Church and donated freely to help build the Church and community. He was a farmer and trader, traveling between Franklin and Salt Lake City. He would buy the people's produce, take it to Salt Lake City and sell it then bring merchandise back and sell it. He was trustworthy, honest, dependable and fearless; his word being as good as his bond. He was very good to the poor and needy. It is said of him when he went to the canyon for wood the men would want him to brake his wagon, but he would only say, "It's a poor team that can't outrun a wagon." He was a good teamster. He was very industrious and a hard worker and believed in his family working too. The last few years of his life he made his home with his sons George and Thomas Jr. He died at George's home, September 7, 1888, at the age of 88, at Dayton, Idaho. He was buried on George's farm in their burial lot. [Excerpt: Sketch of Thomas Mendenhall Sr. 1806-1888 From Daughters of the Utah Pioneer Files Written by Nettie Pearl Mendenhall Handy]

THOMAS MENDENHALL

LOUISA F. SMART
MENDENHALL

Her father was appointed the first Presiding Elder. She was at this time fourteen years old, and took part in all the trials and hardships of the early settlement. She gathered weeds and herbs of different kinds, gleaned wheat, spun yarn, wove cloth, knit stockings, made candles, soap, butter, cheese, and helped on the farm. As she was the third oldest girl of the family of ten, she had to carry an extra burden. There were only two boys, and the first was the sixth child. She also helped cook and carry food to the soldiers who were hurt in the Battlecreek War. And took part in helping destroy the crickets.

Louisa Smart married Thomas Mendenhall Jr., a pioneer of Franklin on the 31 March 1863 at Franklin, Idaho. On 27 December 1864 they went to the Salt Lake Endowment house where they were married for time and all eternity. They located in Franklin where their first child, Catherine Ann was born on 29 December 1863. The child died 6 June 1864. Thomas George was born 7 June 1865 and died 16 Oct. 1866.

In the spring of 1866 they moved to Oxford Idaho, and were among the first settlers there. It was here that Mary Ann was born the 3 May 1867. Their next move was to Clifton Idaho, and from there they moved to Bear River, or Bridgeport where they had a large farm. It was here that Rhoda Kaziah was born 25 July 1869. Suzanna Matilda 29 Nov. 1871. William Henry 21 Nov. 1873, and Lorin Mathew 18 March 1876.

By this time their children were old enough for school so they decided to move in where it would be easier for them to attend. They got a home in Franklin, and moved there for the winter and then back to the farm in the summer. Ada Louise was born 12 Jan. 1878. Ruth May 16 Nov. 1880. Nettie Pearl 7 March 1883. Leo Smart 6 April 1886, and Bert 4 July 1888.

When the girls were old enough to help. Mother turned her house into a hotel which she ran for a good many years. Then some of the girls went to the farm. Because father was a farmer and a cattle man it kept him close to the farm and threw most of the responsibility of raising the children on mother.

Mother's mother (Annetta Hayter Smart) was killed by lightning, and left young children so her brother William and sister Mary Jane made their home with mother until they were married; also her sister Sarah Ann, made our place her home when she was not away to school until her marriage. Jim Frew also made his home with us until he married. Her home was also a home for the polygamists and their families. I have heard my brother say that at night they would have every bed full and some on the floor and the next morning they would all be gone. This was an added responsibility but she accepted it cheerfully. She did lots of public work as counselor of the Relief Society; worked on the missionary committee, was a teacher in the Relief Society until her death. Father died 31 March 1909, then mother spent part of her time with her children until her death 20 August 1922 at the age of 75.

Thus ended a long and useful life full of faith and hope and an abiding testimony of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Alice Hill was the fourth child in the family. The Hill family residence was located at 19 Carrington Field in Stockport, Cheshire, England. The missionaries taught them the gospel and Alice's parents were baptized in 1841. Alice was baptized on 28 Nov, 1865. Shortly after this, Alice immigrated to the United States.

Prior to 1869, Alice was married to a man named James Small. It is unknown when or where they were married and what became of him. Alice traveled to Utah in Capt. Hunt's company, her parents having immigrated a few months before, and she was going to join them. Her second husband, Gilbert Bright was escorting the pioneers from the Platte River into the Salt Lake Valley when the two met.

The Hill family settled in Richmond, Cache County, Utah, and it was here that the Bright family eventually settled also. Gilbert Bright began courting Alice. They fell in love and were married, 6 Dec, 1869, in the Salt Lake City Endowment House.

Shortly thereafter, 29 Sep, 1870, Alice received her Patriarchal Blessing from patriarch Charles W. Hyde. In that blessing, Alice was told that "The Lord has given His angels charge over you that you may live as long as you desire life... and you shall have a seat with the Ancient of Days, even with Adam, your father. . . . You will walk hand in hand with your Redeemer." Alice was always strict in her observance of the gospel principles.

Gilbert and Alice owned a nice farm in Richmond that included a large apple orchard. They became the parents of six children, all born and raised in Richmond, where Gilbert and Alice lived all their married lives.

LOUISA FLEET SMART MENDENHALL

10/11/1846 – 8/20/1922

Written by Nettie Pearl Mendenhall, daughter

Louisa Smart Mendenhall was the daughter of Annetta Hayter Smart, and the adopted daughter of Thomas Smart. She was born in North France of English descent, 11 October 1846. She came to America with her parents when still a baby. They settled in St. Louis, Missouri, and lived there until 1852. Having joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, they desired to gather with the saints, and they arrived in Salt Lake City on April 8, 1852; and then settled in American Fork. In 1856 they moved to Provo and lived there until the spring of 1860. It was then that her father with his family was called to settle Franklin, the first permanent white settlement of Idaho.

On 27 December 1864 they went to the Salt Lake Endowment house where they were married for time and all eternity. They located in Franklin where their first child. Catherine Ann was born on 29 December 1863. The child died 6 June 1864. Thomas George was born 7 June 1865 and died 16 October 1866.

In the spring of 1866 they moved to Oxford, Idaho, and were among the first settlers there. It was here that Mary Ann was born the 3 May 1867. Their next move was to Clifton, Idaho, and from there they moved to Bear River, or Bridgeport where they had a large farm. It was here that Rhoda Kaziah was born 25 July 1869. Suzanne Matilda 29 November 1871. William Henry 21 November 1873, and Lorin Mathew 18 March 1876.

By this time their children were old enough for school so they decided to move in where it would be easier for them to attend. They got a home in Franklin, and moved there for the winter and then back to the farm in the summer.

Ada Louise was born 12

January 1878, Ruth May 16 November

1880, Nettie Pearl 7 March 1883, Leo Smart 6 April 1886, and Bert 4 Bert 4 July 1888.

When the girls were old enough to help, Mother turned her house into a hotel which she ran for a good many years. Then some of the girls went to the farm. Because father was a farmer and a cattleman, it kept him close to the farm and threw most of the responsibility of raising the children on mother.

Mother's mother (Annetta Hayter Smart) was killed by lightning, and left young children as her brother William and sister Mary Jane made their home with mother until they were married; also her sister Sarah Ann made our place her home when she was not away to school until her marriage. Jim Frew also made his home with us until he married. Her home was also a home for the polygamists and their families. I have heard my brother say that at night they would have every bed full and some on the floor and the next morning they would all be gone. This was an added responsibility but she accepted it cheerfully. She did lots of public work as counselor of the Relief Society; worked on the missionary committee, was a teacher in the Relief Society until her death. Father died 31 March 1909, then mother spent part of her time with her children until her death 20 August 1922 at the age of 75.

Thus ended a long and useful life full of faith and hope and an abiding testimony of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Inscription.

This historic cemetery of Kanesville (now Council Bluffs) was created as the resting place for the mortal remains of several hundred Mormon pioneers. From 1846 to 1853, thousands members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (the Mormons) lived in area as they prepared for the westward to Utah. Most of the early Mormon pioneers buried here died of disease, exposure, accidents, and other effects of the harsh frontier life. Their graves are at the high east end of the cemetery. Weather has destroyed all but a few of the headstones.

Other nearby monuments include a memorial to Abraham Lincoln, who came here in 1859 to examine a possible route for the intercontinental railroad. A few yards southeast of the cemetery is a memorial honoring Ruth Ann Dodge, wife of Grenville Dodge—chief engineer of the Union Pacific Railroad from Council Bluffs to Promontory, Utah. On the north edge of the cemetery is the Kinsmen Monument, which honors Iowa's Civil War dead. Chief Billy Caldwell and other Pottawatamie Indian veterans of [the] War of 1812 may be buried here also.

BIRTH (1868): JOHN WILKINSON

When John Wilkinson was born on February 10, 1868, in Preston, Idaho, his father Abednego was 31 and his mother Bathsheba was 32. He married Rhoda Kezziah Mendenhall in the Logan Utah Temple. They had six children in 17 years. He died on May 6, 1910, in Salt Lake City, Utah at the age of 42 and was buried in Franklin, Idaho. John Wilkinson was Ruby's father.

John Wilkinson was born February 10, 1869 at Franklin, ID. He was a tall man, about 6 foot 6 inches and he loved baseball.

Rhoda Kezziah Mendenhall was born July 25, 1869 at Bear River, Idaho. She soon moved to Franklin.

John and Rhoda were married December 9, 1891 in the Logan Temple. They were the parents of nine children. John was prosperous and owned a sheep farm on the hills east of Franklin. It is said he would have been a "rich man". But he passed away at the age of 39 of cancer. Their youngest child, Rhoda, was six months old when he died. They had begun building a home in Franklin so Rhoda went ahead and finished the home and raised her family. She had "milk leg" and was unable to get out of the house much because she was unable to do much walking. Her oldest son, Herbert, died at age 32 and her daughter Louisa passed away at age 35 leaving five young daughters. Three baby boys had died in infancy.

John Wilkinson

1869-1910

John Wilkinson was born February 10, 1869, in Franklin, Idaho. His parents are Abendigo Wilkinson and Bathsheba Ackroyd.

He married Rhoda Kezziah Mendenhall on December 9, 1891 in the Logan Temple. They are the parents of Herbert M., Arlein, M., Audra M., Louisa M., Ruby M., and Rhoda M..

He was 6 foot 6 inches tall and his wife, Rhoda, was very short so she could stand underneath his outstretched arm. He is remembered for playing baseball and for being very generous with others and particularly to the older people. When one of their children was born, Mrs. Ackinson came to take care of the house and the baby. She was a plural wife of a gentleman who lived in Franklin. When she finished helping, John bought her a ruby ring for helping with the household chores and the children. She was so happy because she had never had a ring.

He was on the committee to start the first Idaho Celebration in Franklin. The celebration was to be held June 15, but he passed away on May 6, just over a month before the celebration. The Idaho Celebration continued on for many years and became one of the biggest celebrations in the valley with people gathering to Franklin from all over the valley. They came by horse and buggy and car. There was a Farris wheel, merry-go-round and a lot of visiting and celebrating.

John and his brother, Uriah, owned much of the hillside above Franklin and raised sheep there. John was the businessman of the two of them. It was said that if he had lived he would have been a very wealth man. A barn had been built and the plans for a home for John and his wife, Rhoda, were completed. At the time of his death, Rhoda was advised that she should go ahead and complete the home and then she could take in boarders to help with finances. There were no boarders to take in. The home was one of the nicest in Franklin.

John became sick and it was decided he would go to Salt Lake City for an operation so he and Rhoda went to Salt Lake on the train. When he was operated on, he was found to have cancer. He passed away in Salt Lake City on May 6, 1910. He is buried at the Franklin, Idaho cemetery. (The cemetery lot is in the southwest corner of the cemetery.)

BIRTH (1869): RHODA KEZZIAH MENDENHALL

When Rhoda Kezziah Mendenhall was born on July 25, 1869 in Franklin, Idaho, her father Thomas was 25 and her mother Louisa was 22. She married John Wilkinson in Cache, Utah. They had six children in 17 years. She died on September 8, 1939 in Franklin, Idaho at the age of 70 and was buried there. Rhoda Kezziah Mendenhall was Ruby's mother.

1869-1939

Rhoda Kezziah Mendenhall Wilkinson was born July 25, 1869, at Bear River Ranch in Idaho. She lived there until about twelve years of age, when her father bought a home in Franklin. Her father still lived on the ranch, and when she got older, she went to the ranch and cooked for her father and hired men. Her mother stayed in Franklin and took care of the rest of the family.

While on the ranch she made butter and sold it to Mrs. Paul who kept a hotel in Battle Creek.

She had a pony of her own and when she came to Franklin she had to ford Bear River. Each spring the water came up so high it washed the bridge away and when they crossed in a wagon they had to tie the box onto the wagon so it would not float away.

Rhoda attended school in Bear River, Franklin, and Brigham Young College in Logan, Utah.

On December 9, 1891 she married John Wilkinson in the Logan L.D.S. Temple. Besides the job of raising her family, she found time to serve as secretary of the Sunday School under superintendent T.B. Nash and she was also in the choir. She was second counselor to President Roxey Webster in the Mutual and was released from there to serve in the Primary under President Joan M. Doney.

On September 19, 1898, a short time before her third child was expected, her husband had gone to the canyon when a bad east wind started; Rhoda was very frightened so she took her two small children and went four blocks to her mother's to stay. A short time after she was taken sick, and as all the things she needed were at her home, she returned for them and found that the wind had blown the summer kitchen away, the doors were blown open and the windows blown out. She had to return to her mother's where her baby boy was still born that night. It was from this ordeal that she developed milk leg and was afflicted with it after that, getting much worse in later years. She also lost two other baby boys.

In April, 1910 John was taken to Salt Lake City hospital where he was operated on for cancer. He died two weeks later, leaving Louise with six children, Herbert, 18, was the oldest and the youngest, Rhoda, was six months. Fourteen years later Herbert, the only boy, died at the age of 32 years.

Her daughter Louise who was married to Roscoe Zumbrennen, lived in Cokevill, Wyoming after her marriage. Roscoe brought her to her mother's home each time she had a child. She had five daughters, including one set of twins.

Louise Zumbrunnen and five daughters

When the girls were very small Louise had surgery for a goiter and died soon after, leaving the five little girls. They came to their Grandmother Wilkinson's house often to visit.

Before John died he had built a barn and had plans ready for a home. Rhoda was able to carry out his plans and build the home. It was a nice home and she lived there the rest of her life. She enjoyed having her children's friends around and often the upstairs bedrooms were full of their friends. She lived across the street from the Park in Franklin, and when the 15th of June came each year, the annual Idaho Celebration, she had a lot of relatives and friends visit. She prepared a lot of food for them and enjoyed having them come and spend time with her and visit during the celebration.

She suffered for many years with an ailment which was called "milk leg" in her day. She had big sores on her legs and at times could hardly walk. They were very painful. She could not get any medical relief for her legs. She soaked her legs in boric acid and water and kept them wrapped as a treatment.

Having been a widow for 29 years, Rhoda died on September 8, 1939, at her home of a stroke. Four of her nine children were living—Arlein Hampton, Audra Swenston, Ruby Albiston, and Rhoda Anderson. She had 19 living grandchildren and one great grandchild at the time of her death.

The following are two letters written by daughter Louisa Wilkinson Zumbrennen just before her death on February 22, 1935, leaving her husband and five small daughters. Can you imagine as a Mother receiving letters like this from your daughter and you are unable to see her or help her.

DEATH (1874): SUSAN PUGH BRIGHT

With her five children and mother-in-law, two yoke of oxen, three cows and eleven sheep Susan joined the Isaac Stewart Company headed for Utah on June 19, 1852. They arrived in what is now known as Alpine on September 15, 1852. They lived in Alpine for five years. It was here that Susan received her Patriarchal Blessing where she was told, "Thou hast had many trials and afflictions in thy past life but because of thy integrity and honesty of thine heart, thou shalt be provided for and thy later days shall be better than thy former... Manifestations of the Holy Spirit shall be given unto you for your comfort and consolation, and thy posterity shall become numerous upon the earth."

Susan and family lived for a short time in Willard, and then in 1859, Susan and the rest of the family moved to Richmond, Cache Valley, Utah where she passed away on September 20, 1874. She is buried in Richmond, Utah. John Bright Jr. is buried in Council Bluffs Iowa.

BIRTH (1899): AUDRA MENDENHALL WILKINSON

When Audra Mendenhall Wilkinson was born on August 9, 1899, in Franklin, Idaho, her father, John, was 31, and her mother, Rhoda, was 30. She had one brother and four sisters. She died on February 25, 1987, in Richfield, Idaho, at the age of 87, and was buried there. Audra was Ruby's older sister.

Audra Wilkinson was born on August 9, 1899 in Franklin Oneida Idaho. Her father John Wilkinson was a sheep man. He was over six feet tall and had a thin build. Her mother was Rhoda Keziah Mendenhall. Franklin had a special meaning for her because her grandfather Thomas Sherratt Smart was sent by Brigham Young in the year 1860 with thirteen other families to establish a settlement. He crossed the Utah border unknowingly and the first settlement in Idaho came to be.

As a child Audra was sick a lot. When she was nine her appendix ruptured. She spent Christmas in the hospital. She was ahead of her time. In a day when young woman did not work outside the home, she was employed at the Sego Milk plant in Franklin and at the Candy Kitchen in Preston. During the great flu epidemic of 1918-1920, Audra volunteered to go into the homes of the sick to do laundry, fix food, bath the sick and prepare the dead for burial. She wanted to be a nurse and entered Agricultural College in Logan for training. All went well until her first experience in the operating room where she promptly fainted away at the first sight of blood. Thus ended her nursing career. She went on however, to learn the skill of sewing and tailoring there.

Audra was willing and even anxious to try new things. When a young fellow brought the first motorcycle to town, it wasn't long before she could be seen dressed in pantaloons riding behind him. She loved a good time. She was an excellent horseman and could drive a horse and buggy with the best of them. She experienced many firsts, the first telephone, the first car, the Wright Brothers first airplane flight.

Audra married Leo Swainston on February 11, 1920 in the Logan Temple. They made their first home in Whitney Idaho. During their time here they had four sons Nyle, Keith, Ross and Norman. Although they lived in Whitney, these four boys were born at Audra's mothers' home in Franklin. The family moved to Jerome in 1928. They added three more children while living here, Darleine, Darrell and Nancy. In March 1940 the family moved to Richfield Idaho. This is where Audra spent most of her remaining years.

Audra was an excellent cook and seamstress. She knit and crocheted and made many quilts, mittens, slippers, and booties for her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren as well as friends and neighbors. She was a lifelong member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. She was a faithful visiting teacher and was a good friend and neighbor always giving service to those in need.

After her husband Leo died in 1983, she lived with family members. She passed away peacefully on the morning of February 27, 1987 in Richfield Idaho at the age of 87 years and 6 months.

Death of a Pioneer

Franklin, Idaho, March 25. The largest funeral that has been held here in a long time, was held yesterday in the meetinghouse, over the remains of Thomas Mendenhall, who departed this life on March 21, after an illness of about two weeks from an abscess.

The choir rendered some very appropriate selections. The speakers were Pres. W.C. Parkinson of Hyrum, Pres. George C Parkinson and Solomon H Hale of Preston, E. C. Parkson and L. H. Nash of the Franklin bishopric. All spoke of the excellent character and qualities of the departed and offered consoling and comforting words to the bereaved family.

Deceased was the son of Thomas and Mary Ann Lenia Mendenhall, born in the city of Nauvoo, Ill, Feb 18, 1844. His parents being members of the Church, participated in the exodus from that city and crossed the plains and settled in the Salt Lake valley at a very early date, late living in Springville and Spanish Fork, moving to Franklin, Idaho in 1861. On March 31, 1862, he married Louisa Smart, ad 12 children were born to them. He is survived by his wife, eight children and 20 grandchildren. As a pioneer to Cache valley, he participated in the many incidents connected with making of new town and the experiences of frontier life.

DEATH (1910): JOHN WILKINSON

John Wilkinson died on May 6, 1910, in Salt Lake City, Utah, when he was 42 years old. John was Ruby's father.

John Wilkinson was a tall man (6 feet 6 inches) with a thin build. He was a sheep man with many flocks. In the spring of 1910 he became very ill. He went to the hospital in Salt Lake City, Utah. His daughter, my grandmother Audra Wilkinson Swainston told me that she and her sisters walked with her father to the train station when he left for the hospital. He died May 10, 1910, during surgery for cancer and his body was shipped back to Franklin, Idaho on the train. My grandmother again walked to the train station when "papa came home". She was just 10 years old.

Alice Hill was the fourth child in her family. Her family came from Stockport, Cheshire, England. The missionaries taught them the gospel and Alice's parents were baptized in 1841. Alice was baptized in 1865 and immigrated to the US shortly after this.

Alice was married to James Small but not much is known of him. She traveled to Utah in Capt. Hunt's company to join her parents. She met her second husband, Gilbert Bright, as he was escorting the pioneers from the Platte River into the Salt Lake Valley.

The Hill family settled in Richmond, Cache, Utah. The Brights also eventually settled here, moving after having been in Alpine, Utah and the Ogden area. Gilbert and Alice were married 6 Dec 1869 in the Salt Lake City Endowment House.

"Shortly thereafter, 29 Sep, 1870, Alice received her patriarchal blessing from patriarch Charles W. Hyde. In that blessing, Alice was told that, 'The Lord has given His angels charge over you that you may live as long as you desire life...and you shall have a seat with the Ancient of Days, even with Adam, your father....You will walk hand in hand with your Redeemer.' Alice was always strict in her observances of the gospel principles."

The Brights had a farm and orchard in Richmond Utah and had six children. Alice died 18 Mar 1914 in Richmond and is buried in the cemetery there.

THOMAS MENDENHALL

Her father was appointed the first Presiding Elder. She was at this time fourteen years old, and took part in all the trials and hardships of the early settlement. She gathered weeds and herbs of different kinds, gleaned wheat, spun yarn, wove cloth, knit stockings, made candles, soap, butter, cheese, and helped on the farm. As she was the third oldest girl of the family of ten, she had to carry an extra burden. There were only two boys, and the first was the sixth child. She also helped cook and carry food to the soldiers who were hurt in the Battlecreek War. And took part in helping destroy the crickets.

Louisa Smart married Thomas Mendenhall Jr., a pioneer of Franklin on the 31 March 1863 at Franklin, Idaho. On 27 December 1864 they went to the Salt Lake Endowment house where they were married for time and all eternity. They located in Franklin where their first child, Catherine Ann was born on 29 December 1863. The child died 6 June 1864. Thomas George was born 7 June 1865 and died 16 Oct. 1866.

In the spring of 1866 they moved to Oxford Idaho, and were among the first settlers there. It was here that Mary Ann was born the 3 May 1867. Their next move was to Clifton Idaho, and from there they moved to Bear River, or Bridgeport where they had a large farm. It was here that Rhoda Kaziah was born 25 July 1869. Suzanna Matilda 29 Nov. 1871. William Henry 21 Nov. 1873, and Lorin Mathew 18 March 1876.

By this time their children were old enough for school so they decided to move in where it would be easier for them to attend. They got a home in Franklin, and moved there for the winter and then back to the farm in the summer. Ada Louise was born 12 Jan. 1878. Ruth May 16 Nov. 1880. Nettie Pearl 7 March 1883. Leo Smart 6 April 1886, and Bert 4 July 1888.

When the girls were old enough to help. Mother turned her house into a hotel which she ran for a good many years. Then some of the girls went to the farm. Because father was a farmer and a cattle man it kept him close to the farm and threw most of the responsibility of raising the children on mother.

Mother's mother (Annetta Hayter Smart) was killed by lightning, and left young children so her brother William and sister Mary Jane made their home with mother until they were married; also her sister Sarah Ann, made our place her home when she was not away to school until her marriage. Jim Frew also made his home with us until he married. Her home was also a home for the polygamists and their families. I have heard my brother say that at night they would have every bed full and some on the floor and the next morning they would all be gone. This was an added responsibility but she accepted it cheerfully. She did lots of public work as counselor of the Relief Society; worked on the missionary committee, was a teacher in the Relief Society until her death. Father died 31 March 1909, then mother spent part of her time with her children until her death 20 August 1922 at the age of 75.

Thus ended a long and useful life full of faith and hope and an abiding testimony of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

BIOGRAPHY OF ALICE FLEET SMART PRATT

Written by her Grand-daughter

MARIE GARNER WHIPPLE

Alice Fleet Smart Pratt, wife of William Jared Pratt, was the daughter of Henry Fleet and Ann Hayter. She was born in Pontlash, France, January 1, 1844. Her parents went to France from England where she and her two older sisters were born. Her mother separated from Henry Fleet soon after her birth and later married Thomas Sharratt Smart March 1, 1845. She, with her two sisters, Mary Ann and Louisa were legally adopted and later sealed to Thomas Sharratt Smart. After emigrating to America from France, they settled in St. Louis, Missouri, and were converted to the Latter-day Saints Church. He and his wife were baptized in the year 1851 and came to Salt Lake City, Utah. They left St. Louis, Missouri April 8, 1852 and arrived in Salt Lake City September, 1852, locating in American Fork and Provo, Utah, where he engaged in the tannery business. He later was called to go to Franklin, Idaho, as Presiding Elder, with the first group of settlers. He shared in the Indian trouble and was in the Walker Indian War.

Alice was baptized in the year 1862, and was married to William Jared Pratt December 1, 1863 at Franklin, Idaho, and endowed December 27, 1864, in the Salt Lake Temple. To this union was born nine children, five sons and four daughters.

She was very active in Church Work and was one of the first presidents of the Relief Society in Clifton, Idaho, for a period of seven years. Her husband was Bishop during these seven years at Clifton, Idaho. She was the first Relief Society President at Wilford, Idaho. Her husband was Superintendent of the Sunday School there. Her husband was a builder. He built the first school houses and homes in the valley. He owned and managed the country store at Wilford, Idaho. He was a true frontiersman, blazing the trail for future generations.

She also shared the trials and hardships with her husband in pioneering the Snake River County. She was called the Angel of Mercy. She cared for the sick, brought babies into the world, prepared the dead for burial and, as there were no undertakers at that time, she lined the home-made caskets. She was a wonderful seamstress. She made clothing for both men and women and she excelled in fancy work of all kinds. One of the most beautiful baby dresses made by her can now be seen in a showcase, Daughters of Pioneers Bldg.

Idaho people still talk of the early days, when Alice Pratt went on snow shoes to the sick in the wintertime when roads were impassable. Besides caring for her family she assisted the needy and her beautiful home was always a Haven for the weary traveler. She was always willing and ready to share the burdens of her husband.

She was a faithful Latter-day Saint and did lots of good in the different communities where she lived. She was loved and respected by all who knew her. She never seemed to grow old. The young folks just loved her. She jumped rope with some of her grand-children when she was 72 years of age. Young people came to her from far and wide for counsel. She was very serious minded but still had a wonderful sense of humor.

She died at Burley, Idaho, February 17, 1920, and was buried beside her husband at Albion, Cassia County, Idaho. She was survived by five children, thirty-nine grand-children, and seventeen great grand-children.

BIRTH (1925): LOWELL WESLEY “BUD” ROBBINS

When Lowell Wesley “Bud” Robbins was born on January 13, 1925, in Ogden, Utah, his father, Lorenzo, was 25 and his mother, Vennetta, was 27. He married Jalaine Albiston on November 17, 1951, in Salt Lake, Utah. They had two children during their marriage. He died on April 18, 2014, in Salt Lake City, Utah, at the age of 89, and was buried in Richmond, Utah. Bud was Jalaine Albiston Robbins husband.

Autobiography written by Bud in 1989 for a “Robbins” genealogy book. This is the original unedited version.

Lowell Wesley Robbins

Three score and four years ago on 1/13/25, I was born at the Dee Hospital in Ogden, Utah. My childhood was normal because of the ambitions of my parents. We always had the essentials and managed for special occasions and activities when necessary. I had the usual injuries like running through a plate glass door when I was about 4 years old or breaking my jaw while playing baseball at Park Elementary School. At Central Junior High, I went out for football but gave it up for my paper route. It cost me too much money to hire a substitute. I covered half of Ogden with the Salt Lake Telegram (an evening paper). I had the south side of 25th Street which was notorious for its prostitutes. They treated me exceptionally well and I never had troubles collecting from them or the bars; I got real good bonuses on special occasions and Christmas. I also had a lot of blacks on m route and really enjoyed them. They paid better and had much lower incomes than many whites who gave me a hard time.

Well, I did take one break in Junior High and ran a race. I won it to go to the State track meet in the 880 meters, 1/2 mile event. At the State meet, I was literally pushed off the track and disqualified. I always wanted one more change to show those guys something but never got it.

In High School, I was average (C average). I had switched to delivering the Salt Lake Tribune (a morning paper) and had the best route in the city - the one with all the apartment houses between the office and my house. I traveled less than any other route. I also was a member of the ski patrol and ran one of the tows at Snow Basin Ski Resort on Saturday and Sunday.

When the war (World War II) broke out December 7, 1941 and we had gas rationing, I bought a car - 1930 Model A Ford - and could get extra gas coupons for the car and for gas to run the tows at Snow Basin. I was popular because I'd sluff school in the afternoon and take a bunch of friends skiing. We would practically have the hill to ourselves.

I knew the draft would take me when I graduated so I signed up with the Marines for officer training at the University of Colorado at Boulder. I had to have a B average so I had to study my senior year and make A's to bring my C average to a B average.

I blew a big opportunity at the University of Colorado when I declined a second chance to stay there. My grades were poor but I did well in my final exams in Math and Military Science so they offered to let me stay but I decided to move on to boot camp as a PVT.

My father was in the Marines in World War I and wrote to me saying he had led his company in marksmanship and made Expert on the firing range. He gave me his score and I beat him about 3 points, led my company, made Expert and I believe this also made possible my first promotion to Private 1st Class.

I also petitioned that I be allowed (as per the manual) an interview with the commanding officer. I requested flight training. They used my case to petition the Navy to have a Marine take flight training. The Marines got Navy flyers to fly their planes and then wanted Marines to take flight training. It didn't work but they put me in the Marine Air Force and I went to Ordinance School. While there, I took gunnery training, shot skeet and trap with a shot gun mounted on a turret. After 3 months, I graduated in the top 20% and made Corporal. I then went to gunnery school where I graduated in the top 10% and made Sergeant in 6 weeks. Then it was to the desert across from the Mexican border in El Central for gunnery in an airplane. I flew in 2B2C and had fun winning gunnery games. I had an advantage as I'd take off my parachute and kneel in the seat for more freedom and better shot - I also had no seat belts on and had a few thrills when I just barely caught myself from coming out of the plane during fast maneuvers.

I was shipped out for overseas duty and had a ball. We were sent by boat to Hawaii where I jumped ship for two days and tried to learn surfing and toured the Island. I stayed with an old buddy Marine who packed parachutes. Then on to Marshall Islands by boat. They assigned me to Palau Islands and also assigned me to a fighter pilot. Everyone left except us. We later got separate orders. I could have probably gone home because I had my own orders. I went to Kwajalien by air. It's the island that every tree was blown off when they put an airstrip on it. I then went to Guram and explored the island for a week but got bored and caught a flight to Peleliu in the Palau Islands where I was supposed to be. It was a great life there. We climbed the hills where the battles had taken place and found many dead bodies - really only bones and skeletons - lots of ammunition and guns and some crashed planes. The booby traps were duds because of the heavy moisture. We swam about every day and the flora and fish were unique. I collected shells for those wanting to make bracelets. They had just finished a couple of tennis courts so I heisted a couple of the officer's tennis rackets and we were playing one day when the Commander and his Adjutant asked us to play. We had a ball and they wanted a standing date and we played a few more times but broke off as they wanted us at social events and we weren't officers. They were still complaining about the missing tennis rackets. We left Peleliu and went to Manila in the Philippines after failing to get there a couple of times because of weather. We were in two hurricanes and survived. We then went to Laoag on the top of Luzon and lived like the natives while we waited out another hurricane and then went to Okinawa as a step to China. We were to be the first squadron in the upper part of China. We experienced another hurricane but were on the ground instead of in the air. It blew four or five Navy ships onto the beaches, swamped about fifteen Marine planes they used for air-sea rescue and blew down officers mess that had a store of everything we needed for our stay there. We even commandeered a jeep. We were the last plane to leave Okinawa, we circled to gain altitude, smelled gas and called MAYDAY as the engine went dead. We came back in just short of the runway but made it and got to extend our stay for another week. We picked up an arsenal of guns and had gunnery practice and swam and looted the planes in the bay.

We flew solo to Tsingtao China, which is down the coast south of Tientsin on the Yellow Sea across from Korea. We setup headquarters in a walled village and I ran the office and scheduled flights. We patrolled Chiang Kai-shek land and kept track of the Communists and improvised a means of keeping the local kids from stealing all our gear. For relaxation we would go into town for a shave, rub down, massage, pedicure, manicure, hair cut - you name it - and some went in for other things. We were kings, the saviors of the people and at first had the Flying Tiger flag on our backs and then later the American Flag so all would know that we had replaced the Japanese.

After five and a half months we were sent home for discharge. When I got in (by boat) to San Diego, my father had had a heart attack and I got emergency leave to go home then returned to get an honorable discharge. Why! I'll never know as it climaxed two court marshals and a couple of dozen infractions. It was a fabulous experience and joyful time of my life.

I returned home to Weber College and skiing and started to play tennis. I sold tailor made dresses to women in Ohio during the summer. The next summer I went to Montana with my soon-to-be brother-in-law, Phil Kearsley, again selling tailor made clothes to women and playing tennis and swimming in our spare time.

On graduation from Weber College, I attended the University of Utah and received a B.S. in Economics and completed 2 years of law school. While there, I taught skiing and assisted the Dean of Business in handling the traffic fines and controlled all the ushers and parkers for football and special events. I also owned a law book company which sold canned briefs and law books from a couple of lockers while in law school. While skiing, I broke a leg and had to carry all the books while on crutches. I had a new car but it was clutch operated and I really had fun operating it with only one leg, the other having a full leg cast on.

During the summer, I worked for Household Finance Corp. and did the same the next summer. It was then that I met Jalaine. Oh, I'd had plenty of girl friends and just about married the one before Jalaine, but she wanted me to move to California and I decided against it. But I also decided that it was about time to get married. Jalaine was just the girl I was looking for. A slim beauty who was having a problem with her boyfriend. I asked her landlady if we would make a good match and she said, "Excellent." We met July 3rd and were married November 17, 1951. She has a big Tea in Richmond, her home town. We took the vows in Mrs. Williams home, her landlady. On March 6, 1952 we decided to get married again in the Temple - caught me off guard so what the heck. My wife, Jalaine, has told me all about the so-called better life and has been a tremendous companion and friend.

I had one more year of Law School but had run out of the G.I. Bill which was helping to finance my education so I agreed to work into the fall with Household Finance and in turn made me Assistant Manager. Office work was okay but being a very undisciplined person, I craved more freedom and jumped right out of there when offered a selling territory with Hood Rubber Company, a division of B.F. Goodrich. Our office was in San Francisco with the home office in Watertown, Massachusetts. We had three sales meetings each year. Two on the west coast and one in Chicago or east coast so Jalaine and I had at least three vacations paid for each year.

When I started with Hood Rubber Company, Jalaine was pregnant with Scott and had a hard time travelling by air. She joined me in San Francisco at the end of training and the company started us off by sending us off on a two week vacation up the coast to Canada and home.

Scott was a unique free spirit who had little discipline and grew up making all his own decisions after many discussions. He was a tremendous kid and participated in skiing, tennis, basketball, and music but never went the hunting, fishing route. He's very compassionate and considerate and just a great guy. He really helped make our family.

We did really well with Hood Rubber and the third year I won the National Sales Contest for the west coast. After 5 1/2 years I went for the big dollars in Insurance. It was hard giving up all those long vacations.

While living in Kearns we were heavy on the Church. It was a new growing young community. We built a new Stake Center, literally building it - doing all the work and paying the money. I was on the finance committee. We had a tremendous community spirit and participated with all while enjoying work and family.

When I took the job with Metropolitan Life as an agent, we sold our Kearns home (bought $7200, sold $10,200) and bought a home in Orem Utah for $14,000. It was a homey community. People were really friendly and dedicated. Jalaine and I loved Metropolitan Life. We made the Club every year and got a paid vacation. In fact, the second year I made top honors and the Agency was tops for the west coast. We like both our neighbors and the Company people and our accounts.

In Orem, we again functioned in the Church. I was Teachers Advisor and we had a terrific group of young people. I still play tennis with one of them now and still see several of them from time to time.

We traded our Orem home (could not sell it because of a big strike at Geneva Steel) for our present home. We ended up with an $18,100 mortgage. It was listed at $24,000. We thought it was a white elephant and were going to move in two years but are still here.

Jan was born in December of 1962 - what a doll. Again we were in a young area. She, like Scott, had little discipline and always ran her own affairs. She is very independent, self-sufficient and like Scott, started college with a couple of quarters of credits earned from high school and tests. She fit our family to a "T" and participated in our tennis and skiing and all activities.

I went flat on Insurance and turned down a job as Insurance Counselor for the telephone company to go back on the road with Holland Rantos, a drug company. Twelve years later after telling me what a great retirement program they had year after year, they flew in on a Monday and picked up the company car, paid me $1600 and folded. Again I had been one of the top salespeople on the west coast but boom and that was that. Jalaine got spooked and went to work for the Church Offices in Magazines and loved it. She worked part time for fifteen years and they wouldn't let her quit. Whenever they got in a jam they would call her to get them back on track. They loved her and she loved them.

I got a job with Schmidt in prophylactics and drugs for doctors and drug stores. My district manager told me they were going out so this time I had a job 2 1/2 months before I quit. I worked to the end of the fiscal year to get full bonus and prizes which were much larger than the $1600 retirement with the prior job. The new company, Milex Western, gave me the car and territory and let me start at my discretion. I've now been with them for fifteen years and had one of the top territories on the west coast. We are a small medical supply company in specialty items.

I've always found selling easy and enjoyable and it has fit my lifestyle. I've always been able to take off when I desired and do all the family activities and individual activities I enjoy. I have hunted, fished, skied, golfed, played tennis, bicycled, ran, etc. at home and on the road during the week with accounts or friends or self in Utah, Idaho and Montana. I have enjoyed my territories and travel and utilized all the resorts and facilities in these areas.

Life has been exciting and just plain enjoyable as I've just about always been able to do things my way and have never had the time to make a lot of money but then again, we have never really needed it. Perhaps, if there is another go-around, I should be more serious, take on bigger problems, be someone outstanding, get headaches, have problems and just plain worry about where I've been, where I'm going and the hereafter. On second thought, I believe I'll just leave that to the rest of you and just live and enjoy my wife, Scott and Laurie, Jan, and life one day at a time for as long as I can.

Birth: Jalaine Albiston

When Jalaine Albiston was born on June 24, 1927, in Richmond, Utah, her father, Melvin, was 21, and her mother, Ruby, was 21. She married Lowell Welsey Robbins on November 17, 1951, in Salt Lake, Utah. They had two children during their marriage. She died on September 28, 2017, in South Jordan, Utah, at the age of 90, and was buried in her hometown.

Jalaine personal biography transcription:

1. Thomas Sharrah Smart - Born 1823. My great-great-grandfather (my mother's family). He was known as the founder of Franklin, Idaho. (It was first called Green Meadows, Utah. Then in 1872 it became the southern-most settlement in Idaho). When Thomas Smart was not engaged in building his community, he was traveling across the plains helping other pioneer families. - Newspaper article in my "Book of Remembrance"

2. Gilbert Bright - Born 1840. My great-grandfather (my Dad's family). Gilbert Bright came to Richmond with the first group that settled Richmond in 1859. During the summer of 1866, he made a trip, at the request of the church officials, back across the plains to help other immigrants who were coming to Utah. It took him the entire summer to make the trip. Gilbert Bright home was located 2 blocks east of town on the north west corner. - Pg 236 - "History of Richmond, Utah" by Amos Bair

3. Wilson Calloway Robbins - Bud's great-grandfather (Dad's family). I am entering this information because how very strange it seems. This man went to Richmond (my hometown) that many years ago. He then moved to Weston, Idaho and was buried there. Wilson Calloway Robbins came to Salt Lake City in the fall of 1864 at the age of 40. He met Marriner W. Merrill (a Richmond resident that later became an apostle) who asked him if he would like to tie his horse to his wagon and ride to Richmond. On the way, Brother Merrill explained the gospel to him. Wilson Robbins was baptized January 1, 1865. - Pg 295 - "Robbins Family History" by LaRea Marchant.

Richmond, Cache County, Utah - a green fertile valley in the northern part of Utah was my birth place. I was born June 24, 1927 at home (one block east of town on the north east corner. (Mother and Dad lived with Dad's older brother, Roy and wife Iva). Mother and Dad later bought (maybe rented - I don't remember) a home across the street on the south east corner which has since been torn down. My sister Shirley was born in this home. Later Mother and Dad bought a home which was located one block south and stood on the north west corner. Helen was born in this home.

One of my very first memories was at the age of four. I remember Dad taking me up to Grandpa and Grandmother Albiston to stay the night. The next day when Dad came to pick me up, he had a surprise for me. I started guessing of all the fun things I could think would happen. Disappointed to say the least when I found out it was a new baby sister (Shirley). The family said I acted upon this disappointment a few times. All three girls were born at home - not in a hospital.

Growing up I enjoyed the friendship of many good kids in the neighborhood. Ruth Louise Stoddard and her family, Betty Steed and her family, Aunt Ike - Uncle Roy and Seth and ArDean. We jumped in the hay at the Stoddard barn, played paper dolls on the kitchen floor, played jacks, jump the rope. The Stoddard's always took me along when they visited the different Aunt and Uncles. Grandma and Grandpa Stoddard lived in the neighborhood and we had so many good times at their home. Ruth Louise was a year younger than I was so the day I started kindergarten, she followed me down the street crying. (Later she skipped a grade).

Later as we got older and we had more friends come into our lives we had softball and played games downtown on the bank corner (at night) such as hide and seek, kick the can, run sheep run). Winter time we would go sledding on the hill east of our homes.

Mother and Dad always had such neat friends that would come to the house. They would eat dinner and stay for the evening. I don't know why but this was always special fun for me. Mother belonged to a bridge club - she would let us (Shirley, Helen, me) put the place cards on the tables for the bridge game. We would always watch and not put certain ladies together that may have problems playing cards with each other.

Dad's family and Mother's family were always a big part of our lives. All the (Dad's) families would get together and go up to Grandpa Joe's and eat dinner and all the cousins would go out and play in his big apple orchard. Grandpa Joe worked at the Lewiston Sugar Factory so Seth and I would go up and visit with Grandma - play the record player and wait for Grandpa to come home with burnt sugar candy in his lunch bucket.

Grandma Wilkinson (Mother's mother) lived across the street from the big Franklin, Idaho park and ball diamond. The cousin's all had such fun playing in this park together. The 15th of June was Franklin, Idaho (Mother's home town) once a year celebration. This was always something we looked forward to attending each year.

Mother and Aunt Rhoda whenever the need would take turns helping each other with different projects that needed to be done. Painting, papering, handicraft projects. This meant Aunt Rhoda would be there when I came home from school for lunch - oh what fun.

The church was always a big part of my life. Sunday School on Sundays, Primary after school on Monday's, Mutual on Tuesday nights.

In the spring we had the maypole ceremony. In the fall Halloween with a party and a spook alley. Christmas we put on plays and sang in a chorus. Family dinners with almost everyone in the ward attending. Sports of all kinds.

I loved the large tabernacle (later destroyed by a earthquake). They held graduations, weddings, funerals, stake conference, and all our ward meetings in this building. For our teachers we always had the young returned missionaries or the coolest young women of the ward. In the later years these Sunday School and Mutual teachers were a very good influence for all of us. I would have a crush on the missionaries and want to dress and comb my hair and look like the young women. Later when I was in Mutual I was voted Golden Ball Queen and then was one of the Stake Golden Ball Queens.

School. One memory I haven't forgotten was when my cousin Seth took me to school with him (before I had started school). I got to sit in his desk with him then he stood up and introduced me as his little cousin who was one of his best friends. (In latter years I think they called that "show and tell"). I attended Park School Elementary. My teachers - 1st Grade - Miss Jensen, 2nd Grade - Miss Fisher, 3rd Grade (my favorite teacher) Miss Lucile Fife, 4th Grade - Mrs. McCarrey, 5th Grade - Miss Webb (from her I learned to love music - she would have us put our heads down on the desks and listen to music. She would tell us some information about each piece and about the person that wrote the music). 6th and 7th Grade - Mr. Bagley (least liked of all the teachers), 8th Grade - Mr. Ballam (the principal of the school).

I had a lot of great friends over the years so this made the school days a little easier. All the Richmond girls that were both church friends and school friends (that was a good number of girls my age).

South Ward Girls - Constance Christofferson (one of my good friends over the years), Anna Laura Funk, Marva Lee Durney, Martil Bright, Jackie Thompson (another good friend over the years).

North Ward Girls- Barbara Bair, Ruth Galbraith, Pat Hendricks, Marva Johnson, Sarah Johnson, Renee Skidmore, Ruth Louise Stoddard, Gayle Thomas. I had these North Ward (Church) girls in both school and church so I seemed to be closer to these girls.

Boys (Richmond) - Bob Bullen, Sherwin Bair, Hugh Hicken, Ellis Jonas, Spencer Lawrence, Eugene Spackman, Roy Talbot.

In grade school I had one of the lead parts in an Opera. I was a Gypsy girl and I sang and had a speaking part. Bob Bullen and I sang a song on the Logan radio station - KVNU. Some of the Richmond people called and said they had heard me on the radio and what a great job I had done. Hazel Stoddard, who was attending Utah State University, said they had listened to it and said they thought I sounded great.

I attended 9th Grade at Lewiston Junior High in Lewiston, Utah. Then we had High School (in Richmond) at North Cache High School. It was a small enough school that you knew everyone - which was a + (plus). I played trombone in the school band. I played basketball on a girls team in out PE class, which I enjoyed. Typing and shorthand was two of my favorite classes. I graduated from North Cache High School the spring of 1945. In my senior year - March of 1945 - we got word that Seth (cousin) had been killed on the 'U.S. Franklin Aircraft Carrier' just 60 miles out of Japan. What a blow - this was a hard thing to accept.

The fall of 1946 [1945] I moved to Provo, (172 East 2nd South, and lived with the Callahan Family) to attend the BYU. Leora Allen (from Cove), Elene Eskelson (from Cove), Renee Skidmore (from Richmond) were my roommates. We lived in the upstairs of the Callahan home. Carmella Peterson (from Fillmore) lived across the hall. Mary Callahan, a daughter-in-law of the Callahan's lived in another room. Betty Callahan, a daughter, lived in the room next to our room. This year was so much fun. I enjoyed my classes and the fun times we had with the friendship we had with all the girls that lived upstairs and the Callahan Family.

Jobs. Babysitting for Frank and Bessie Last's two girls - Molly Ann and Louise. Babysitting for Calder and Hattie Hall for their son Craig. I once tended Craig for two weeks while Hattie went to visit her oldest son Reid in the service.

Cleaned houses for Vea Small and Hulda Olsen. I also worked in Hulda's Cafe for a short time to help her with the lunch hour.

Worked for Mark Theurer in his store "Theurer's" as a cashier. I really enjoyed this job. His son Scott was working there as an all around helper and Wayne Day (and R. J. Spackman as the meat men). Nora Sullivan and Con Hendricks worked on the other side in the Dry Goods department. Mark was so good to me. He informed me years later that I was the first girl her had hired for this job.

Sub. at the library a few times for Maggie Merrill and then Laura Christensen.

Cashier at local theater. You worked one week on Friday and Sunday and the next week on Saturday and Monday. Calder Hall was my boss and Dad traded off running the shows. This job I really enjoyed. The Theurer's and the theatre jobs I had to quit (I worked these jobs for a couple of years) to move to Salt Lake.

I also worked a short time (summer after BYU) in Brigham City at the corn factory. Leora Allen and I ran the corn husker. We lived right there on the property with Ruth Burleigh and her Mother (from Logan). This was great fun.

Moved to Salt Lake in fall (Oct of 1948). Dad about had a fit when I quit my two jobs and left to go to Salt Lake without any prospects for a job. My cousin Eunice was instrumental in helping go to the right people to hunt for a job. I had a job within the first week. Federal Reserve Bank or First Security Bank. I took First Security Bank (which was probably a mistake because I could have made more money at Federal Reserve in payroll department). I worked with the auditors (Mr. Weaver and Elmer Anderson - later with Wallis Carlisle when he took Mr. Weavers place because Mr. Weaver retired. I learned the bank telephone switchboard and sub. when there was a need there. Good friends. Good times - and I really enjoyed this time of my life.

I lived with Bar Dee Bullen (a student nurse at LDS Hospital). Bar Dee was two years younger than me and was from Richmond. We lived on 8th Avenue between B & C Street in a home owned by a Miss Shick. Three nurses lived downstairs and Vera (own room), Helen (own room) and Bar Dee (shared a room with me) all lived upstairs. I worked in the bank until just a month before I had Scott (1948 until 1952).

I didn't work again until Bud lost his job and I thought I had better help out until things became normal again. I started work at the University of Utah Registrars department. 1st day work at your desk. 2nd day answering the telephone. 3rd day work with the students that came to your window. Well when they opened that window and there was a line of students a mile long. I lasted until noon then I went to the man that hired me and quit. He said I thought you would be one of our best employees. Yes! I said but I can't make it through the day. He said he would have a part timer stand at the window and help me. Good job. Good pay. A included parking space - good future. My own desk with my name plate (already there). It had been too long between jobs. I called Scott and went home.

May 29	Birth	Shirley Albiston	Shirley
Aug 16	Birth	Gary Hanson Larsen	Shirley's husband

BIRTH (1931): SHIRLEY ALBISTON

When Shirley Albiston was born on May 29, 1931, in Richmond, Utah, her father, Melvin, was 25, and her mother, Ruby, was 25. She married Gary Hanson Larsen on March 6, 1952, in Utah, Utah. They had four children during their marriage. She had two sisters.

BIRTH (1931): GARY HANSON LARSEN

When Gary Hanson Larsen was born on August 16, 1931, in Provo, Utah, his father, George, was 46 and his mother, Jennie, was 30. He married Shirley Albiston on March 6, 1952, in Utah, Utah. They had four children during their marriage. He died on October 19, 2005, in Orem, Utah, at the age of 74, and was buried there.

GARY HANSEN LARSEN (as written by his mother):

Gary was born Aug. 16, 1931 in Provo, Utah. He was blessed Nov. 1, 1931, by Wm. J. Snow; baptized Jan. 14, 1940 by Reed M. Powell; confirmed a member of the Church Jan. 14, 1940 by Arlington P. Mortensen; ordained a deacon 12, Mar. 1944 by N. Halvor Madsen; A Teacher 24 Nov. 1946 by Lamar Scott; ordained a priest by N. Halvor Madsen on Aug. 22, 1948; and ordained an elder 28 June, 1953 by Cecil G. Barger.

He attended the Franklin, Dixon Jr., the Provo High Schools and then the Brigham Young University about a year. He played a bass horn in the Dixon H.S. Band but didn't stay with music of that kind very long. However, he happened to be singing in the chorus when the B.Y.U. put on the opera "South of the Pacific," and it was while singing in this chorus that he met his future wife, Shirley Albiston, who was also singing in the chorus.

Gary carried good marks in school, always studying hard, and was a steady, stalwart fellow. He was also a good worker, always finding work wherever he could. He worked at the Block Plant for a while and did a lot of bricklaying. He is employed at the present time at the Geneva Plant.

Gary was a very lovable character, always helping his mother with her home work, especially when she was ill at any time. She will never forget his kindness toward her. When he was just a small boy, we visited his Grandma Larsen and she asked Gary if he had in mind a certain goal in life he wanted to attain when he grew up and he replied, "I want to be a good honest man and church member." So far he has been very true to the promise made his grandmother, and I hope it will remain with him all his life.

Gary loves to be out of doors to hunt and fish, and we took many trips where he was the lucky hunter and fisherman. He would always come into camp with a good supply of meat. He and Milton were quite the pals then, also they chummed with their cousins Gene and June Hanson, who were of the same age. All these boys spent good times in the mountain together.

March 6, 1952, Gary married Shirley Albiston in the Logan Temple. At the same time her sister JaLaine and husband were married for all time and eternity. It was quite a thrill to all of us to see the two couples kneeling at the marriage altar at the same time. Both of their parents were present at the ceremony.

Gary was called to serve in the army and they placed him in the Marine Corps. Everyone knows that part of the army isn't the choicest place to be, but as usual Gary made the best of it and made a really good soldier. He went on some dangerous trips and missions with the Marine Corps, and a bad accident occurred which made him very sad when he witnessed nine of his buddies being burned to death. There were other dangerous trips he made but he knows the Lord was with him at those perilous times, and we are all very thankful that he returned home safely. He was also afflicted with rheumatic fever while in the army, but it was the wish of some of the officers that he should "March on." But thru some miracles he overcame this sickness and is now at the present time very healthy.

Gary and Shirley have the following children: Helen Sue, Ann, Gary Lynn, and Alan Joe.

VOYAGE OF THE SHIP FRANKLIN

MORMON IMMIGRATION INDEX (CD-ROM) Voyage of the Ship Franklin

Ship: Franklin: 708 tons: 163' x 31' x 15'; a three-master square rigger.

It is almost certain that the Franklin was formerly the American ship Yankee Ranger which was sold to German owners at Bremen in 1858. Both vessels were registered at 708 tons and were reportedly built at Rockland, Maine in 1854. The Franklin was a three-master square rigger with two decks, no galleries, a round stern and a figurehead.

Christian A. Madsen, a returning elder, and his two counselors, Elders Jens C.A. Weibye and Lauritz Larsen presided over the Saints. Among the emigrants was Anthon H. Lund, and accomplished linguist who acted as interpreter. He later became an apostle and a member of the First Presidency of the Church.

"EMIGRATION NEWS FROM SCANDINAVIA. . . the Franklin, (Captain R. Murray,) on the 15th, with 413 souls, under the presidency of Elder C. A. Madsen . . ."

<MS, 24:18 (May 3, 1862), p.283>

"Tues. 15. [Apr. 1862] -- The ship Franklin sailed from Hamburg, Germany, with 413 Scandinavian Saints, under the direction of Christian A. Madsen. The company arrived in New York harbor May 29th and at Florence [Nebraska] June 9th. Between forty and fifty children died of measles on board the ship."
<CC, p.67>

". . . For several months, the preparation for this large emigration had been going on in the different conferences throughout Denmark, Sweden and Norway. The emigrating Saints from the Jutland Conferences in Denmark went direct to Hamburg, while most of those from the other conferences first gathered in Copenhagen and thence made their way to Hamburg in different companies. Thus the steamer 'Albion' sailed from Aalborg, April 6, 1862, with over 400 Saints from the Aalborg and Vendsyssel Conferences. Sailing southward, the ship took up the emigrating Saints from the Aarhus and Skive Conferences at Aarhus in the morning of the 7th, and at Fredericia later the same day they picked up the emigrating Saints from the Fredericia and Fyen Conferences at Fredericia; the ship reached Kiel in Holstein on the eve of the 7th. Here they were joined by a small contingent from Copenhagen, and the journey was then continued the same day (April 8th) to Altona and Hamburg; in the evening the emigrants went on board the ships 'Humboldt' and 'Franklin,' which were anchored in the Elbe. . . .

. . . On Tuesday, April 15th, the ship 'Franklin' (Captain Robert Murray) sailed from Hamburg with 413 emigrating Saints, nearly all from the Aalborg and Vendsyssel Conferences. They were in charge of Christian A. Madsen, an elder returning home. He chose Jens C. A. Weibye and Lauritz Larsen as his counselors. On board the ship the company was organized into eight districts with the following brethren as presidents: Jens C. Thorpe, Jens Christensen Kornum, Niels Mortensen (Lyng), Lars P. Fjeldsted, C. P. Borregaard, Jens C. S. Frost, Thomas Larsen and Jens Andersen. Jens F. Mortensen was appointed baggage master, Anthon H. Lund, interpreter, and Christian Andersen captain of the guard. . . .

. . . On Thursday, May 29th, in the forenoon, the 'Franklin' arrived at New York. The emigrants were placed on a transport steamer to be landed at Castle Garden, but on arriving at the wharf, they were not permitted to go ashore, because of some cases of measles yet existing among them. After 18 of the sick had been taken into the hospital, the rest were returned to the 'Franklin' and there remained on board two more nights and a day. Finally, on May 31st, they landed at Castle Garden, where they were met by Elders Charles C. Rich, John Van Cott and other brethren.

A part of the emigrants did not have means to carry them further on their way to Zion than New York, but through the generosity of some of the Saints who were more fortunate, a sufficient sum was raised to take all these poor Saints along, and with rejoicing the journey was then resumed, leaving New York May 31st, at 9 p.m., by extra railway train to Albany, where they arrived the next morning (June 1st). From there the journey was continued by train via Syracuse, Rochester, Niagara, Windsor, Detroit and Chicago to Quincy, Illinois, and thence by steamboat across the Mississippi River to Hannibal, Missouri, and again by train to St. Joseph, Missouri, where they arrived June 6th. The following day they boarded the steamboat 'Westwind' and left St. Joseph at 10 p.m., after having spent the 'Day of Pentecost' in a way that was anything but pleasant (as there was very poor and crowded accommodation for so many people on this comparatively small vessel). The company arrived at Florence, Nebraska, on Monday, June 9th, at 10 o'clock p.m. Hans C. Hansen's company, which crossed the ocean in the 'Humboldt,' arrived there a week before. Among the 48 persons who died in the 'Franklin' company during the voyage on the sea was Brother Jens Andersen from Veddum (Aalborg Conference), Denmark, who with his own means had assisted 60 or 70 poor Saints to emigrate. He died on the North Sea on the 25th of April, soon after the ship had left Cuxhaven. On the way from New York to Florence [Nebraska], two children died, of whom one was the 15 months old daughter of Jens C. A. Weibye. Eleven persons (4 adults and 7 children) died while staying at Florence and a young girl died on the plains, making in all 62 of the 'Franklin' company who died between Hamburg and Salt Lake City.

On Tuesday, June 10th, the emigrants pitched their tents a short distance north of Florence, and the necessary purchases of oxen, wagons, cows, etc. were attended to. Those who crossed the plains by the Church teams were organized into messes to receive their provisions from the commissary of the company. A few of the emigrants had become apostates on the way and remained in the States. Among these were a blacksmith, J. P. Jacobsen, and Lauritz Larsen from Hojen, Christopher Thomsen from Gaardsholt, Vendsyssel, Denmark, and others with their families. The rest of the emigrants remained in camp for several weeks before beginning the journey across the plains. A few days before the company left camp, Florence and vicinity was visited by a terrible tornado, accompanied by rain, thunder and lightning, by which two of the brethren were killed and Elder Joseph W. Young received severe wounds from a wagon box which blew down upon him; after the accident, he was carried to a place of safety in an unconscious condition, but recovered after a while. The tents and wagon covers of the company were badly torn and shattered on that occasion. . . .

. . . The emigrants who sailed across the Atlantic in the four ships mentioned [The Humboldt, Franklin, Electric, and Athenia] came together in Florence from which place those who had not the means wherewith to equip themselves for the journey across the plains were assisted by the teams sent there from the Valley by the Church, while those who had means wherewith to help themselves were organized into two independent companies. One of these was placed in charge of Elder Christian A. Madsen and was composed of 264 persons, 40 wagons, 14 horses, 174 oxen, 99 cows, 37 heifers, 7 calves, 6 dogs and 10 chickens, and brought along 22 tents, 32 cooking stoves, 5 revolvers and 37 rifles. Hans C. Hansen was captain of the guard and Jens C. A. Weibye secretary for the company, which was divided into six divisions with the following brethren as captains: Soren Larsen, Jens C. A. Weibye, Niels Mortensen (Lynge), Thomas Lund, Lauritz Larsen and Christian H. Gron. The first mentioned had charge of five horse teams and the others eight ox teams each.

The other company, which also counted about 40 wagons, with its quota of persons, animals, etc., was in charge of Elder Ola N. Liljenquist, and Elder John Van Cott was placed as general leader of both companies, which broke camp at Florence, July 14, 1862. The first few days some difficulty was experienced, as the oxen, who were not used to Scandinavian orders and management, would often follow their own inclination to leave the road and run away with the wagons, but after some practice on the part of their inexperienced teamsters, the difficulty somewhat disappeared. The journey from Florence was via Elkhorn River, Loup Fork, Wood River, Willow Lake, Rattlesnake Creek, Fort Laramie, Upper Platte Bridge, Devil's Gate, South Pass, Green River, etc., to Salt Lake City, where the company safely arrived Sept. 23, 1862. . . ."

Autobiography of Hans Christian:

. . . We left Aalborg on the 6th day of April 1862 with a large company of emigrating Saints on a steamer which was to take us to Kiel and on the route we stopped at the Aarkus and Fredericia to take on board the emigrating Saints from those conferences. It was my first voyage and caused me, like many others, a fore taste of seasickness. On our landing in Kiel we were sent on a train to Altona or Hamburg where we got on board the sailing vessel Franklin with Elder C. A. Madsen as our leader. There were a larger number of Saints emigrating from Denmark that season than has ever been before or since. We sailed directly from Hamburg to New York, and were divided up on four sailing vessels. We were detained in the harbor for several days waiting for favorable wind to go down the river Elven, [Elbe] but had at last to be hauled out by a steamer. We were in the neighborhood of four hundred Saints on board. [p. 27] Quite a number of them being young people. We were organized into four districts, with a president for each district and meetings for prayer were held in each district morning and evening. After a few days we got over our seasickness and a part of the time was spent by the young people in music and dancing. Our food was prepared in a large kitchen and rations were issued to each mass according to their number. The food was of an inferior quality or else our appetites were greatly demoralized. The bread consisted of dry cakes, brought with us from Hamburg which lasted until we landed in New York. We called them "ciks." The water also was very poor. A few extra things could be got for those who were sick. I enjoyed good health and to me the trip was a pleasure. There was one feature which made the trip very trying and disagreeable to some of the Saints. A few days after we had started, the measles [p.28] broke out among the children. Many died, and had to be buried in a watery grave. Sister Kjer and her daughter who I had promised to assist, and with whom I traveled was sick much of the time. I assisted them as well as I could, and they were well satisfied with my treatment. We landed at Castle Garden, New York, on the 30th day of May and continued our road westward partly by train and partly by steamer until we reached Florence, Nebraska, which was the outfitting place for the season, where we arrived in the early part of June. Here we laid in camp six weeks, waiting for the church trains to arrive. . . [p.29]

. . . About the 15th of July the church trains commenced to arrive, they had four yoke of oxen on each wagon, soon after their arrival they were loaded partly with iron and other heavy merchandise, and twelve persons to each wagon with their baggage provisions and tent, we traveled in Captain John Murdoe's [p.30] company, who started from camp on the 24th of July. . . [p.31]

. . . . We arrived in Salt Lake City in the latter part of September and our hearts swelled with gratitude to God for his kind protection over us, both on land and sea, until we had safely landed in that beautiful city of the Saints. . . . [p.32]

Reminiscences of Paul Poulson

. . . On Jan. 24, 1862 was baptized a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

On the 4th of April 1862 left Weibye [Denmark], my native town, for Utah in connection with my mother, sisters and 2 brothers. Arrived in Aalborg the same day.

On April 6 we left Aalborg in company of 412 with other emigrants on the ship Franklin, leaving Hamburg, April 8. Had a very time on the ocean. Had headwind nearly all the way and much sickness among the emigrants. 43 children & 3 adults persons was buried in the ocean. Arrived in New York May 29, leaving New York June 1, arrived at Florence, Nebraska June 8.

On July 14 a company of emigrants known as the Independent Company with C. A. Madsen as captain left for Utah. The company consisted of 44 wagons from 1 yoke to 3 yokes of oxen for each wagon. This journey was very hard and tiresome. One of the whole [-] including my mother had to walk all the way, 1,000 miles. Arrived in Salt Lake City Sept. 22, 62. . . . [p.1]

Autobiography of Soren C. Thygesen:

On the 19th of June 1861 we had a son born, he was named Thyger Christian. I earned a livelihood for myself and family by working as a carpenter, millwright and miller until the year 1862 The 5 of April at which time we left Freiler and went to Aalborg [p.48]. On April 6th we left Aalborg by the Steamer Albion and sailed to Aarhus and Frederesia where we took aboard more emigrants and finally landed in Kiel Germany. Next day we went by rail to Hamburg where we boarded the sail ship Franklin. We left Hamburg April 15. On the 17, our 9 months old son died he was buried in Hanover Germany where we lay 2 days. From there we continued our journey across the North Sea through the English Channel and across the Atlantic Ocean to New York where we arrived on the 24 of May 4 o'clock in the morning. This day our oldest daughter 3 years old died. I don't know whether she was buried on land or sea. (My mother died in March 1856.)

On the 31 of May we left the ship and was taken to Castle Garden. We left New York in the evening per railroad and traveled day and night until the 6th of June when we landed in St. Joseph got onboard a steamer and sailed up the Missouri River to Omaha where we arrived on the 9th. Here I saw Indians for the first time and observed them holding their meat over the fire with a stick while roasting it. In the evening of the 9th we arrived at Florence where we stayed 39 days, got our provisions on the church account.

June 15, we had a large meeting in the open air. Joseph Young and one of the apostles were there and addressed the meeting. They said there were 7000 Saints in the camp. One day a severe storm passed over us with heavy thunder and lightning and a strong wind. It blowed over several wagons 2 person were killed and one wounded. We left Florence on the 19 July and moved 4 miles further west where there were more grass and on the 25 of July we had a meeting which was addressed by some of the Apostles after which we continued our journey westward and landed in Salt Lake City on the 27 of September. I did not see Brigham Young as he was on trip to the southern settlements.

We were advised to go with the teamsters home and help to strengthen the outside settlements and I concluded to go to Ephraim in Sanpete County. The first man who received and entertained us was [UNCLEAR, POSSIBLY Jens] Thomsen, and I got employment as a carpenter.

On December 4, I bought a cow for $45.00 what a blessing one I never could have obtained in my native land [p.49].

Excerpt Jens C. A. Weibye:

. . . We went on board the Franklin in the evening of Tuesday, April 8th, and I was appointed to locate the emigrants in their bunks below deck. These bunks, 160 in number, were so wide that three persons easily could have room in one of them side by side. After getting our baggage in order, we received our rations of provisions. These consisted of beef, pork, peas, beans, potatoes, pearl barley, rice, prunes, syrup, vinegar, pepper, coffee, tea, sugar, butter, rye bread, sea biscuits, water, flour, salted herring, salt and oil (for the lamps). We lighted eleven lanterns every night, six of which belonged to the ship and five to the emigrants. We hired an extra cook in Hamburg for ninety rigsdaler - two of our brethren served as assistant cooks. We thus had our dinners nicely cooked in about the following routine, viz., Sunday we had sweet soup; Monday, pea soup; Tuesday and Wednesday, rice; Thursday, pea soup; Friday, barley mush; and Saturday, herring and potatoes.

Some of the emigrants carried measles with them from home and the disease soon spread to all parts of the ship; no less than forty persons, mostly children, were attacked at once. Many of the emigrants were also suffering with diar-[p.319]rhea, which caused much weakness of body. We lost the appetite for sea biscuits, but learned to soak them in water or tea from eight to ten hours, which softened them so that they were more palatable. The sick were served twice a day with porridge made from barley, rice or sago, and almost every day pancakes could be had by the hundreds for the sick who could not eat the 'hard tack'. Wheat bread was also baked for some of the old people. We held a council meeting almost every night, and the sanitary conditions of the ship's apartments were attended with great care. Three times a week the decks were washed and twice a week the ship was thoroughly fumigated by burning tar. A spirit of peace prevailed and very few difficulties occurred. The captain and crew were good-natured and obliging, and so were the cooks, who even served the sick when they were not on duty.

We held at times meetings of worship on the upper decks, and every morning at 5 o'clock the signal for rising was given by the clarinet or accordion. At 7 a.m. and 9 p.m. a similar signal was sounded, calling the Saints to assemble in their several districts for prayer. Most every day we amused ourselves a short time by dancing on the deck to music played by some of our brethren or members of the crew. We could have had an enjoyable time, had it not been for the sorrow occasioned by the many sick and dying among us on account of the measles. . . . [p.320]

Reminiscences and Journals of Jens Christian Anderson Weibye:

Thursday April 3, 1862: I stayed at home and arranged many things.

Friday 4th: I again stayed at home and arranged the various things for emigration. It was quite cold and moist.

Saturday 5th: I was unusually busy until noon. Then our clothes were packed and they were put on a car and taken to Aalborg. At 2:30 in the afternoon I drove with my family in a car (Extra-Feder-Vogn) to Aalborg where we arrived at 8:30 in the evening and stayed at the home of Christian Frederiksen in Svinglen in Aalborg.

Sunday 6th: At 3 o'clock in the afternoon we went on board the ship "Albion" in Aalborg, and at 4 o'clock we left and came to Aarhus on April 7th at 2:30 at night, and sailed from there again on the steamship to Fredericia at 9:30 in the morning and left there at 11 o'clock. It was a beautiful sight to sail between Jutland and Funen and Slesvig, but when we in the evening almost came to Kiel the ships sailed on ground so that it was held there, and we all (about 700 emigrants from Vendsyssel, Aalborg, Aarhus, Skive, Fredericia and Funen) go in one side and then backwards all men to get the ship ok again. We now lying quietly and drove a little back into the steam, and then we went to Kiel where we arrived at 9 o'clock in the evening. Some of the emigrants went into town to lodge, and some stayed on the ship. I and 4 brethren stayed in the Railroad Hotel for the night.

Tuesday 8th: In the morning many of our families in town at 9:30. Then we went to the railroad station in Kiel, and at 11:15 we left there with an extra railroad train and rode these 14 miles to Altona until 2:15 in the after noon. There the Saints waited until evening before they could be ready to go on board ship.

I had to stay with the money bag until the middle of the afternoon, and then I and Madsen drove to Hamburg to President J. Van Cott at the English hotel and got 1,400 rigsdaler changed and got gold for silver. I came back in the evening and found my wife and children among the Saints on a boat and we now entered the ship and I got an order from C.A. Madsen [p.253] to distribute safety belts to Vendssysel Conference and was also assigned to be cash master for income and expenses and also to write a journal of the most important that happens.

Wednesday April 9 1862: We arranged our things somewhat and the ship people arranged their things on the ship. It was somewhat unfamiliar to us. Some were satisfied and some were very dissatisfied with the stairways and the toilets and lightning, and many of their clothes had disappeared. (It had been mixed with the emigrants' clothes on the ship "Humboldt" which had been with us from the Aarhus and Fredericia Conferences) I lost some of mine and my wife's and children's clothing so I must buy some again in Hamburg.

Thursday April 10th: In the morning Brother Jens Jensen's wife of Høien fell through the steerage and down into the cargo and hurt her head very much and also her shoulders so she had to be carried into the berth unconsciously. In the evening I went with President C.A. Madsen to Hamburg to make some purchases as we have lost some of our clothes which came with the emigrants on "Humboldt" and in the evening when we came home on the ship Elder R. Mikkelsen (steward on the ship) had fallen down through the upper deck to the between-deck and hurt his loin so that he had to be carried in the berth, and he can hardly move.

Friday 11th: Some assignments were made. Painter Buemann as steward. Elders S. Staerk and [Lars Anderson] Skoubye [Skouby] are cooks. Christen Olesen [Olsen] and Carl Chr. Jensen lamp trimmers. C. Andersen watch master. We are now divided into 8 districts and 20 berths in each district, and we are 259 adults, 131 children, 19 sucklings. Altogether 409 Saints.

Accounted for 324-1/2 full persons 8 district presidents were called:

J. [Jacob] P. [Peder] Jacobsen 1
J.C. Kornum 2
N. [Niels] Mortensen 3
L. [Lars] P. [Peterson] Fjeldsted 4
C. [Christian] P. [Peder] Borregaard 5
J. C. L. Frost 6
T. [Thomas] Larsen 7
J. Andersen 8

J. [Jens] Fr. [Fred] Mortensen clothes master. [PROBABLY, anton] A. Lund English interpreter. Winkelman and Jacob P. [Peder] Jacobsen German interpreters. Niels Chr. Andersen in charge of the washing. NL. JG. [p.254]

Saturday April 12 1862: I was assigned to help the steward with the accounts and delivery and L. [Lauritz] Larsen from Aalborg spiritual leader.

Sunday 13th. We didn't have any meeting on board until evening. We had a council meeting (midship) and Madsen set me apart as his first counselor and L. [Lauritz] Larsen as his second counselor and Joh. Chr. Jensen to wake the people up every morning at 5 o'clock with clarinet music, followed by 1 or 2 numbers on an accordion and likewise to have prayers at 7 o'clock in the morning and at 8 o'clock in the evening. Much more was discussed for the benefit of the company as cleanliness etc. NF. JWm.

Monday 14th. All well on the ship with the exception of a little sickness in the stomach as the result of the travel and the changed food.

Carl Chr. Jensen was appointed steward instead of Buemann and Mathias Jensen as lamp trimmer in his stead. We hired an extra cook for 90 rigsdaler, and he came on board and started the job today so that we can get good food that our health can be preserved, that we might reach the goal.

We are lying here waiting for a good wind that we can sail out. I am now through with exchanging money for the Saints and also with the payment for clothes as tents, bed sacks, cloth bound trunks, water containers, tin goods, rifles and other things to be used for the Saints' emigration.

I have received the following loans and delivered them to others:

From Jens C. Kornum 100 rigsdaler to Apostles Lyman and Rich to Faaer 150 rigsdaler

What a joy it was for us to see land, but it didn't last long before we sailed out of sight. In the afternoon there was a conflict between C.A. Madsen and Christoffer Thomsen about a rifle which made Madsen angry and he became too hot-headed and pushed C. Thomsen twice. In the evening In the evening [SIC] Joh. Chr. Jensen's daughter Johanne Dorthea died from measles at the age of 4-1/4. Tonight no wind.

At 11:15 in the evening some were alarmed when they were informed and smelled there was fire in a tree, but it was soon found out that it was at the tree at the passengers' cooking galley but it was soon put out by the help of the water hoses on the ship to our great joy. At 9 o'clock we could see New Scotland and at 11 o'clock before we turned were two Danish miles near it and could see buildings and forests just before Liverpool in Scotland which looked very beautiful. Onboard the ship Franklin May 25 1862.

Captain Murray.

Dear Sir: The passengers on the ship Franklin fulfill hereby a pleasant duty to thank you and acknowledge you for your courtesy to us, for your care for the sick, for the passengers welfare, for your helpfulness for your encouraging attitude, for your patient lenience to our awkwardness because of our unaccustomed experience with silver, for your knowledge and experience which we know have contributed to our fast and sacred crossing from Hamburg to New York. As we are leaving the ship we wish that success and progress may crown your days on earth.

Sunday May 25th: Sailed West, but it was very quiet. The sun was shining clearly and it was milder than usual, and we also saw some small black birds like the "svaler" in Denmark.

In the afternoon we had a meeting on the deck midships under open skies. T. Larsen, J.C. Kornum and I preached to them, and as it was almost completely quiet some, about 200 of the Saints, were on the deck to attend the meeting. In the evening 6 brothers and 6 sisters were appointed to wash and make the sick and the weaks clothing clean of lice and other unclean things with Brother L. Staerk and Sister Ane Margrethe Frantzen heading the Cleaning Committee. [p.274]

Monday May 2 1862: Clear air but somewhat cold. We are crossing Southwest, Northwest and again West. In the council meeting in the evening President C.A. Madsen spoke much about teaching and contemplation to us and said that the most evil which has been here or some other place has appeared because of the question MINE AND YOURS.

And still none of us own anything, but all is the Lord's and we are housekeepers. Madsen proposed to the council that he and I (J.C.A.Weibye) and Carl Chr. Jensen become chairmen of the purchase of foods for the company through the states and L. Larsen chairman to bring it by the help of 12 brothers, viz.

J.C. Kornum, J.F. Mortensen, Hans Christensen, N.C.C. Stamhuus, H.C. Hansen, T.C.P. Grysberg, Chr. Peter Sørensen, J.C.S. Frost, Jørgen Nielsen, Axel Einersen, Søren Jacobsen and Jens Jensen Løth.

A letter was read thus and it was unanimously decided to bring it to the mates.

Onboard the ship Franklin May 1862. To the mates Clawson, Henwood and Collin.

Gentlemen: We the passengers, before we leave the ship, are happy to offer to you our thanks and gratitude for your kind and gentlemanlike treatment there according to our experience and it is unsurpassed and have rendered to our passage crossing the Atlantic comfort, pleasure and satisfaction in every regard.

And with the most sincere desire for your welfare and happiness we leave you forever remembering our agreeable and joyful voyage under your care and company.

Respectfully yours,

J.C.A. Weibye, L. Larsen, A.H. Lund,

R. Mikkelsen, J. Andersen, Carl Chr. Jensen,

Ane Margrethe Frantzen, Ane Jensen. [p.275]

At 11 o'clock in the evening Niels Jensen's child from Høien Jensine Kirstine died from measles at the age of 2-1/2.

Tuesday May 27 1862: From last night at 10 o'clock until 8 o'clock this morning we have been sailing fine in the right direction towards West/Northwest, but now it is almost quiet and somewhat warm, fog and much rain.

Today it is 7 weeks since we came on board the ship Franklin in the harbor in Hamburg, and from here on I will give a short description of our treatment, food and drinks etc.

We 409 emigrants came here on Franklin Tuesday April 8th in the evening, and Madsen assigned me to distribute the berths (or beds which were so wide that 3 could lie on one without being jammed). There were 160 beds one above the other, and we had our clothing taken care of and we had food delivered which consisted of meat, ham, peas, beans, potatoes, barley groats, rice, prunes, syrup, vinegar, pepper, coffee beans, tea, brown sugar, powdered sugar, chicory, butter, ryebread and crackers as long as this ryebread could stand the mold and then crackers, water, wheat meal for pancakes, herrings, salt and oil for the lamps. We lighted 11 lamps every evening; the six belong to the ship and the 5 are the emigrants'. We got an extra cook hired in Hamburg by the name of Christensen for 90 rigsdaler and two of our own brethren, Staerk and Skoubye [Skouby] are cooks. From our own goods we had good food made as peas, sweet soup, rice boiled in milk and barley porridge. We had sweet soup on Sunday, Peas on Monday, Rice pudding on Tuesday, Rice pudding on Wednesday, Peas on Thursday, Barley porridge on Friday and Herrings and potatoes on Saturday. [p.276]

Some of the emigrants had brought measles with them from home which soon spread around all over the ship so that about 40, especially children, were attacked at the same time. Besides, most of the emigrants suffered from diarrhea, some for two weeks and some in less time and some longer which exhausted us a lot. And besides almost all of us lost the taste for the crackers which lasted for a short time or longer time. At the close of the journey we soaked them in cold water or tea water. After 8-12 hours we intended to eat them and they would be soft like a loaf of bread, made of rye flour and wheat flour in Denmark. For the sick two times a day oat soup, rice soup or sego soup, and almost every day pancakes by the hundreds were baked for the sick and those who didn't like crackers. Besides we had often baked white bread by the black steward for the old people who couldn't chew crackers. We were divided into 8 districts about equally large. We held a council meeting every evening, and many necessary things were done both regarding cleanliness and help to the poor which they needed for their journey through America.

We washed the deck three times a week and twice it was fumigated with tar.

The Spirit of Peace was among us, so I haven't heard any more evil during the 7 weeks more than once among so many people, and naturally each of us has our imperfections and human weaknesses.

The captain, the mates (3), the carpenter (1), and the seamen (16) were very human to us as well as the captain's servant, the black steward and the black cook who often cooked for us in his time off as well as our own cook (Christensen) cooked and baked pancakes for us.

We held meetings partly on the deck and partly on the between-deck with ourselves. Almost every morning at 5 o'clock they blew the clarinet or played the harmonica to get people up, and sometimes both things were used, and likewise at 7 o'clock in the morning and 8:30 in the evening for prayer. They danced on the deck almost every day, but mostly in the afternoon from 6:30 until 8:30, and then our own brethren played and two mates, the carpenter, the captain's servant or one of the seamen, so we had much joy when we don't think about the many deaths from measles. Up to this time 3 grownups and 43 children [p.277] have died, almost all of them from measles. These days the smallpox has broken out among us so four children have been attacked by it. We have almost had contrary wind all the time. Otherwise we would have been in New York many days ago as Franklin is an excellent ship. We have sailed around all those we have been able to see.

There has been very little seasickness among us. It was only a couple of times in the beginning, once on the North Sea and once on the Atlantic Ocean. We feel much better sailing on the Atlantic Ocean than on the North Sea between Hamburg and England.

Now about myself and my family.

I feel very fine on this my journey to Zion and thus does my family. We were all well when we came on board the ship, and I have been well all the time with the exception of diarrhea for two weeks. My wife has also been well all the time, but however, she has continually been in bed since April 30th because our little Anemine became sick from measles on April 30th, and she has been lying with her to keep her warm. Since then the measles have disappeared. Now the sickness has gone to coughing, ear pain and weakness, and she has become very meager. O God, wilt Thou heal her is our prayer in the name of Jesus, amen.

On May 8th our child Petreane Margrethe became sick with a cold and has been lying in bed now and then since that and has been more or less sick and still is. My wife's sister Ane Margrethe has been well almost all the time. My old sister (72 years) Else Jeppesen has mostly been in bed and has been more or less sick. My sister Sidsel Cathrine with 4 children Johanne Marie, Anders, Poul and Chr. have been well with the exception of a little seasickness. My sister Maren with her husband Jens Jensen and children Jens, Ane, Anders and Ane Marie have been well with the exception that her husband had difficulty to stand the sea, especially in the beginning; then he mostly had to stay in bed, but now hope is enlivened much. [p.278]

In the afternoon of May 27 1862 the seamen took the anchor up and lowered the anchors down on the side of the ship which is a good sign that we are approaching New York. In the evening in the council it was decided that Brother C. Andersen (brother in arms) should be luggage manager on the train through America and have 4 brothers to help him.

During the night we sailed well.

Wednesday May 28th: It was foggy in the morning. We are sailing well in South West. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock the lock boat No. 21 came. We got the cargo on board which made us happy, and now we could start to see 8-10 ships which was very new to us on the Atlantic Ocean where we sailed for several days without seeing a ship.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon we could see North America's Continent, and at 5:30 we turned and sailed towards the Northwest towards the country. It was very beautiful to see America's land and the many fires which burned during the night, for there is little room and it takes caution to sail.

Thursday May 29th: At 2 o'clock at night Joh. Chr. Jensen's child Martinus Liljenquist died from weakness. At 4 o'clock in the morning a steamboat came and took us and towed us, and at 7 o'clock and the doctor from the state Eiland and we were tested, and the dead child came on land. At 10 o'clock in the morning we came so near to New York as Nørre Sundby is from Aalborg in old Denmark.

We were now very busy to pack our clothes together to be ready to go ashore. At 11 o'clock our clothing came by Franklin and on a large transport boat from Castle Garden, and at 12 noon we ourselves came on it and were there for two hours, but then we received a message from Castle Garden that we could not get off the boat there as there were so many dead people on the ship and some were still sick. We now had to go back on Franklin again, but they sailed to the coast with all our clothing and beds with a very few exceptions, and 18 of our party were taken to a hospital on an island, shortly from New York of whom 10 were sick and 8 well in the same families. We now stayed on the ship this night without getting any of our clothing back with the exception of 30 beds for more than 300 persons and still kind of a quarantine. During the night Søren Chr. Thygesen's daughter Ane Kirstine Marie 2 years old [died] from measles. She was buried in the water.

Today we have received milk, bread, cheese and some more from New York which all tasted very well. (Today it was Ascension Day) [p.280]

Friday May 30 1862: We remained on the ship Franklin in kind of a quarantine and could now see the lovely surroundings and the big traffic of steamboats and steamships and other ships by the thousands and see the beautiful cities which belong to New York, one of the biggest business places in the world. The weather was very beautiful and it was exceptionally warm today just like yesterday, but it is also the first time that the heat starts this year. We could see a large fire in New York which lasted several days, for it was oil that burned.

Saturday 31st: At 2 o'clock in the afternoon I for the first time set my feet on the land of North America or Joseph's Land of Inheritance.

We now got into Castle Garden, a large round building which could hold many hundreds of people. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Apostle C.C. Rich together with J. Van Cott to visit us. At 5 o'clock our clothes we had our clothes brought out from Castle Garden. At 8 o'clock we went from there through the streets of New York. Many pointed fingers at us, especially children, and said Djøtz, Djøtz, Djøtz!

The railroad goes through New York and there are also streetcars in several streets. At 8 o'clock we left New York on an extra train in 8 cars and besides 3 cars for our clothes. We, about 350 people, might each have 100 lbs. free on the railroad. Adult and children half, and still we had 5,750 lbs. overweight which cost $150.

The weather was very beautiful and mild. We drove through the whole night.

Sunday June 1st: At 7 o'clock in the morning Ane Kirstine Bassibaek's daughter died, Maren Kirstine Marie 8 years old from consumption after measles. At 7:30 we came to Albany and crossed on a steamboat.

The child was buried there which cost 7 dollars.

Brother Van Cott and Blackburn went with us there, but Van Cott remained there and took care of two letters for me, one to H.C.S. Høgsted in Hjørring and one to my wife's parents Peder Pedersen back in Rakkebye. [p.281]

Sunday June 1 1862: At 12:30 noon we drove from Albany in other railroad cars and arrived in Syracuse at 9 o'clock in the evening and slept in the cars during the night. In the morning we bought bread. (We had with us from New York bread, butter, cheese, hot dogs, pork) and at 7 o'clock in the morning on June 2nd we left Syracuse in the same cars. (Bought a patglas in Syracuse at the price of 1 ½ dollars.

At 10:30 we crossed a bridge at a small waterfall in a large city Rochester, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon we crossed an unusually large bridge at Clifton where the railroad goes on top of the road across this bridge, and there you can see the gorgeous Niagara Waterfall which is about an English mile from there. I and some others went to see this waterfall. The water tumbled down so that it rumbled heavily and went up in the air again. [AN ILLUSTRATION OF THE SUSPENSION BRIDGE IS PROVIDED AT THE BOTTOM OF p.282]

We stayed at this railroad station until 7 p.m. Then we got into other cars and drove all night. (We were now in English possessions).

Tuesday June 3 1862: In the morning we drove across the Sumpige Areas and along the St. Clare Lake and arrived in the Windsor Station at 2:30 in the afternoon and crossed the St. Clare Lake in a steam-ferry (just as far as between Sundby and Aalborg in Denmark) to Detroit. (Now we are again in the United States) where we immediately got into other railroad cars and left there at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The weather was beautiful and it was a beautiful fertile area.

There I saw the first female Indian, a girl about 12 years. We drove all night.

Wednesday June 4th: The weather was beautiful. Around noon we drove along the Michigan Lake. (There are big waves like the ones at Løkken in Denmark.) [AN ILLUSTRATION OF THE NIAGRA WATERFALLS IS PROVIDED AT THE TOP OF p. 283] [p.283] We came to Chicago at 11:30 a.m. We were in town to buy food, viz. 700 loaves of bread, butter and cheese for 273-1/2 passengers. We now got into other cars and left at 6 p.m. and drove all night.

Thursday June 5 1862: Beautiful weather. At 8 o'clock in the morning our dear child, Anemine, started dying, and in 2 hours, viz. at 10 o'clock she gave up the spirit quietly (after 5 weeks of sickness) in Prairie City close to Quincy in Illinois. The Poulsen sisters sewed burial clothes to her, a shift and a white dress, blue stockings and boots and a white mantle and a white ribbon around the body and about the wrists and a white sheet with cut holes in the edge.

At 2:30 p.m. we came to Quincy, and at 4:30 we sailed from there on a ship 16 English miles up the Missouri River to Hannibal where we arrived at 6 o'clock the same evening. I went to town to do some errands, and Brother Mitchel brought a coffin for Anemine. The shape of the coffin on top of oak, brown, polished, Price $3, and in the evening he helped me to carry her 2 English miles to Samuel Coleman in Hannibal who promised to bury her the second day and put the following inscription on her grave. Price $2.50.

Anemine Weibye
born February 10 1861 in Hjørring in Denmark, in Europe by parents J.C.A. Weibye and S.M. Weibye.
Died June 5 1862 in Prairie City near Quincy City
close to Quincy in Illinois. [p.284]

We slept in the railway-carriages during the night.

Friday June 6, 1862: At 6 o'clock in the morning we left Hannibal and drove across flat, fertile and almost uninhabited plains where we saw American soldiers who had raised their tents, partly at the towns and partly at the bridges to prevent the Southern people to break up the railroad or the bridges. Today we drove 209 English miles from Hannibal to St. Joseph with the speed of an English mile in 3 minutes, but we often stopped for a long time, and for this reason we didn't arrive in St. Joseph until 7:30 in the evening. I went to town to buy bread for the company. It was very hot today. We slept in the same cars during the night.

Saturday 7th: At 4 o'clock in the morning we got out of the cars and to a green plain at the Missouri River where we stayed until noon. Then we went on board the steamship "Westward". (Many of us were in the St. Joseph City, some to buy clothes and I and Brother Abraham Mitchel to buy food for the company). At 10 o'clock in the evening we sailed from St. Joseph against the stream in the Missouri River. We had very poor room on this ship (or steamboat).

Sunday 8th: We held a Whitsuntide party on the Missouri River and enjoyed the beautiful weather and this lovely wooded area. On the whole way there is nothing else to see on both sides of the river but wood and forests, and the stream is so strong that it takes the soil with trees and everything else and takes it with it. Wherever you saw you saw streaming trees which the stream takes.

Monday 9th: Beautiful weather. At 6 o'clock in the morning we sailed by Nebraska City. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon we came by Council Bluff and at 6 o'clock we came to Omaha where I went out to bread. There Elder H.C. Hansen came to us and traveled with us to Florence where we arrived in the evening at 10 o'clock and got our clothes gathered together and stayed on the beach. [NOTE THERE IS AN ASTERISKED NOTE SAYING: Saw 4 Indians there.] [p.285]

. . . At 10:10 we could see the Valley (Salt Lake Valley) and then right away across a small spring to the right, and at 10:18 we could see houses in the Valley, and now much up on a hill, and at 10:26 we could see Great Salt Lake City. At 10:30 we stopped on the hill and gathered until 11 o'clock and then off again down to the city, where we arrived at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Here many friends came and welcomed us of whom some were from Weibye. . . . [p.333]

On Tuesday the 15th of April we sailed from Hamburg and came to Cuxhaven the 18th of April where we waited for good wind till Monday 21st when we sailed again and got into the British Channel on Monday the 28th, and our child Anemine was taken sick with measles, and continued sick until the 5th of June.

Our daughter Petreane Magrethe was also sick for 3 weeks on board the Franklin.

We came to New York on Thursday the 29th of May, having been on board the Franklin 7 weeks and 2 days.

We had to lie in quarantine two days because of the much sickness on board, out of 409 emigrants died 3 adults and 45 children under 12 years, or nearly one eighth died, mostly of measles or the effect thereof.

Mr. Robert Murray was captain for the ship Franklin. [p.18]
Elder C. A. Madsen was captain for us emigrants, and I was his 1st and Lauritz Larsen from Aalborg his 2nd councilor (appointed April 8.)

We continued our journey on railroad from New York to St. Joseph and from there on steamer up the river Missouri to Florenze [Florence], where we had to stop and wait for the church teams from Utah.

Monday 27th—Arrived at Florenze, where we stayed till July 24, and had a good time with lots of fun for the young folks who did not have much to do but play.

July 24th—We commenced our slow journey across the plains with ox teams in Cap. John Murdock's Co. I walked nearly every step from Florenze to Salt Lake City, where we arrived Sept. 27th.

The next day we left for Liverpool, Mother, Father, Catherine and I. My brother and one sister remained in Sweden and were opposed to Mormonism. I was thirteen years old. . . . We came to St. Louis, then by steamboat to Florence and waited two weeks for the ox-teams to get ready for our long journey. The captain of our company was Brother Murdock. We prayed night and morning and were told to go to bed early. This we were glad to do as we were tired after our long day's travel. We always had a short service on Sunday. Another family shared our wagon. One old couple and a young woman with dropsy were allowed to ride, but the rest walked every step of the way. We had fairly good food and saved a small piece of dough which we would wash out and use as yeast to rise the next batch. We mixed every night and baked in the morning. The last part of our journey we passed graves almost every day and one day we passed eleven all in a row. We often saw wagon trains of people going to Calif. for the gold.

Once a terrible wind storm came up in the night and we held fast to our bedding and tents. Another day the rain soaked us and our clothing which we tried to dry at night by campfire. It was hard to find wood as many trains had taken the wood close by. A few owned their own outfits. Our wagon had two teams of oxen on it. Annie, a twenty year old girl, was a great companion of mine. We would often walk together and one day we stopped to pick some flowers that grew in a hollow and were left a long distance behind.

We saw several Indians riding toward us and one shot an arrow at us but it did not hit us. We hid, lying flat under the bushes and grass. The Indians looked everywhere for us and then rode away.

We passed a camp of soldiers before we got to Echo Canyon. I remember Devil's Gate. We passed Fort Douglas and soon after was in Salt Lake City. It was early autumn in 1862 and saints were harvesting their crops. We stayed in the tithing yard three days then moved to Logan in the company of Hogensens to our relatives living there.

After this we moved to Florence, Nebraska, joining the Saints in Capt. John Murdock's company traveling west.

While awaiting the time for departure, the Saints were all in a large log house very near the Missouri river, when a heavy wind and hail storm arose to such a degree that it fairly rocked the building. Fearing that it would rumble down on all of us, every one rushed outside and the lightning struck one of the men, by cutting his trouser leg wide open, but other than stunning him, he was uninjured.

Finally the Captain gave the order that the company would start and we were on our way. Upon reaching the eastern part of Wyoming, we experienced another bad storm, father and mother each had to support our tent covering, until the storm ceased, as the wind had blown it over.

We passed thousands of head of buffalo during our journey. Captain Murdock would order the company to halt, until they rushed past, as he said it was a bad policy to split the herd.

Mother kept a small sack always in one corner of the wagon box, it was my duty to keep this filled with buffalo chips for fuel, unless we chanced to find wood or timber, later it was sage brush that we used.

Whenever we came to a stream of water, there was always one of the men ready to ride his saddle horse into the river, if his horse had to swim, he would return as soon as possible, but if man and horse could wade all of the way across, the company was allowed to march on through. If he had to swim, we then made camp, some times for ten days making rafts or floats to enable everything to be taken over to the opposite side.

We arrived in the Valley during September 1862.

We landed at Castle garden, New York, on the 30th day of May, and continued our road westward, partly by train and partly by Steamer, untill we reached Florence, Nebraska, which was the outfitting place for the season, where we arived in the early part of June. here we laid in camp six weeks, waiting for the church trains to arive. They had been detained on the road on account of high watter, while we were laying there incamped, provisions was isued to us by the church emigration Agent, Elder Joseph W. Young, and although some grumbled and were dissatisfied, I felt very thankful to God for his kind care over us thus far on the trip, and also to the Saints in Zion, who hath so kindly contributed of their means for the purpose of helping the poor to cross the plains. while incamped on the Florence hill, we had some of the heaviest thunder and rain storms that I have ever seen. Those who hath means enough to go with the independent company, were buying up, and geting their outfits together, and hath a great time handling their wild Steers and Oxen, which did not understand danish. I had an offer at that time to go with this company, and by doing so could have saved my fare, by driving a team, but on account of having promised to asist sister Kjer, until they got to Utah, I stayed with them.

About the 15th of July the church trains comenced to arive, they had four yoke of Oxen on each Wagon, soon after their arival they were loaded partly with Iron and other heavy merchandice, and twelv persons to each wagon with their bagage provisions and tent, we traveled in Captain John Murdoc[k]'s company, who started from camp on the 24th of July, I with hundreds of others walked nearly the whole distance. Old people and those who were not well, would change about riding on the wagons on top of the bagage. To me, being young and strong the trip was a pleasure, and I received here some of my first lesons in the english languich an also in the art of driving Oxen, acording to the american metad [method], from our teamster, a young man from Sanpete County. The train would camp for noon, and night, as near to watter and grass as convinient, the Wagons were draw in a kind of a circle, <on> the inside of which we peatched our tents and made our camp fires, it also served as a coral to drive the Oxen into so as to catch them. the catle and also the camp was guarded every night, we saw quite a number of Indians, but hath no trouble with them. We arived in Salt Lake City in the latter part of September, and our hearts sweled with gratitude to God, for his kind protection over us, both on Land and Sea, until we had safely landed in that butyful City of the Saints.

We were about 9 weeks on the plains, but we were seven weeks waiting on banks of the Missouri River at Florence waiting for the oxteams to come from Utah to get us. I was then 12 years old but reached 13 before I got to Utah. We children would pick wild strawberries and raspberries and sell them in Omaha. I bought me a straw hat and a pocket knife with my berry money.

One day we saw an Indian camp and we sure did skidaddle for home. White would put 5 or 10 cents in end of a split stick and have Indians shoot at it. If they knocked the money out of the stick, the money was theirs. (The Indians)

The Ox Train

We were from 12 to 14 persons in each wagon and thus we could not bring along much, no boxes or chests. We had to empty our bed pillows and mattresses and much of our clothing we had to leave there for we had only 2 sacks and pack all our things in. This was a trial too, to see these things left behind and not get anything for them. We understand that there were many things trying to stop us from walking on the narrow road.

On July 24 we started the long oxtrain over hundreds of miles of plains and dangers of being lost in the streams, but nobody drowned in them, but many were sick and died and were buried at the roadside, some before they were cold in a crude casket, so that they would not be buried with soil in their eyes. It was a trial for the relatives to see this.

It was not enough for me to take care of my own family, but I also got a very fine lady who did not touch anything with her hands. My wife had to bake, cook, fry and wash for her just as if she had been one of our small children. We had two more families to our wagon and tent, one of them old and the other just married before they left Sweden, no children. In my eyes I would think that it would be better to have the young couple look after her, but she clung to us, even though we had never seen each other before we packed our things on the wagon. When we camped in the evening and I had fixed the tent the first thing I had to do was to get her bedding into the tent that she would be better seated than on the plain ground and her food carried to her. When time came to go to bed she was very polite to raise and let my wife or me make her bed. The same politeness she showed us in the morning by leaving her bed for me to fix and load on the wagon.

My wife and I went through it patiently during the whole journey. If Hanssen was the reason we would have this trouble I do not know even though I think so. From the day I showed him he was wrong in his book he was not the same man towards me. We did not have Hanssen as our leader across the plains, he went his own way. We got another Scandinavian brother, who also had been on a mission in Denmark as our Scandinavian leader. His name was Matsen from "Sanpit [Sanpete] Co. Utah".

As captain of the Church train we went with there was an English brother who had come with the wagons from Utah. His name was John Murdock. We went forward slowly every day, I with my youngest son Nils on my back in my natural walk could walk far from the train and often being tired put him down at the road to the train reach him hoping to get a ride with somebody, but it was not very often he came up in the wagon that was ours for my wife and daughter to take care of our 5 months old child.

Nils Becomes Lost

One day I had left him as before at the road when a Swede by name Ådler, driving for our leader Matsen had picked him up in his wagon and as it was in the afternoon Nils had gone to sleep, and then when we were to camp Nils was lost, to our astonishment. Kjersti, my wife, should start to get us something to eat, but she couldn't get anything done until she knew if he was in the camp or not. We began our search round the camp but could not find him and we had a strange feeling, especially Kjersti for she thought that he was left at the roadside and wanted me to go back and find him, but it was already dark so I could not do anything in this wilderness.

We looked and asked all over in the camp but did not find him until Ådler came in from the herd and woke him up and said he was ashamed that he had forgotten our little boy, and we thanked the Lord that he was with us.

After this I was careful not to leave him alone at the road side. When we came to "Larami[e]" there was no bridge or boat over the "Northplat" [North Platte] river. Here all men who possibly could had to wade over the stream. I got a big stick in one hand and with my oldest son Pehr, 15, at my left, from where the stream came, we waded over the very stony bottom.

September 24 we came to "Perlispark." [Parley's Park] Here we camped and stayed for three days as we had to sign our names to our debt to the Church for our journey across the plains and the high mountains. The debt for my family was 230 dollars with 10% interest a year until the sum was paid. It was a hard thing to sign and still harder that both Pehr and Botilla, who were only 15 and 14 also had to sign. It took 8 years before it was paid off.

Finding a Home in Salt Lake City

Saturday September 27 we landed in Salt Lake City. All our things were unloaded and we tented and put our small belongings into the tent and pondered where we would find a home for the coming winter.

In the late spring of 1862, we reached Florence, Nebraska, where a number of Saints were settled, trying to do a little farming. Father signed up with John R. Murdock's Company to cross the plains in his train of fifty wagons, drawn by three or four yokes of oxen. Our teamster was a Mr. Stephens, From Provo, Utah. Captain Murdock was a splendid man, and to me that journey was a wonderful experience even though, I, at seven years of age, and my brother Edward, nine or ten, had to walk barefoot most of the way. We saw lots of Indians, most of them being friendly, and large herds of buffalo and antelope.

After four months of travel, we finally reached the wonderful city of Salt Lake.

The wagons and ox teams were ready to take us on our journey across the plains. When we had traveled many days we saw Indians which frightened us very much. I was curious to see a dead Indian hanging in a tree, for I knew that was the way they buried their dead. I saw one, he was wrapped in a red blanket.

The next thing of interest was the crossing of the Platte River. It was necessary for the men to carry the ladies over. When Father started with Mother I let out a scream, because the river looked so wicked to me. The teamster, Brother Albert Shales, quieted me some, but no sooner had he pacified me until Father slipped and fell with Mother, but soon recovered himself. Nothing much impressed me after that until we reached Fillmore.

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 16th, 1862.

EDITOR DESERET NEWS:

DEAR SIR:—Presuming your readers may be desirous of hearing from their friends on the plains, I take the liberty of sending you this brief report:

I left Florence on the 17th of August, in company with Elders Lyman and Rich, Hon. W. H. Hooper, H. S. Eldredge, and several other brethren. At Wood river (two hundred miles out) we left Capt Dame's freight train, in which there are about one hundred and twenty-five passengers. Sixty-five miles this side we passed Capt. Haight's church train.

At Pawnee Swamps we passed Capt. Miller's train, two hundred and eighty miles out.

Ten miles east of North Bluff Fork, we passed Mr. D. Kimball with about twenty-five wagons, and near him was a camp of seven wagons, which we advised to fall in with him for safety.

Near Ash Hollow we passed Mr. Godbe's freight train. The same day passed Captain Canfield's company. At Scott's Bluffs we passed Capt. Harman's train.

Capt. James S. Brown, with a train of from forty to fifty wagons, had gone the north side of the Platte, through the Black Hills, in consequence of which we did not see them.

We passed Cpt. Horn's company at Platte Bridge, and Capt. Murdock's train at Rocky Ridge, on Simonoc's [Seminoe] Cut-off.

We passed Capt. Duncan's train at Little Sandy; Kimball & Lawrence's freight train at Green river, and the two Danish independent companies on Ham's Fork. These trains had traveled together to that place, under the direction of Elder John Van Cott, but there separated, and will arrive in two divisions under Captains Madsen and [Ola N.] Liljinquist [Liljenquist], Elder Van Cott coming in with us.

These companies were all making remarkably good time, and their teams looked well. The people were generally in excellent health and spirits. In fact, I can say I never saw an emigration in such good traveling condition. The feed is the best on the plains that has ever been since we came to these mountains.

The Danes will arrive about the 22d inst., and from that day there will be but very few intervals between trains until all reach this valley.

I herewith furnish you lists of all our organized companies except Capt. J. S. Brown's, which I failed to get, but hope to have it for your next issue. There are a great number of persons of whom we have no report; they having fallen in with the trains after they left Flor[e]nce, without being organized with any particular company.

With good wishes to yourself, the boys in the office, and all Saints, I remain your brother in the gospel,

JOS. W. YOUNG. [SECOND CHURCH TRAIN.]

Arrivals, Immigration &c.

Elder Samuel W. Richards, from Liverpool, and Thomas S. Williams, of the firm of J. M. Horner & Co. arrived August 26th, p.m.

Elder Richards left Liverpool on the 8th of July, per steamer Niagara, and landed in Boston on the 20th of the same month. Proceeded to St. Louis by rail, via Albany, Niagara Falls, Detroit, and Chicago, where he arrived on the 25th. Left St. Louis same day on board the Polar Star for Weston, where he arrived early in the morning of the 29th of July. Left Weston and Fort Leavenworth in the afternoon of the 1st of August, in company with Thomas S. Williams, George Halladay [Halliday], and W. S. G. dbey [Godbe], for Great Salt Lake City, where he arrived on the 26th of August, in good health and fine spirits, having performed the entire journey from Liverpool to G. S. L. City in 40 days, and in less than 43 days traveling time. The distance from Fort Leavenworth was made in 252 hours, 25 minutes of traveling time.

Br. Field and company on the 14th inst., were camped about three miles above Laramie.

Elders James Brown, Job Smith, and Darwin Richardson were camped with their companies near Scott's Bluffs, on the 13th inst. Elder Olson, and the Danish Saints, with about 70 wagons, were camped near Chimney Rock on the 12th instant.

Elder Daniel Garn, with a company of about 10 wagons, was camped about 30 miles above Ash Hollow on the 11 inst.

Elder Ira Eldredge and company were camped about 15 miles below the crossing of the South Fork of the Platte, on the 10th inst.

Elders Win.Empy, Durr P. [Dorr Purdy] Curtiss, Robert Campbell, and William Taylor with the rear companies of migration were supposed to be crossing the Big Blue, about 160 miles below Fort Kearney, on the 4th inst.

The companies were generally well, and in fine spirits.

The brethren who have been called upon to furnish aid to their brethren on the route will see by the above, and by the letter published in this number from br. Pratt and others, that much assistance in men, teams, and provisions will be necessary to enable those now far back on the plains to arrive in anything like comfortable season; hence it is expected that they will duly realize their relative position and circumstances, and promptly, and efficiently respond to the call of the First Presidency, thro' the Bishops, to send back sufficient aid to roll all up in a good style and season.

Aside from the counsel and requirements of the First Presidency on this subject, and aside from brotherly kindness, and in addition to the commandment of doing unto others as we would they should do unto us, strict economy and worldly-mindedness indicate the good policy of a speedy and liberal turn out. For we are all one temporally as well as spiritually, literally as well as figuratively, or we are not what we profess to be, and shall not attain to what we desire, and are looking for. And if we are not one, the sooner we begin to act upon those principles calculated to make us one, the sooner we will be prepared for the blessings promised to the faithful.

In addition to the assistance required of you by your bishops, it will be well for those who know they have friends, or relatives on the road to cast in their help according to their ability, for which they will in no wise lose their reward, and confer the additional blessing of making the heart glad, by evincing a kindly sympathy for those who are winding their weary way over a dreary waste to the present home of the saints.

Elders Orson Pratt, Horace S. Eldredge, Frederick Kesler, and George Halladay [Halliday] arrived in good health and spirits on the afternoon of the 27th.--The two last named from a short church business trip to St. Louis; Elder Pratt from his mission to Washington and Presidency over the saints in the States east of the Rocky Mountains, and br. Eldredge from the presidency over the Branch at St. Louis.

When we got off the boat we were taken in vehicles out to the edge of St. Louis to McFee's camp ground, where all the saints were camped, preparatory to going to Utah. Father bought all the camp outfit and provisions to start on our journey but it was six weeks before we started. The families of saints father had brought were all to go to Utah in what they called the ten pound company and then settle with father later. We went in an independent company, or a company that furnished themselves. We had in our outfit to travel across the plains 2 wagons, 12 herd [head] of oxen, 1 yoke of cows and a beautiful riding mare, saddle etc. We had two teamsters. We had all kinds of provisions: bacon, hams, flour, crackers, and everything to eat one would wish. We even had a churn and used to put the milk from the cows in the churn in the morning in the wagon and by night we would have butter. We were clothed comfortable and had plenty of good bedding. I think it was about the first week in July when we started across the great plains. The captain of our company was Captain [Darwin] Richardson. There were 40 wagons, three and four families to a wagon. They had to take turns riding part way and walking part way across the plains. I will say that before we started cholera broke out and several hundred died. It still continued and many died (mostly young men) while on our journey. Our company would start first, early in the morning [morning] and we would travel until towards night, when they would find a suitable camping place, where the cattle would be corraled, by the wagons forming a circle on the outside, and the cattle within. Buffalo chip was the fuel. Campfires built, supper prepared, have prayers, sing and retire.

The heat was very oppressive and we would all get very tired, footsore and weary. We always stopped over Sunday where we would have worship and have a glorious time as we had a number of good musicians in our company, who had brought their musical instruments with them. We saw lots of deer, antelope and buffalo, a few were killed. Also saw a few mountain sheep. The indians were our dread [dread] as there were so many of them and they were all on the warpath and we had to be so careful for fear they would kill us. One day we came upon a large number in Ish [Ash] Hollow, of Sioux Indians, we were very frightened of them. They were on their way to war with another tribe. My father gave them a large barrel of crackers and all the company gave them something and we got past them in peace. I had never seen an indian before. I was frightened of the indians and of the panthers roar at night. The loneliness of the plains nearly drove me wild. Mother and the children were like me and we were wishing every day we could reach our destination that night. There were a great many deaths in our company. We just had to sew the corpse in a sheet or blanket, dig a deep hole and bury them and go on.

Oh, the trials the saints endured no tongue can tell, and no pen can write the suffering. Mother [Priscilla Merriman Lewis] was confined at Ash Hollow. Dr. Richardson waited on her. A baby boy was born to her and he was named John Samuel Lewis. She did fine. My sister Mary [Lewis] had the mountain fever and nearly died. I was well during the whole journey and so were the other children. How we did rejoice after many weeks of travel we arrived on the big mountain and could look down on the Great Salt Lake and the Salt Lake Valley. We sung the songs of Zion in earnest and gave up thanks to God that he had watched over us and we were permitted to behold the land of Zion.

We came through Emmigration Canyon through the valley and on to the public square, where we camped with hundreds of others for a few weeks until we could get located. How little Salt Lake City seemed to us. The square was full of people to welcome us in. Brigham Young was there first and gave us a hearty welcome. Some were expecting their loved ones in the company and I tell you it was a grand reunion, a time of rejoicing together. I was glad our journey was ended, but I was very lonesome for awhile. We had been 3 months on the road and arrived in Salt Lake Sept. 30, 1854, just in time to attend the great October conference of the Saints, where we had a glorious time.

Camp one mile from Kansas

Prest Brigham Young

Dear Bro

Knowing that you ever have a deep and abiding interest in the gathering of the Saints I wish to give you a brief acct. of the General Emigration this season

The Danish Company under the presidency of H[ans]. P[eter]. Olsen rolled out on the plains a few days ago, but in consequence of heavy rains & being heavy laden, they are remaining at Big Blue a few miles out on the Prairie unable to proceed further. The President of the company has returned with a note from Elder Orson Pratt stating that I must supply them with what oxen the[y] want I take security upon their teams for the [-], which has been done.

A company of fifty wagons under the Presidency of Elder Job Smith started out—last—Saturday

Dr. Darwin Richardson will start with thrity two wagons early in the morning W[illiam] F[urlesbury] Carter will start one day behind him with a company of about 32 wagons I may possibly add to these companies before they start The latter two companies are P[erpetual] E[emigrating] Fund.

The companies have been detained three weeks longer than necessary for the want of wagons—

In consequence of the immense emigration to California & Salt Lake every thing is very high this season.

Oxen range from 75 to $110.00 from [for] yoke and cows from 25 to $40.00 per head. The price of wagons in St. Louis is $67.00 and the freighting to Kansas ranges from 6 to $12.00 per wagon. The cause of this variation is the various stages of the river.

On acct of the high prices of cattle &c this season the Independents have been proportionally made to depend upon the P E Fund for means to complet their outfits the [- -] the third having far overshot their expectations. Many of them have expressed that they would much rather have come out by the fund as it would have relieved them of much anxiety of mind

By communication from Elder Orson Pratt for Elder Daniel Cairns we are informed that a council was held in St. Louis to examine the state of the Emigration generally, in which it was decided that more should receive their outfit at St. Louis after the 25th inst on acct. of the late arrival of the companies and some having not yet arrived.

There has been considerable mortality among the Saints this season about 200 have died belonging to the aforesaid companies Elder William Taylor has arrived at Kansas with part of another company the [-] of which are coming up the river.—

Elder Daniel Cairns who is here assisting me will take the latter over the plains as soon as we can get them organized—

In great rush I subscribe myself your [-] William Empey per Charles Evans

The Shrewsbury Branch was noted for young men and young Women Zealous in the good work of God, it soon became a Conference with Joseph W Young from Salt Lake Presiding – I laboured for near 6 years faithfully in this conference & was its secretary when I left in 1854 – having saved means by the help of God I was enabled to emigrate in March 1854[.] (David James preceeded me in 1853) 3 months before I left I married one of the sisters by the name of Elizabeth Howells, a faithful sister in the church – We set Sail on the 12th of March 1854 and landed at new orleans on 3rd of May 1854 – We had severe storms in the Irish Channel tossed about for 8 days – We sailed on a Ship (American) called the John M Wood – 300 passingers I think – from new orleans to saint Louis on Steam Boat we had cholera many saints died – was qua[ra]nteed there for some days started again up Missouri river some 400 miles, had cholera again, many saints died, and also at Kansas our fitting out place – in Crossing the plains we lost 33 more. my Wife being one[.] she died at Sweet Water of untimely childbirth. I suffered much with bleeding feet on the journey – arrived Salt Lake Sept 30th 1854 nearly worn out IMMIGRATION. – On the 29th November, Captain James Brown and company with 42 wagons, on the 30th, Dr. Darwin Richardson and company with 40 wagons, and on the 1st of October, Elder Daniel Garn and company with 38 wagons, arrived in this city in good condition and camped on Union Square.

The Church Train is now coming in.

Elder Robert Campbell, in the rear companies, writes to Governor Young from Fort Kearney, Aug. 21, that their cattle are fat, the feed and roads good, and that Bro. [William] Emp[e]y and the rear company were only a few days behind them. They were making good headway, and will doubtless be able to escape the inclement weather, as all are probably this side of the South Pass, and perhaps this side of Green river.

Immigration, Oct. 3.

On the 29th ult. Captain James Brown and company with 42 wagons, on the 30th Dr. Darwin Richardson and company with 40 wagons, and on the 1st inst. Elder Daniel Garn and company with 38 wagons, arrived in this city, in good condition, and are camped on Union Square.

The Church Train is now coming in.

Elder Robert Campbell, in the rear companies, writes to Governor Young from Fort Kearney, August 21, that their cattle are fat, the feed and roads good, and that bro: Empty [Empey] and the rear company were only a few days behind them. They were making good headway, and will doubtless be able to escape inclement weather, as all are probably now this side of the South Pass, and perhaps this side of Green River

Our trip across the plains to Salt Lake Valley was also marked by very hard times. Many died of cholera. Some children were left fatherless and motherless and were dependent on the care of strangers. I was sick most of the way, owing no doubt to the severity of the journey. We put our trust in our Heavenly Father, and finally arrived in the valley of Salt Lake in the latter part of September, 1854.

We arrived at Atchens [Atchison], Kansas and soon arrangements were made for crossing the plains. Cattle, wagons, tents and etc. were bought and the company was organized. William Phelps President and Dr. Dervin [Darwin] Richardson captain. Companies of 15 to a wagon and tent. We were delayed in Camp about 5 weeks in making arrangements. braking in cattle and etc. as many of the cattle were wild stears and some cows. Our provisions and tents had to be loaded into the wagons, so there was little chance to ride, only in case of sickness. Many women in crossing small streams of water would carry their children on their backs. We would travel from 15 to 20 miles a day or until a suitable place was found to camp. The camps would be formed by placing one wagon behind the other and a corral [corral] would be formed to hold the cattle and tents on the outside and cattle would be taken to feed and guard placed over them and change made at midnight and cattle brought in in the morning. As soon as camp was formed the sisters would go to cooking supper. When supper was over the bugle would sound for prayers which were attended to in each tent. Soon after this another call was made to turn in and lights and fires out. Call would be made in the morning for prayers and for cattle to be brought in and yoked up ready to start out again.

We often found Indians whom we found friendly, especially if we had something to give them. We often met large herds of Buffaloes and other wild animals. The buffaloes would be in large herds and sometimes we had to stop until they got out of the way in passing from the river to the bluffs to their range. Our hunters would try to shoot one but with poor success without it was one too old to follow the herd.

My friend, Horace Howlett, and I, had a happy time together, we often would seek some lonely spot and offer up our prayer and thanksgiving to our Heavenly Father for His goodness to us in opening up the way for us to gather with the saints. But my brother would rejoice in spirit as his body was very weak. He was very sick with mountain fever and by the time we got to the Little Sandy he died. He was burried at the Sweet Water. We all went to bed tired and sleepy. He lay by my side and in the morning I raised up and laid my hand on his to wake him and found him dead. There was one other brother died the same night and was burried at the same time and place.

We traveled on from day to day and finally arrived in Salt Lake September 30th 1854. We were met by many of the brothers and sisters who brought us many things to eat and administer to our comfort, so it made us feel that we had indeed landed in Zion among the people of God.

Latest News from our Immigration

The Bros. Shepherd and Obray arrived on the 26th inst. express from the church train on the 21st, from whom we learn that the Danish company were on Black's Fork on the 21st; Elder Daniel Garn and company seven miles this side of Fort Bridger on the 22nd.

Dr. Richardson and company were west of the summit of Bear River Mountain on the 23rd, and Captain James Brown and company were passed in small parties from Cache Cave to Weber River on the 23rd and 25th. Many in Dr. Richardson's company were sick with the scurvy, and 30 had died; otherwise the companies were well, and getting along finely.

Bro. Obray was one who went back with a bro. Williams Scott, after the cattle which had stampeded near the crossing of the South Fork of Platte, and he states that they found 50 head of those cattle at Fort Kearney, in the possession of a trader named J. W. Woodard, and some of them yoked to his wagons; that Woodard would not give them up without being paid five dollars a head, and, as they had no money, he agreed to wait at Kearney four or five days until they could go 65 miles further back, and see Elder A. F. Farr on the Little Blue, but left the same day, taking all the cattle with him, and going down the Platte directly out of the line of our rear immigration.

T. S. Williams of the firm of J. M. Horner and Co. informs us that this Woodard is partner in the firm of Marshal, Woodard and Co. who have a store, and keep the post office at Unionville, on the Big Blue; if so, there may yet be a chance of getting those cattle, which will reduce the stampede loss to about 20 head; and we may be able to learn the reason of the strange (to say the least) conduct of Mr. Woodard towards women and children on the dreary plains, far from their destination and with weak teams at a late season of the year.

Bro. Obray brings no news from J. M. Horner's train, in charge of A. F. Farr, later than the 13th of August, when they were 65 miles beyond Fort Kearney; and knows nothing about any of our companies back of the church train.

In addition to the news of the fight between U. S. troops and the Sioux, contained in the letter from Elder Benson to the Presidency, and published in connection, we learn from bro. Obray that a lame cow strayed from the loose herd of the Danish company into a Sioux camp, where they were merry making, and they killed and eat her. Upon requisition of Lieutenant Gratten, the chief proffered to pay for the cow, but the person who killed her was demanded, and being sent for by the chief, said he did not want to be given up, but would relinquish his and his family's share of the annuity money, then due, in payment for the cow; which being refused, firing began on the part of the troops. The Sioux have not interfered with the emigration and have shown no disposition to do so, and there were no Mormons at the fight.

Pacific Creek, 20th Sept. 1854

President Brigham Young and Council:

Dear Brethren,--Our circumstances and situation are as good as could be expected, considering what this camp has had to encounter. We have travelled with our heavy loads and weak teams beyond all human calculation.

There has been trouble between the soldiers and the Sioux at Laramie, 31 soldiers being killed. I was on the ground the third day after it was done. The whole country is quite in an excitement, the traders fleeing in all directions, and expecting a general war.

All this happened through an unwise move of lieutenant Gratten and the interpreter. The chief offered to settle the question on fair terms, but the officer would not, and commenced firing on the Indians. The cannon was elevated too high, and only clipped the tops of the lodge poles; the old chief and his brother were wounded, and have since died. Before the troops had time to reload, they were all shot down.

On the 18th we met Captain Blackburn, Casper Young and their parties to help up the trains. We were glad to see them all well. Brother H. S. Eldridge and the brethren who came with him, with the mule teams, start for the Valley this morning; the rest of us will come as soon as possible.

E. T. BENSON.

We left that camp about the last of June with about fifty wagons and ten persons in a wagon, although there was eleven persons in our wagon. Doctor Darwin Richardson was our Captain, a very good man, he was returning to his home in the 14 th ward from a m[i]ssion. We started with two yoke of oxen and one yoke of cows. One of the yoke of oxen was Texas cattle, and very wild, with two long sharp horns.

When we first yoked them up, one of them knocked a hole in my upper lip and we had a great time with them until they were thoroughly broke, and then they were not worth much. We had a tent to each wagon, where the most of us slept at night.

Our passengers was seven women, and four men, the women all wanted to ride at once. The Captain gave me charge of the wagon and to stop all disputed with the women about riding, I used to allow two of them to ride twenty minutes at a time and we had a watch to keep time. Mrs. Hughes used to wash my clothes and cook for us, so she rode a little more. William Hughes, John Tripp and myself took turns driving; the other man was too old to do anything. On the whole, we got along very well. As we come near Fort Kearney, we began to see signs of buffalo that we had heard so much about. About four miles West of the Fort we seen about ten that the men at the Fort had killed a few days before. They were strange looking animals to me as they lay there swelled up in the hot sun, but I soon after became familiar with such sights as we were now getting into the buffalo country, and as we come into the Platte Valley the buffalo trails were paths about three feet wide, and sometimes eighteen inches deep. These paths would lead to and from the river. Sometimes we have seen several herds of buffalo at the same time and some of them would seem to extend for miles in length and breadth and the plains would appear black with them. Sometimes they would come and run right through our train. One day Tripp and I come very near catching a young calf. Some of our men shot a number of them, but I did not like the meat so well as our beef.

The Pawnee Indians bothered us some, they would come and demand presents from us for traveling through their country. After we left them we come into the country of the Cheyenne Indians. I have a vivid recollection of how they looked on their horses and dressed for mischief. We camped one day at noon in a good place and the Captain said he would stay there for the day and wash. The cattle was turned out with no one to watch them. We had been camped an hour or more and the Captain noticed that the cattle were straying off into the low foot hills, and wished me to run and turn them back as he was afraid that the Indians were watching to run them off and that he would send some more to help me. So I ran off alone with nothing but a small whip in my hand. I found that the cattle, some of them had got over among the low hills, and when I looked back to the camp which was a mile off, I could just see two or three men starting out to help me, so I went on among the hills. They could not see me now from the camp nor I could not see the camp. After running among the hills for some time I found about twelve of them in a bunch together, and as I ran around to turn them back there were six Cheyenne Indians on their horses looking at me and talking to each other. I seemed to know in a moment what they were after, that was that they intended to run them cattle off and if necessary to shoot me. I think that my hair must have stood on end. When I saw them I felt very much frightened but I thought I would not let them see it. So I put on as bold a front as I could and commenced hollering to the cattle and turned them back, and in coming back we passed right close to the Indians who had come down so that I would have to pass close to them. As I passed I looked at them and said, "How, how", they grunted out something but I did not know what it meant, and I was very thankful when I got out of the hills with the cattle all safe. When I got back to the camp the Captain said that I had a very narrow escape, and that he should not have sent me alone. But there were none of us that throught [thought] that the cattle had strayed so far. We found buffalo all the way up the Platte valley for over three hundred miles. There were some days we would estimate that we had seen over ten thousand buffalo. Some days we would not see any.

Our cattle could sometimes show signs of being frightened, which if not checked would have caused us a great deal of damage, as when they got that way they would run sometimes in all directions when they are hitched up to the wagons although ours did not. It was the rule in our camp to have a night guard to guard the cattle by night and all the men had to take their turns in this labor. There were six at a time and we were relieved after four hours. One night I was out guarding and it was raining and very dark, all at once the cattle stampeded[.] I thought they were coming towards me so I ran on one side and they rushed past where I stood, but they ran over one man and hurt him bad and it was late the next day before we found them all. Some of them were found twelve miles off, so we did not move that day.

When we came near Chimney rock we could see it for three days before we came opposite it. We camped as I thought about two miles from it, so I thought that I would get up early and go and see it before breakfast, so I started early the next morning, as soon as it was light. I walked and ran and I must have been about four hours before I got there and I found it so different from what I expected that I was angry with myself for coming so far to see nothing but a pile of gravel in layers, one above another, about sixty feet high. It was a lonely quiet place, I did not stop long, but started back to find the camp, and it took me until noon before I caught up with it and I was almost dead with thirst.

When about six miles east from Fort Laramie, we came to a very large camp of Sioux Indians. Some of our people said there were two thousand of them. They were camped in a fine meadow, some of them were horse racing and as our train passed along the road they stood on both sides of us. They were a fine looking lot of people, great tall fellows and clean looking squaws, but they did not molest us so we passed on and staid at the Fort a little time, when we went on and camped about six or eight miles West of the fort and crossed the North Platte and camped near the river. Soon after we camped a man rode up and said the Indians had killed two soldiers that had been sent to their camp on some business and that they intended to attack us. There was a large Danish company just behind us and we were afraid they would attack them before they caught up to us but we soon seen the Danes coming and we were very glad. The poor fellows were in a great hurry as they understood the Indians were coming. So we made a large corral with the two companies. That is we made a circle with our wagons and chained them together, so that our cattle could be safe on the inside. We got all the old guns and cleaned them and sharpened our knives expecting the Indians any minute, but they did not come. During the night we had several parties come and beg to be allowed to stay with us. I remember a small party with two wagons with horse teams who were going to Oregon. They came after night and I heard them say, "For God's sake Mr. Richardson give us shelter for the Indians are after us". We also had a mountaineer that stayed with us and traveled over a week, but we were not molested nor did not see any more of the Indians. But the Indians did attack Fort Laramie and killed a number of the soldiers. Soon after this we got into the Sweet-water country and our cattle began to fail and die. When we came to the Devils Gate, I with two or three others thought that we would travel down through the gorge. We had a rough time but we were paid for it by what we saw. The mountain appeared to have been split open. It is composed of red granite and a stream of water run through it about it, about the size of City creek in the Spring. With large rough boulders laying in the bottom and one side of the gorge looked as if it had been broken from the other. We got through all right and met the teams who had gone around by the road. Before we got to the City our food become scarce and we were met by some teams with flour from the valley which was a great help to us. We arrived in Salt Lake City on the thirteenth day of September and camped on Union Square, where the University building now stands.

I refer Particularly in crossing the plains[.] We was in a company w[h]ere Dr. Darwin Richardson was Captain. if all could have been managed according to his desires. I wish not <to> complain, But aplaud him as Captain of our company while crossing the plains. But this was not the case, for which I felt sorry very heart felt to Bleed, many times in crossing the plains. Because of mean saints, this is and will be long remembered by him who now writes. for I ever feel to sustain good men especially under the above circumstances. while on this Journey on plains my wife gave Birth to a son of 7 months & 2 weeks, an untimely Birth, owing a great deal to distressed circumstances, & there seemed to be no fiew hearts of pity in & immediately around me. in 12 days the childs Mother held a Dead child in her Lap, not knowing it was dead. in 8 days after the Mother died being the 7 Day of Sept. Thursday, 1854[.] the child was born Augt 17 & Died on the 29, 1854. the Mother was Buried on a left hand cut of road, (travelling West) just the East side of the South Pass so called, on the upper side of the road at the Enterance of the Road about 270 miles or so from Salt L City. w[h]ere the child was Buried I cannot recollect. only West of Fort Larimie [Laramie]. some were Between there & indepenance [Independence] Rock. I was my much troubled with sore feet on this Journey, which made the matter more Difficult.

We emigrated under the arangments of the 13 companys arangment so called, & finally crossing the plains it was ok one thing, church trains or <P.E> Emigrating Compy. I arived in Great Salt Lake city Sept 30 – 1854

We emigrated through the Perpetual Emigration Fund from Merthyr Tydfil, South Wales. We arrived at Salt Lake City, September 30, 1854, and camped with the wagon train in Emigration Square. I went with my mother to Bishop Hunter's Office to get food supplies. He was very kind and furnished the necessary provisions. President Young was very thoughtful in providing for the emigrants. Even apple pies, chicken stew and other dainties were furnished by the good saints of Great Salt Lake City. Several wagons loaded with new potatoes and other provisions had been sent out from the valley to meet our train, as it came along by the Sweetwater of Devil's Gate. We had fresh buffalo meat and fish caught in the Platte but it was a rare treat to get the potatoes. There were about a hundred wagons in the train.

Left St. Louis same day on board the Polar Star for Weston, where he arrived early in the morning of the 29th of July. Left Weston and Fort Leavenworth in the afternoon of the 1st of August, in company with Thomas S. Williams, George Halladay [Halliday], and W. S. G. dbey [Godbe], for Great Salt Lake City, where he arrived on the 26th of August, in good health and fine spirits, having performed the entire journey from Liverpool to G. S. L. City in 40 days, and in less than 43 days traveling time. The distance from Fort Leavenworth was made in 252 hours, 25 minutes of traveling time.

Br. Field and company on the 14th inst., were camped about three miles above Laramie.

Elders James Brown, Job Smith, and Darwin Richardson were camped with their companies near Scott's Bluffs, on the 13th inst. Elder Olson, and the Danish Saints, with about 70 wagons, were camped near Chimney Rock on the 12th instant.

Elder Daniel Garn, with a company of about 10 wagons, was camped about 30 miles above Ash Hollow on the 11 inst.

Elder Ira Eldredge and company were camped about 15 miles below the crossing of the South Fork of the Platte, on the 10th inst.

Elders Win. Emery, Durr P. [Dorr Purdy] Curtiss, Robert Campbell, and William Taylor with the rear companies of migration were supposed to be crossing the Big Blue, about 160 miles below Fort Kearney, on the 4th inst.

The companies were generally well, and in fine spirits.

The brethren who have been called upon to furnish aid to their brethren on the route will see by the above, and by the letter published in this number from br. Pratt and others, that much assistance in men, teams, and provisions will be necessary to enable those now far back on the plains to arrive in anything like comfortable season; hence it is expected that they will duly realize their relative position and circumstances, and promptly, and efficiently respond to the call of the First Presidency, thro' the Bishops, to send back sufficient aid to roll all up in a good style and season.

Aside from the counsel and requirements of the First Presidency on this subject, and aside from brotherly kindness, and in addition to the commandment of doing unto others as we would they should do unto us, strict economy and worldly-mindedness indicate the good policy of a speedy and liberal turn out. For we are all one temporally as well as spiritually, literally as well as figuratively, or we are not what we profess to be, and shall not attain to what we desire, and are looking for. And if we are not one, the sooner we begin to act upon those principles calculated to make us one, the sooner we will be prepared for the blessings promised to the faithful.

In addition to the assistance required of you by your bishops, it will be well for those who know they have friends, or relatives on the road to cast in their help according to their ability, for which they will in no wise lose their reward, and confer the additional blessing of making the heart glad, by evincing a kindly sympathy for those who are winding their weary way over a dreary waste to the present home of the saints.

Elders Orson Pratt, Horace S. Eldredge, Frederick Kesler, and George Halladay [Halliday] arrived in good health and spirits on the afternoon of the 27th.--The two last named from a short church business trip to St. Louis; Elder Pratt from his mission to Washington and Presidency over the saints in the States east of the Rocky Mountains, and br. Eldredge from the presidency over the Branch at St. Louis.

Clegg, Ann Lewis, Autobiographical sketch [ca. 1911], 2-3.

When we got off the boat we were taken in vehicles out to the edge of St. Louis to McFee's camp ground, where all the saints were camped, preparatory to going to Utah. Father bought all the camp outfit and provisions to start on our journey but it was six weeks before we started. The families of saints father had brought were all to go to Utah in what they called the ten pound company and then settle with father later. We went in an independent company, or a company that furnished themselves. We had in our outfit to travel across the plains 2 wagons, 12 herd [head] of oxen, 1 yoke of cows and a beautiful riding mare, saddle etc. We had two teamsters. We had all kinds of provisions: bacon, hams, flour, crackers, and everything to eat one would wish. We even had a churn and used to put the milk from the cows in the churn in the morning in the wagon and by night we would have butter. We were clothed comfortable and had plenty of good bedding. I think it was about the first week in July when we started across the great plains. The captain of our company was Captain [Darwin] Richardson. There were 40 wagons, three and four families to a wagon. They had to take turns riding part way and walking part way across the plains. I will say that before we started cholera broke out and several hundred died. It still continued and many died (mostly young men) while on our journey. Our company would start first, early in the morning [morning] and we would travel until towards night, when they would find a suitable camping place, where the cattle would be corraled, by the wagons forming a circle on the outside, and the cattle within. Buffalo chip was the fuel. Campfires built, supper prepared, have prayers, sing and retire.

The heat was very oppressive and we would all get very tired, footsore and weary. We always stopped over Sunday where we would have worship and have a glorious time as we had a number of good musicians in our company, who had brought their musical instruments with them. We saw lots of deer, antelope and buffalo, a few were killed. Also saw a few mountain sheep. The indians were our dread [dread] as there were so many of them and they were all on the warpath and we had to be so careful for fear they would kill us. One day we came upon a large number in Ish [Ash] Hollow, of Sioux Indians, we were very frightened of them. They were on their way to war with another tribe. My father gave them a large barrel of crackers and all the company gave them something and we got past them in peace. I had never seen an indian before. I was frightened of the indians and of the panthers roar at night. The loneliness of the plains nearly drove me wild. Mother and the children were like me and we were wishing every day we could reach our destination that night. There were a great many deaths in our company. We just had to sew the corpse in a sheet or blanket, dig a deep hole and bury them and go on.

Oh, the trials the saints endured no tongue can tell, and no pen can write the suffering. Mother [Priscilla Merriman Lewis] was confined at Ash Hollow. Dr. Richardson waited on her. A baby boy was born to her and he was named John Samuel Lewis. She did fine. My sister Mary [Lewis] had the mountain fever and nearly died. I was well during the whole journey and so were the other children. How we did rejoice after many weeks of travel we arrived on the big mountain and could look down on the Great Salt Lake and the Salt Lake Valley. We sung the songs of Zion in earnest and gave up thanks to God that he had watched over us and we were permitted to behold the land of Zion.

We came through Emmigration Canyon through the valley and on to the public square, where we camped with hundreds of others for a few weeks until we could get located. How little Salt Lake City seemed to us. The square was full of people to welcome us in. Brigham Young was there first and gave us a hearty welcome. Some were expecting their loved ones in the company and I tell you it was a grand reunion, a time of rejoicing together. I was glad our journey was ended, but I was very lonesome for awhile. We had been 3 months on the road and arrived in Salt Lake Sept. 30, 1854, just in time to attend the great October conference of the Saints, where we had a glorious time.

VOYAGE OF THE SHIP WINDERMERE

Condensed from W. W. Burton's Account Note: This is from a copy made on March 23, 1944, from the British Mission records of 1854 by Evelyn A. Sessions

On Wednesday, February 22, 1854, the ship Windermere sailed from Liverpool with 460 passengers. As the vessel started in motion, the songs of Zion, blending in soul-inspiring harmony, thrilled the souls of the passengers and their many friends standing on the shore gazing at the departed vessel, shouting farewell, goodbye with eyes streaming with tears. Doubtless they were recalling that only the night before seven vessels, with all on board, went down in the depths of the channel. As the land disappeared in the distance the sweet singing ceased and many began to feel sick. About 8 p.m. the first day at sea, an old gentleman named Squires died. All that night the wind howled fiercely; the sea was rough; the ship was driven from its course towards the Isle of Man. About 11 p.m. off Holly Head, which is a most dangerous point and the scene of frequent shipwrecks, was passed. On the morning of the 23rd Father Squires, who died the night before, was thrown overboard. The sea was still rough and the wind was blowing. During this day the Windermere sailed by the remains of a wrecked vessel. Masts, sails and other fragments were floating around. Likely, a few hours previous many despairing souls had tenaciously clung to these same objects for relief that never came. All had been consigned to a watery grave for no signs of life remained and the rolling waves swept over the bodies while the wind howled its tribute for the dead. Some were now beginning to recover from sea sickness, but many were still ill, and some confined to their berths. About this time flying fishes were seen which would rise from the water and fly a short distance and drop into the water again.

Life on the Windermere was growing monotonous, for its accommodations were poor for so many passengers, and then it did not sail like the ocean steamers now do when propelled by steam. The Windermere was eight weeks, four nights, and five days sailing from Liverpool to New Orleans, which can now be made in six or seven days. We were on the Atlantic Ocean about seven weeks without seeing land.

On the 12th day of March, from 7 to 8 in the morning, an exceedingly fierce storm arose. The wind roared like one of our mountain winds, the masts cracked and the sails were cut in pieces. The captain of the Windermere expressed fears that the ship could not stand so heavy a sea, and in speaking with Daniel Garn, the president of the Saints on board, said, "I am afraid the ship cannot stand this storm, Mr. Garn, if there be a God, as your people say there is, you had better talk to Him if He will hear you. I have done all that I can for the ship and I am afraid with all that can be done she will go down." Elder Garn went to the Elders, who presided over the nine wards in the ship, and requested them to get all the saints on board and to fast, and call a prayer meeting to be held in each ward at 10 a.m. and pray that they might be delivered from the danger. The waves were lashed with white foam, the storm continued in all its fury, but precisely at 10 a.m. the prayer meeting commenced and such a prayer meeting few have ever seen. The ship rolled from side to side. On one side the Saints were hanging by their hands, and the other they were standing on their heads. Then the ship would roll on the other side which would reverse their positions. About this time the large boxes which were tied with ropes under the berths broke loose with pots, pans and kettles and rolled with terrible force on each side of the vessel. Although the prayers were fervent and earnest, as the pleadings of poor souls brought face to face with danger and death, they ceased their prayers to watch and dodge the untied boxes, and great confusion prevailed for some time. The wind roared like a hurricane. Sail after sail was torn to shreds and lost. The waves were very large and as far as the eye could see, seemed to be one angry mass of rolling white foam. The hatches were fastened down. This awful storm lasted about 18 hours, then abated a little, but it was stormy from the 8th of March until the 18th. Observation taken by the quadrant showed that the ship was in the same latitude as it was on the 8th.

On the 14th of March, which was two days after this terrible storm, smallpox broke out. 40 in all, came down with it. Three days after the breaking out of smallpox, the ship took fire under the cooking galley. At this time we had not seen land for three weeks or more; when the cry of "Fire! The ship is on fire," rang throughout the vessel, and wild excitement and consternation prevailed everywhere. The sailors plied water freely, all the water buckets on board were brought into use and soon the fire was under control. W. W. Burton thought he would get a good place from which to see a funeral with a body thrown overboard; so he got outside the vessel and seated himself on the ledge extending out from the deck, placing each arm around a rope that led to the rigging. His feet were hanging over the ocean and the ship was sailing about at 10 knots. By this time darkness was fast setting in, but here he sat waiting to get a good view when the corpse would be thrown into the watery grave, where some said sharks were constantly following for prey. Brother Burton went to sleep and the funeral passed without his knowledge. The sound of feet walking on the deck aroused him from his slumber. A chill ran through him; his hair almost stood on end when he sensed his condition. Here he had been asleep, his feet were hanging off the side of the vessel which was rocking to and fro. He wondered how he had escaped falling overboard. It was now totally dark. He climbed into the ship and resolved never to expose himself so again. About this time the stench of the smallpox was fearful in every part of the vessel. The funeral services were very impressive; a funeral at sea is the most melancholy and solemn scene perhaps ever witnessed, especially when the sea is calm. A stillness like that of death prevailed with us while an old sailor, at intervals, would imitate the doleful tolling of the bell of some old church, such as heard in some parts of England. Funerals were becoming frequent. About the time the Windermere had been about six weeks out of Liverpool and the passengers had never seen land from the time they had entered the Atlantic. The days were generally mild and the weather very pleasant. The sun set and the bright, pale moon seemed to be straight above our heads. On the 8th day of April we came in sight of the Island of Cuba. On this day, about 10 a.m., a young man named Dee, died of smallpox. At the time of his death the wind had ceased blowing, not a ripple upon the waters. The sea appeared bright and clear, and seemed as smooth as a sea of glass. The young man that had just died was sewed up in a white blanket and at the feet was placed a heavy weight of coal. A plank was then placed with one end resting in the porthole in the side of the ship and other near the main hatchway. The body was then placed on this plank. The doleful tolling of the bell began. Elder McGhee made a brief address suitable for the occasion and offered a short prayer, after which the body and bedding of the young man were thrown overboard. The ship was standing perfectly still and the body could be seen sinking in the water until it appeared no longer than a person's hand. Some thought it was seen sinking for a full 15 minutes, others still longer; some said a half hour. The passengers of the Windermere had passed through a terrible storm, the panic created by the ship taking fire, their number decreased by smallpox, still another fearful calamity threatened them. The fresh water supply was getting short, and the store of provisions was falling. The passengers were limited to one hard, small sea biscuit for a day's rations. The Captain sent some sailors in a small boat to intercept a ship that was passing in the hopes of getting more provisions, but they failed. The Windermere now passed the western points of the Island of Cuba. The passengers had a good view of the lighthouse located on the most western point. The Gulf of Mexico was before them. The Gulf Stream flowed in like a vast river. Just think of this stream 500 miles across, very deep and constantly flowing.

On the morning of the 20th of April the ship entered the mouth of the Mississippi River. The passengers were more glad to look upon the plantations of orange groves that bordered the banks of the river than the great strong surging waves of the Atlantic which they had left behind them. Sometimes the Negroes would call from the shore and bid the emigrants welcome. The Windermere set sail 22nd of February 1854 from Liverpool, England, arrived at New Orleans 23 April, 1954. During the voyage winds were encountered, arising at times to heavy gales. But at the end of five weeks favorable winds set in and the ship made 1,000 miles in four days. Six marriages were solemnized on board, six births and 10 deaths occurred. Millennial Star, Vol. 16, pp. 140, 193, 345, 477 Church Emigration. Vol. 2 p. 185—1868
