Use the Telephone.

Have you enlisted Uncle Sam and the telephone company in your campaign for the automobile? You need them, no matter how efficient your corps of friends and relatives may be; no matter how hard you are working; no matter how fast the votes are rolling in. With their aid it is quite possible for you to win without the aid of any organization, friends or relatives, and what is more vital to many, without taking any time from your daily routine. Uncle Sam and the telephone will enable you to be in scores of different places at the same time; they will make it possible for you to gather an entire crop of votes on distant fields

Closing of Campaign.

Full details as to the closing of the campaign will be announced in due season so that all candidates will thoroughly understand the conditions imposed during the final days of the campaign.

At this time of the campaign, it is hardly necessary for the Campaign Manager to urge candidates to their greatest effort. If you have done well up to this time, it would not be consistent to relax your efforts during the remaining days. Do not allow prizes that are worth thousands of dollars which are now headed your way to get past you without making a strenuous effort to land one.

NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS COUNT YOU MOST VOTES DURING THIS OFFER

The Inducement Made to Candidates for New Subscriptions
Will Close Saturday Night at 10 O'Clock.

THE STANDINGS OF THE CONTESTANTS AS THEY APPEAR IN THIS ISSUE ONLY INCLUDE THOSE VOTES THAT WERE COUNTED IN THIS DEPARTMENT BEFORE 10 A. M. MONDAY.

THE special offer of extra votes made to the contestants in The Herald-Republican Circulation Campaign will close Saturday, August 31, at 10 p. m. All subscriptions that are mailed at the contestant's home post-office before the closing hour of this offer will be included on the bonus vote. Candidates must bear in mind the fact that this is positively the best offer or inducement in the way of votes for new or old subscriptions that will be made during the campaign, so do not hold back your subscriptions with the idea that they will be of more value to you during the last ten days of the campaign than they are at the present time. Send your subscriptions to the Campaign Department as quickly as possible so that your subscribers may receive their paper promptly. We will keep an accurate account of all new subscriptions that are brought or sent to this department before 10 p. m. Saturday. The extra ballot that the various contestants may earn during this period will not be made out until after the close of the offer.

Today every contestant is on the threshold of a new period. There are two remaining weeks of this period which should be "cram full" of opportunity and offering to the contestants the prospect of realizing what may have been a lifelong ambition up to this time. The week which is ushered in today will pass quickly. The following week will see Father Time on his way in such rapid flight that there will be scarcely time to catch your breath before everything is over, before the winners are named, and the proud victors begin taking enjoyment in the fact that they have won a prize from the grand list of awards. Realizing that the remaining time will pass quickly, because of the excitement attached to the close, the Campaign Manager wishes to ask the contestants whether or not one today is not worth two tomorrow. If it is, there is just one simple proceeding for those who desire with all their hearts to win, and that is to start in today on a whirlwind finish in the campaign. The department has urged the candidates to do their best right along, but now we desire to lay stress on the final necessity of looking everything in the face and seeing where it will be necessary to put in extra hard work for two consecutive weeks, so that if you are to be returned a winner, nothing will be left undone on your behalf.

For Miss Rita Porcher and Richard H. Cameron, who were married yesterday morning in the Salt Lake Temple, a large reception was given last evening at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Porcher, 814 Third avenue.

Pink and white roses were used in profusion to adorn the rooms and a bank of palms and ferns formed an effective background for the bridal party in the parlor. The bride was attractive in a dainty white crepe de chine gown and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Ada Spencer, the only bridesmaid, wore a pretty pale pink crepe de chine dress and carried a large bouquet of pink sweet peas. Emmett Cameron attended his brother as best man.

An orchestra composed of violin, cello and piano gave a delightful musical program during the reception hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Porcher were assisted in receiving by Mrs. A. Cameron, mother of the bridegroom; by Mrs. D. A. Affleck and Mrs. G. H. Schettler. Mrs. C. W. Palmer presided at the punch bowl and Miss Elizabeth Cameron and Miss Venetta Spencer assisted in serving in the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron will be at home to their friends after July 15 at 370 H street.

1500 QUEEN BEES RECEIVE AWARDS OF MERIT

Silver Bracelets Are Presented at Meeting in Assembly Hall.

One of the greatest meetings ever held of a society associated with the M. I. A. was that last night when more than two thousand girls gathered in assembly hall for the presentation of awards to members of the Beehive girls who have attained the rank of "Builders in the Hive," according to officers of the improvement association.

Silver bracelets were presented to nearly fifteen hundred girls.

Mrs. Ruth May Fox presided at the meeting last night, giving the opening address. Mrs. May T. Nystrom gave the opening prayer and the girls of the Beehive sang "Womanho Call." Miss Ellen Wallace read the report of cells filled by the Beehive Girls. "Talk-Spirit of the Hive" was the subject of an address by Miss Ann M. Cannon, while Mrs. Emily Adams conducted a discussion on "Builders Purpose" among builders of the hive. President Martha H. Tingey of the M. I. A. gave an address, "My Beehive Girls." Benediction was by Miss Charlotte Stewart.

The stakes represented were the Cottonwood, Ensign, Granite, Jordan, Liberty and South Davis. To win the award of a bracelet the girls had to build forty-five cells—the cells being the unit of various forms of work in the society. Those things that must be performed, each counting for a cell, were sleeping out of doors for two months this summer, doing a kind act every day for a month, exercising a half-hour every day out-doors for two months, standing correctly, set a table tastefully and mend their own clothes for two months. The work is divided into different fields—health, public service, business, out of door exercise, religion and domestic arts. One of the requirements is to go two months without catching cold.

The following girls in the stakes of the city received awards, as well as girls of the stakes in Salt Lake and Davis counties.

SPECIAL SECTION

Veterans' Posts Join Hands for Massive Demonstration

World war veterans of the Ogden area were called to the colors Saturday as Herman Baker post No. 8, American Legion, set up a huge machine to arrange for what promises to be the greatest Armistice day celebration in local history.

Mindful of the trouble overseas, those who served their country over 20 years ago will observe their Nov. 11 observance as a peace demonstration. Carl A. Lindquist, immediate past Legion post commander, is general chairman, with Wesley L. Robbins, post commander, vice chairman. Their assistants are B. M. Richards, and Clifford B. Greenwell, post commanders respectively of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans.

From Other Cities
In addition, all American Legion posts in district No. 2 will cooperate in arrangements and take part in the celebration. Chairman Lindquist reported. The district embraces posts in Morgan, Layton, Farmington, Kaysville, Bountiful and Ogden.

Hundreds of khaki-uniformed men, the motorized artillery units of the Utah national guards, Ogden high school cadets, veterans' organizations and their auxiliaries and military bands will move through the downtown district in a morning parade which Legionnaires promise will be the most impressive military demonstration ever held in Utah. Crack infantry companies from Fort Douglas will lend to the manpower of the review, which will be headed by G. L. Becker, grand marshal.

A new feature of the parade will be a section reserved for men and women who wish to "enlist for peace or be drafted for war." All persons approving this aim are invited to march behind a banner which will bear the slogan.

Tomb Ceremony
Following the parade, a military ritual around a replica of the tomb of the unknown soldier will take place in Tabernacle square. Troops will stand in dress formation and will present arms as a bugler sounds his call. Special guests will be Gold Star mothers and members of the Service Star Legion, military, civic and governmental officials. In charge of this phase of the program will be a committee headed by Judge James A. Howell.

Open house will be observed at the Legion's chateau Armistice eve and all day of the celebration, in charge of a committee headed by Ross C. Glasemann. The day will be opened in traditional style, with a shotgun squad cruising the residential districts to awaken the populace. Dances in all public halls will be the winter feature.

Meeting Monday Night
A meeting will be held Monday at seven forty-five p. m. in the Legion chateau for all Armistice day committees at which all phases of the celebration will be discussed. LEGION WOMEN TO ENTERTAIN YOUTHS

American Legion auxiliary will give a Christmas party from two to four o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Legion chateau for children of legionnaires and all other ex-service men, whether or not they belong to the Legion.

A Christmas tree with Santa Claus and presents, a program, games and dance, are planned by the committee in charge, with Mrs. L. Wesley Robbins, chairman; Mrs. Harold Bramwell, Mrs. George H. Holt, Mrs. L. J. Paine, Mrs. Joseph Soelberg and Mrs. David A. Scott, assisting.

A large Christmas tree held candy, nuts, oranges and gifts for those present and were distributed by Santa Claus in the old Christmas way.

A Christmas program and games added to the holiday festivities and a grand march in which each child carried brightly colored balloons was one of the most popular events of the afternoon. The party finished off with dancing by everyone there. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. L. Wesley Robbins, chairman, Mrs. Harold Bramwell, Mrs. George H. Holt, Mrs. L. J. American Legion

... Commander of Legion

Functions As Welfare and Civic Organization In Community

Herman Baker post No. 6, American Legion, was chartered in 1919 with L. J. Holther as its first commander. Its membership is restricted to ex-service men of the World war.

Its present officers are L. Wesley Robbins, commander and the executive committee composed of Carl A. Lindquist, Parley E. Norseth, David A. Scott, George F. Johnson, L. J. Bass, and Joseph Soelberg, adjutant, with Bryon C. Hill, first vice commander; Arthur H. Berntsen, second vice commander; Joseph S. Day, historian, and Joseph Empey, sergeant-at-arms.

The American Legion functions as a welfare and civic organization. Its major objective is Americanism . . . to combat all un-American activities and through education to promote respect and appreciation for our government. It has worked for hospitalization and compensation for those disabled in the World war. Many fine hospitals have been erected through the Legion's activities which are now crowded to over capacity. The Legion also stands for peace through adequate preparedness. Last year the national organization of the Legion expended $3,000,000 on child welfare work. Large amounts of money and services have been expended in relief and promotion of youth activities.

The local post each year in connection with its auxiliary provides meals, housing and clothes for unfortunates and jobs for many of its local members. It sponsors and supports junior baseball for all boys under seventeen years of age, a Sons of the Legion organization, a junior band and drum corps of one hundred members not restricted to sons and daughters of Legion members under direction of Ray Minter. A senior drum corps has been maintained for fifteen years and has always been available for any community service.

The Herman Baker post has been active in securing the new tuberculosis hospital and has ren-

PIG BECOMES GUEST OF VETS

Legion Post Tries Unusual Way of Bringing In Membership Dues

American Legionnaires of the Ogden post faced the unwelcome prospect today of having Sergeant Oscar move in with them until they remit in full their 1940 dues.

Sergeant Oscar, gentlemen, is a pig.

With him comes post order No. 1, giving feeding and housing instructions. He will remain in custody of any member delinquent in his annual dues until they are paid—then he takes up quarters with the next delinquent member, and so on down the line, if any.

Such is the procedure to be followed in getting Herman Baker post in top spot of a membership campaign being launched in Legion district No. 2. Sergeant Oscar was to start out on his visits late today.

The bovine three-striper will remain with the Ogden post until the post passes the membership quota of some other unit in the district. When the campaign is over, the sergeant becomes the possession — presumably for culinary purposes—of the winning post.

Members of the pig committee are L. Wesley Robbins, post commander; Ross Glasmann, Dave A. Scott, Spencer S. Eccles, and Parley E. Norseth.

The "sergeant" was to make his first call at the First Security bank building, where many legionnaires have offices.

PIONEER DAYS GROUP GROWS

More Directors Chosen;
Another Conference
This Evening

Directors of the Pioneers' Celebration, Inc., composed of representatives of major organizations of the city, will meet in Ben Lomond hotel at seven-thirty tonight to outline further plans for sponsoring the Pioneer days celebration the week of July 24 and to appoint an executive committee.

Heber Scowcroft, president of the board of incorporators, said the number on the executive committee may reach as many as 11 to insure a representative from each of the principal organizations of Weber county.

Additional Directors

At a meeting of the incorporators Tuesday night the following were added to the roster of directors: J. Glenn Blanch, Trace A. Turner, Dexter B. Farr, Fred A. Kuhlmann, E. Hugh Ford, J. W. Shupe, E. G. Van Zweden, Arthur N. Vendell, Milton W. Rawson, W. H. Reeder, Jr. and J. H. Riley. Other members of the board are Mr. Scowcroft, president; W. Lee Skanchy, secretary; H. W. Hayward, C. B. Doty and L. Wesley Robbins, Jr.

President Scowcroft said it is expected the names of several business and industrial men of northern Utah will also be suggested tonight for appointment to the board of directors to broaden the interest in the celebration to surrounding communities. It is planned to build up a directorate of some 100 from all points in the intermountain states.

For Stadium Use

If city commissioners late this week approve the new celebration corporation and permit rental by it of the city stadium for the holding of rodeo shows, it will replace the defunct Ogden Pioneer Days, Inc. as operators of the six-year old celebration. Mr. Scowcroft said plans of his organization are to be presented to commissioners this week, probably Saturday.

Pink snow fell in northern Italy recently.

Auxiliary to Vets Enjoys Bridge Affair

One of the popular social affairs of the week was the Easter bridge tea given by the auxiliary to the American Legion Hermon Baker Post No. 9 at the chateau on Saturday afternoon.

The decorative scheme under direction of Mrs. Arthur Woolley was carried out in pink, yellow and white and was developed with an Easter wedding motif. Life-sized white duck figures dressed as bride and bridegroom, a rabbit attired as a minister and bunnies as bridesmaids formed the centerpiece for the tea table which was also adorned with hyacinths in pastel shades. Dogwood blossoms were placed about the hall.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Henry H. Blood, Mrs. Fred M. Abbott, Mrs. Glen Ballinger and Mrs. Alixia Olsen, of Henefer, Mrs. Eleanor Nelson, Logan, Mrs. Daisy Crouch, Morgan, Mrs. L. Wesley Robbins, Mrs. Mary Alice Collins, Mrs. Russell D. Rockwell, Mrs. Ernest Balch, Mrs. Marvel Reeve, Mrs. L. J. Paine and Mrs. W. R. Montgomery.

WAR RELIEF DRIVE SLATED

Enthusiastic cooperation on the part of representatives of principal organizations of Weber county, who have been called upon to direct a campaign aimed at the collection of $4,000 to aid distressed people of Europe's low countries, was expressed at a general committee Friday night in Ben Lombard hotel, L. Wesley Robbins, general chairman, announced today.

The campaign will start early Monday.

"Our committeemen expressed willingness to give their time to this worthy cause, and we feel confident we will have reached our goal by Tuesday night," Mr. Robbins said. Personnel of the committee and details of the drive will be published in Sunday's edition of The Standard-Examiner.

The drive is being sponsored by the Weber county Red Cross chapter.

REPORTS SPUR VOLUNTEERS IN FUND CAMPAIGN

Weber County Striving To Aid Distressed Ones In Europe

Spurred to action by reports from the European war zone that thousands of innocent people are suffering "horrible affliction," some 150 volunteer workers organized by the Weber county Red Cross chapter, launched a two-day campaign today to raise $4,000 for the relief of distressed sections of Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

For School Children

The men and women, working in pairs, were to follow an itinerary that will reach all major groups of the county. An appeal has been made through school authorities to have each boy and girl bring a dime to school Tuesday. R. L. Olson, publicity chairman of the drive, reported.

L. Wesley Robbins, general chairman, was informed today that many Red Cross chapters in the nation already have reached their quota, and several have collected more than asked. Mobile, Ala., raised $21,000 against its quota of $10,000. Mr. Robbins was advised from Red Cross headquarters in San Francisco.

Wright's Statement

"I am happy to respond, as every citizen of our great nation will be, to what I consider one of the most urgent calls the Red Cross has ever made of us," C. Angus Wright, department store official, said.

"The heart of America bleeds for these peace loving small nations, who have been overcome by a powerful gangster, drunk with greed and utterly without regard to human suffering.

"It has not been our privilege to defend them, and since their defenselessness has left them hungry, athirst and routed from Christian homes, it now becomes our privilege to help them in this manner.

"I appeal to every person in Weber county to give whatever he can toward the relief of our friendly neighbors overseas."

To Hasten Results

All volunteers enlisted in the drive assembled in Ben Lomond hotel this morning for final instructions. Since the time element is important, strong efforts will be made to reach the quota by Tuesday night, and rush the money to American Red Cross officials stationed in the low countries. Mrs. Leah Greenwell, executive secretary, said.

CHAPTER STILL DESIRES FUNDS

Donations to a fund for the relief of civilians in European low countries—most of whom are now finding shelter in France—will continue to be received all this week, L. Wesley Robbins, in charge of the campaign, said today.

"France, in addition to providing for her own people, now faces the heavy burden of feeding and clothing hundreds of thousands of refugees from Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg," Mr. Robbins said.

"The job obviously is too great a burden for France and her allies. Our money is needed, and needed quickly."

The Ogden quota is $4,000. Mr. Robbins estimated about half of this sum was collected last week. Donations may be made to volunteer workers stationed inside entrances of the First Security and Commercial Security banks, or at the Weber county Red Cross office, city hall building.

CAMPAIGN FOR RELIEF FUND TO BE INTENSIFIED

Red Cross Hopes to End Drive In Davis Saturday

Efforts of the American Red Cross to reach Weber county's quota of $4,000 for the war relief fund will be intensified Friday and Saturday of this week, it was stated today by L. Wesley Robbins, chairman of the committee. The two-day campaign will be somewhat in the nature of a cleanup drive. Teams of workers will call upon business houses, industrial concerns and railroads whose employees have not yet had an opportunity to give.

Will Place Booths

Booths will be placed at convenient places along the business stretch of Washington boulevard, in the banks and some of the larger stores. These will be in charge of the Carpe Diem club of Ogden high school.

All proceeds of a roller skating program to be given at the Berthana Monday night at eight o'clock will go to the Red Cross war relief fund. Employees will donate their services so that all of the gross receipts will go to the fund. Mr. Robbins said many of the

CHURCHMEN TO SPEAK SUNDAY

At the Methodist church Sunday morning, Dr. E. Laird Mills will speak. He is editor of the Pacific edition of the Christian Advocate, which is the paper published for the laymen of the church.

At eight o'clock in the evening at the church Dr. Channing A. Richardson, a secretary of the Methodist board of missions, will speak. Dr. Richardson is secretary of the city church department of the mission board.

Both of these men are national leaders of the church. They are in Utah at this time for the annual session of the Utah Methodist churches in Tremonton.

larger industrial firms are making an excellent response.

Asks Help of All

"If everyone will give a little to this fund we can easily attain our quota and thereby give great humanitarian aid to the civilian sufferers—women and children chiefly—of the war-torn countries of Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg", said Mr. Robbins. "We have word from the Red Cross office in San Francisco that hundreds of counties have well over-subscribed their quota, particularly since the appeal of President Roosevelt Sunday night. I am sure Weber county's quota will be reached this week-end."

Milan, Italy will hold an international automobile exposition in the fall.

REFUGEE FUND PARTY PLANNED

Red Cross Tries Roller Skating to Obtain County Quota

A three-hour program of roller skating by professional and local talent will be offered at the Berthana Monday night beginning at eight o'clock as part of the American Red Cross campaign to raise the Weber county quota of $4,000 for the war relief fund, according to L. Wesley Robbins, Jr., chairman of the drive committee. Use of the hall and the services of employees and participants is being donated to the cause, Mr. Robbins said.

The program will include feature dances on skates, trick skating, fancy skating, and comedy on skates. The trick skaters who performed in the Ogden Follies will appear on the program.

Because this is a benefit performance, with gross proceeds going to the fund for relief of refugees in Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg, there will not be the customary free admission to women spectators. Admission, according to the Red Cross officials, will be 25 cents per person, which includes skates for those who desire them.

Meantime, the drive committee headed by Mr. Robbins, is going ahead in a spirited weekend effort to attain the county quota which was not reached in the expected time, Mr. Robbins said.

Legion Auxiliary Elects Officers At Monday Meet

The American Legion auxiliary to the Herman Baker post No. 9 met Monday evening at the American Legion chateau for election of officers. They were as follows: President, Mrs. M. L. Fenstermaker; first vice president, Mrs. David A. Scott; second vice president, Mrs. L. Wesley Robbins; recording secretary, Mrs. Wilford J. Smeding; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Joseph P. Gavin; treasurer, Mrs. Clarence C. McLatchie; historian, Mrs. Florence C. Glines; chaplain, Mrs. John Frew.

An interesting program was given under direction of Mrs. Arthur Woolley.

LEGION SIGNS SPONSORS FOR CAMP SESSIONS

Striving to Send Forty To Jordan Narrows Assemblage

Ogden residents have pledged themselves to send 26 boys to the Boys' State camp to be conducted by the American Legion at Jordan Narrows, and committeemen are campaigning to find enough sponsors to reach the quota of 40, E. R. Buckner, committee chairman, said Saturday.

Herman Baker post No. 9 sent eight boys to the camp last year.

The camp will be held from July 7 to 20, with the boys attending organizing as are political units of the state and carrying out all the civic functions. It costs $15 to sponsor a boy at the camp. The boys must be juniors or seniors in high school.

Committee members working to raise the quota are Ora Bundy, vice chairman, Clifford Huss, Elmer Hodges, Delbert Foulger, Ross C. Glasmann, Fred A. Kuhlmann, Ernest Wangsgard, W. P. Cook, Herbert Woods, J. Quill Nebeker, L. Wesley Robbins and Carl A. Lindquist.

Buckner praised civic clubs and other leaders of the city who have aided in sponsoring the boys.

Pine View Regatta Plan Adopted; Dress Up Idea Supported

Activities of the Pioneer days celebration today had been widened to include a motor boat regatta on Pine View lake on the afternoon of July 24, a state holiday and concluding day for the festival.

Decision to add the regatta was made at a meeting Tuesday night in Ben Lomond hotel of the celebration's executive board, with H. W. Hayward, vice president, presiding.

Club Pledges Aid

Full cooperation in presenting the water spectacle was pledged by members of the Pine View Yacht club. Details are to be worked out by club members. It was estimated that the part of the lake shore controlled by a gate leading to the lake on the dead end of the Huntsville road can accommodate approximately 10,000 spectators. A program of racing and stunts could be arranged that would appeal to thousands of people, the executives were assured.

Other events of that day include a street parade at ten a. m., a rodeo show in city stadium at eight p. m., and a gigantic fireworks display following the rodeo. Efforts are being made to keep the celebration crowd entertained in Weber county all through the day.

The board agreed to construct a log cabin on the southwest corner of Twenty-fifth and Washington to handle sales of advance tickets.

Special Dance Planned

Manager E. J. Fjeldsted announced the American Legion will sponsor a Mardi Gras dance to be held the night of July 19, under chairmanship of L. Wesley Robbins. This is to be held on a downtown street, to be determined by the celebration management and Monte Young and Robert Wahlen, carnival concessionaires.

Kent S. Bramwell, chairman of the "Sweetheart of the Range" committee, reported 20 high schools in the intermountain country have entered senior grade girls in the contest, with prospects this number will have increased by deadline time. The contestants will come from Nevada, Idaho, Utah and Wyoming.

FARLEY TO QUIT DEMOS AUG. 17

CHICAGO, July 19 (UP)—James A. Farley today accepted a four-week third term as chairman of the Democratic national committee, and predicted victory for the Roosevelt-Wallace ticket in November.

Farley said he would retire Aug. 17 and that a five-member subcommittee headed by Edward J. Flynn of New York would appoint his successor after conferring with President Roosevelt and Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

Mr. Roosevelt was reported to desire Sen. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina or Frank C. Walker of New York as Farley's successor, but both men were said to be reluctant to accept the post.

Farley said that Mr. Roosevelt had asked him to remain as chairman for the third term campaign but that he had been unable to accede to the request for financial reasons.

Farley said his personal financial situation made it advisable for him to accept "an attractive offer in business."

He wouldn't say what this offer was, but he wisecracked:

"I can't say now whether I will need a new shortstop"—a reference to the report that he will become head of the New York Yankees.

CONCERT TO BE AT 7:30 TONIGHT

The concert by the Sam Pezzopane accordion band will begin at seven-thirty o'clock tonight and not at eight-thirty as announced in Thursday night's Standard-Examiner. It will be held in City Hall park.

dusty drafts which the opened doors swept into the stadium.

High in the galleries tired employes turned up the hard red seats with a monotonous clacking.

The once neatly arranged seats on the platform were a zigzag. The one in which Senator Carter Glass of Virginia had sat for two evenings was turned over on its side.

A piece of paper was stuck to Jim Farley's chair.

Hundreds of fans bearing a picture of the American flag and the name of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana were scattered all over the place.

A picture of Speaker Bankhead rested upside down in a back row. One of Secretary Wallace peeped out from behind a hot dog sign.

In the main aisle a worker picked up a high French heel, obviously torn from an excited delegate's shoe.

On one of the crumpled pieces of paper, which had been used as a note sometime during the convention, were these words:

"Jim, you're a good soldier."

The colorful, pre-celebration feature will be held on Washington, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, which will be closed to vehicular traffic.

At the same time, the carnival concessions and rides will play on a large vacant lot northwest of Twenty-third and Kiesel.

The celebration will continue Sunday, with a pageant in city stadium, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, featured by nightly rodeo shows, street parades, an aquacade, boating regatta and fireworks display. Magician and clown acts will be presented daily at City Hall park.

The Herman Baker post of the American Legion, sponsors of the Mardi Gras, have arranged a full program of entertainments, L. Wesley Robbins, chairman in charge, promises. A stage will be set up at midblock, where skits, stage acts and other forms of entertainments will be held intermittently during the program. The stage offering is headed by McDonald and Ross of the famous Earl Carroll review.

Bob Calen of Fort Worth, Texas, will announce the events over a public-address system. Calen and Art Acer, also of Texas, will entertain with musical numbers and Calen, a former world's champion trick roper, will give exhibitions with the lasso.

Free dancing will conclude the program. The street is being "slicked up" for the purpose, Mr. Robbins said.

Another major happening of today was the arrival of the 19 senior high school girls from points in Utah, Idaho, Nevada and Wyoming who will compete Saturday for the coveted title of "Sweetheart of the Range." The girls will be greeted by members of the "Sweetheart" committee, assigned quarters in Ben Lomond hotel, and taken to a party in the Ogden canyon home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harris.

At eleven p. m. they will be introduced at the Mardi Gras.

Other celebration events of today were the appearance in City Hall park of Pierce, nationally-known magician, and Sum-Sum, Hollywood clown. The magician will present free entertainment daily during the period in the park, starting at two p. m.

Celebration President Heber Scowcroft announced today Jasbo Fulkerson, well known to Ogdenites as a rodeo clown, has been signed up to work with Holmer and Elmer Holcomb at the four rodeo shows, opening in the city stadium Saturday night, and repeated Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Morning feature of Saturday will be the children's hobby parade, sponsored by the city recreation department. The parade, composed of more than 1000 children with their decorated toys and pets, will move along Washington from Tabernacle square to Carnegie library park, starting at ten a. m. All children are asked to be at the Tabernacle park at nine a. m., where judges will select outstanding entries and award ribbons.

The parade will be in sections of doll buggies, tricycles, wagons, scooters, bicycles, pets, costumes and novelty. The city recreation band will lead the march.

About 30 minutes of floats, prepared at some of the larger recreation centers, will carry out patriotism theme, compare conditions of

ASK ME ANOTHER by Inquiring Reporter

Today's question: What do you think of the idea of the veterans of the World war taking over the training of the home guard?

Ross Glasmann, 1530' Twenty-sixth: "It seems that most of the congressmen and others in public office feel that the World war veterans are the ones to take over the duties. They are better equipped than any other unit not in military services at the present."

L. Wesley Robbins, 2546 Washington: "It's a good idea. We have some very good, high ranking officers and non-commissioned men and with a little brushing up, they'll be ready and willing to work. Besides, the government needs all of its army men now, and our boys are willing to help out."

Elmer Hodges, 2818 Jackson: "The Legion is 100 per cent back of the idea. The boys are anxious to get back in-line. We can do our share right here, without going across the pond."

Charles S. Noble, 1421 Twenty-fourth: "They are about the only ones who have had war experienced and haven't been out long enough to forget it. However, about all they could do would be to teach the boys the rudimentary tactics because methods of warfare have changed so radically."

Glen Gale, 203 West Thirtieth: "I think it would be a good idea. It would make for faster training."

Anonymous: "Yeah, sure, uh-huh—I'm already good at kitchen police. Put me down for guard duty any time."

Utah's soldier boys of World war No. 1 will make a march into the Ogden stronghold Thursday for a three-day "all out" party of fun, speechmaking and public demonstrations.

The occasion will be the twenty-second annual convention of the Utah department, American Legion, and will attract some 2000 post and auxiliary members from every section of the state.

The buddies of the "otherwar" will consider resolutions looking toward greater national security and in other ways give attention to the American problem resulting from the European and Asiatic wars. There will be parades, open house ceremonies and other demonstrations that trademark a Legion convention.

Registration opens at Ben Lomond hotel at nine a. m. At two p. m., the first meeting will get underway at the Legion chateau, followed one hour later by a bridge tea in the Utah Power auditorium, sponsored by the auxiliary, with Mrs. Vennetta Robbins in charge. The public is invited to both attractions.

At Baseball Park

First downtown event will be the fun parade, sponsored by the Forty and Eight unit, Thursday at seven p. m., through the business district, and proceeding to Affleck park baseball field. Here stunts, a fat man's race, "bull fights", and a three-inning baseball game between Ogden and Brigham City post teams will be held as a prelude to the regular league game between Ogden and Pocatello.

Comic floats from various sections of the state, a clown band and other entries are features of the parade, in charge of Milton Boyle and Russell Rockwell.

Open house ceremonies at the chateau will be observed throughout the convention, in charge of a committee headed by Jamea Kallas.

Remembrance Rites

An important message to Legionnaires and the public will be delivered at memorial service Friday at eleven a. m., in the Orpheum theatre by H. Elwyn Davis, national Legion vice commander.

The program will be as follows: March, "Inversairgill," (Lithgow) Morgan high school band; advancement of colors and prayer by post chaplain; selection, "World War Medley" (Lake), Morgan high school band; speaker, Legion national officer; vocal solo, "The Phantom Legion," (Stephen) George Manning.

Arrange Programs

In charge of local arrangements for the two conventions are R. C. Glasmann, general chairman, and L. Wesley Robbins, commander of the Ogden post, vice chairman, for the legion convention, and Mrs. Ora Bundy, chairman of the auxiliary convention.

Among the practical features of Thursday's program will be the conference and school for all incoming officers of posts, districts and the state department at 3:15 p. m., Mr. Horsley said.

Lawrence S. Bell of Morgan will preside at a session of commanders, vice commanders, sergeants-at-arms and historians. A separate session for adjutants, service officers and child welfare chairmen will be conducted by Amos Odd of Kaysville. June Valiant of Denver, Colo., legion field officer, is expected to be present to address one of these groups. These sessions are planned for the outlining of general duties of officers and instruction.

Of Political Importance

The two conventions are expected to be of special political significance to Utah, although the by-laws of the legion prohibit bringing political issues into official sessions and discourage candidates for public office from holding positions in the legion organization, Mr. Horsley indicated.

However, six candidates for the Republican and Democratic gubernatorial nominations are legion members, and all are expected to be present. The six are Ora Bundy and Ira A. Huggins of Ogden, Herbert B. Maw and Henry D. Moyle of Salt Lake City, Democrats, and O. A. Wiesley of Salt Lake City and Mayor J. Bracken Lee of Price, Republicans.

Among features of the convention which will be open for public participation will be a memorial service Friday at 11 a. m. in the Orpheum theater, featuring an address by H. Elwyn Davis of Pueblo, Colo., national legion vice commander. Morgan high school band will present special music for the occasion. A special pageant-drama, "Peace at Any Cost," written and directed by Daisy Crouch of Morgan, will be presented on the theater stage.

Legion Group Entertained During Week

Patriotism was stirred anew in the hearts of nearly 600 Legionnaires and auxiliary members, as they met in session at Ogden for the twenty-second annual convention of the American Legion, department of Utah, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week. It was a happy, but slightly fatigued group of members who departed for their various homes after the last bit of business and fun had been completed Saturday night.

Important on Thursday's program for the entertainment of the auxiliary members was the card party held at the Utah Power & Light auditorium.

Highlighting the entertainment for the femme members on Friday was the Gold Star mother's tea, given at the home of Mrs. Ronald Wadsworth, 2780 Madison between the hours of four and six p. m. An Italian cut-work cloth covered the table which was centered with salmon-colored gladioli combined with small blue bachelor buttons. Those who assisted in the entertainment of the guests were the past presidents of the organization. About 250 called.

A very interesting item on the day's program was the memorial held at the Orpheum theatre at eleven o'clock. H. Elwyn Davis, national Legion vice commander, of Pueblo, Colo., was the main speaker. Musical selections were given by the Morgan high school band, George Manning, and Don Woodyatt. A pageant play, "Peace At Any Cost," written and directed by Daisy Crouch of Morgan, was presented.

In the evening the annual banquet of the American Legion auxiliary, department of Utah, was given at Hotel Ben Lomond. The red, white and blue color scheme was carried out in the decorative idea, and covers were laid for about 300 guests. In charge of the event were Mrs. L. Wesley Robbins and Mrs. David Scott. The following program was presented: A musical trio composed of Mrs. Russell B. Petty, Mrs. Jesse Hestmark and Mrs. R. L. Draper; vocal selections George Manning, Don Woodyatt and Don Bjorkland; introduction of speakers, L. Wesley Robbins, toastmaster, Arthur Woolley; greetings, Mayor Fred M. Abbott, talks, department commander, Glen Ballinger and department president, Mrs. L. E. Nelson, Ora Bundy and Vice-Commander Davis.

All the past department commanders of the Legion and department presidents of the auxiliaries were named by Mr. Woolley and those present responded.

General chairman of the auxiliary events was Mrs. Ora Bundy, who was assisted by Mrs. R. L. Harlin, Mrs. Harold Bramwell and Mrs. Joseph P. Gavin on the general arrangement committee.

Other committee members were:

Mrs. Wilford Smeding, reservations; Mrs. Arthur Woolley, memorial; Mrs. L. J. Paine and Mrs. J. A. Howell, past presidents' breakfast; Mrs. David Scott and Mrs. L. "The boys"—those who will register for the draft next Wednesday—will pass in their first review before Ogden citizens the same day in a five p. m. parade.

It will be the first military parade for many of them, but far from the last for some—those who are selected for one year's training in the United States army.

The procession will be one of several celebrations in this county on Wednesday honoring the estimated 8500 men 21 to 35 years of age, inclusive, who will sign up for conscription.

The parade will consist of four sections, the national guard, R. O. T. C., veterans' organizations, and the honored guests, the draft registrants, said Robbins.

Brigadier General A. E. Wilfong of Ogden, of the Utah national guard, will be in charge of the first section, which will include a full turnout of all local national guard units with their trucks, cannons and other equipment, and the national guard band, said Robbins.

Lieutenant Colonel John H. Gibson, military instructor at Ogden high school, will be in charge of the second section, which will consist of the draft registrants.

Tribune Intermountain Wire

OGDEN, Oct. 15—Details for registration of Weber county's estimated 8500 men of draft age under the new national conscription act were completed Tuesday as Lawrence M. Malan, Weber county clerk, distributed to chief registration clerks supplies for Wednesday's program.

At the same time the Herman Baker post No. 9 of the American Legion in Ogden has completed plans for the big parade of military units, civic and governmental leaders and hundreds of the young men who will have completed their registration during the day at the county registration offices.

308 Aids Named

There have been 308 registrars selected to aid in the registration of the men in Weber county of the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive, Mr. Malan said, with most of the registration places being either in schools or L. D. S. ward recreation halls.

A chief registrar has been appointed to assume responsibility in each of these registration places, and all questions on procedure by those appearing for registration may be referred to these persons.

Mr. Malan particularly stressed the importance of all men registering coming to their respective places early in order to avoid congestion in the late afternoon or early evening. The registration places will be open from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m.

The parade, sponsored by Ogden city and the Herman Baker post of the American Legion, will begin at 5 p. m. Wednesday at the intersection of Washington boulevard and Twenty-eighth street, and will march north to Twenty-first street.

TRIO FINED IN ASSAULT CASE

Convicted in police court today of assault and battery charges, three men were each sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or serve 30 days in jail. A fourth arrested participant of the fight was turned over to juvenile court.

Defendants were Dick Norder, 40, of 1122 Fifth; Jack Hensel, 18, of 1028 Fifth; and Warren Foster, 25, of 1104 Fifth. They were charged with striking David E. Lienhardt, 19, of 1204 Third, in the face with their fists on Nov. 20.

Had It Coming
Mr. Lienhardt testified the men and they entered his home without knocking, pulled him off his bed, and beat him in the face.

Each of the defendants testified Lienhardt had it coming and they had considered it time to "give him a poke."

"I held a grudge against him and figured I owed him a punch in the nose," Norder testified.

Lienhardt, the three testified, had threatened his wife over a court action, and they had gone to the house to prevent Lienhardt from hurting her. It was understood a divorce action was pending at the time.

Minister Gang
Deputy City Attorney Samuel H. Barker, describing the case as "ministers going wild," asked the court for the maximum penalty. "If a man gets into his own home and things have come to a pretty bad state," the attorney said.

Webster Chapter Requested To Expand Its Activities

Red Cross Unit Would Help In Industry Preparedness

Weber county Red Cross chapter today had before it a request to increase greatly its 1941 activities to meet national defense needs created by establishment of important army centers near Ogden, following expansion of a significant expansion program by Allen E. Kohl of Salt Lake City, Utah, at the chapter's annual directors' meeting Wednesday night in Dick's cafe.

Community chest leaders, faced with the task of providing for increased demands, largely because of increased military developments in this locality, began today to analyze all gifts made last year to "point out to donors their proper share of the responsibility."

Contributions were being studied from three viewpoints: What business concerns should give, what their executives and their employees should give.

J. Edwin Nelson, campaign chairman, said the study already had "shown many weaknesses in past gifts." In many cases, he explained, the donations were top heavy in one classification or another. In only a few instances were all three sources contributing proportionately and to the extent of their ability, he added.

Proper Presentation

"It is not sufficient," Nelson told workers today, "if a firm gives a sizeable amount and someone fails to present the needs properly to the employees, and they fall short, or if the executives do not give as they should. All three classes must help if Ogden is to provide adequately for its charity needs."

"We are hoping our analysis will show graphically how gifts should and can be increased."

"Added needs for relief have increased the chest budget this year from $36,200 to $38,952, with nothing additional for character-building organizations. A few business leaders have already agreed to raise their donations to help meet the broader problem. The big task before the army of volunteer workers is to convince other givers of the greater need."

Gammell Heads Division

Reed Gammell, president of the Ogden Exchange club, was appointed chairman of the men's sales army. Working with him will be E. J. Fjeldsted, Ogden chamber secretary, as associate chairman.

"Gammell is past president of the Ogden as well as the Utah State Life Underwriters' associations and is active in American Legion work," said General Chairman Nelson.

Forty-five volunteers will be mobilized into four teams of workers to contact 700 prospects. The men's division will conduct its work in the downtown area.

The four team captains, as announced today by Reed Gammell, are George W. Eisenberg, Alton W. Parker, William C. Hinds and L. Wesley Robbins.

EARLY MORNING PARKERS FINED

Eleven drivers each forfeited $1 bail in city court today for parking their machines in the downtown restricted parking area between the hours of two and six a. m.

Traffic Sergeant Darrel E. Shaw said the arrest of such violators will be continued. "Presence of vehicles during these hours interferes with city crews who clean streets and flush gutters each morning," the sergeant said.

Only contest in today's cases came when Alma Butler, 26, of 480 Thirty-sixth, contended he was unable to move his car because of a dead battery. His case was dismissed.

Those forfeiting bail were L. K. Wong Chang, 35, of Twin Falls, Idaho; Fidel Willegas, 27, of 203 Twenty-fifth; Clifford Weaver, 26, of 2350 E avenue; James Morris, 38, of Roy; Earl Nelson, 30, of Buhl, Idaho; H. D. Hanson, 30, of Logan; Lee Beck, 36, of 3292 Lincoln; E. Wagaard, 26, of Milner hotel.

Baker of San Francisco, assistant manager of the Pacific branch.

L. Wesley Robbins, vice president of the chapter, presided in the absence of E. G. Bennett, president, who was in California.

Mr. Baker, the principal speaker, likened the Red Cross to "the mother of the world," stating that one arm operated on a scientific, practical basis for extending aid in needy cases, while the other arm extended sympathy and kindness.

Foand Fully Equipped

He gave a vivid picture of Red Cross in action when disaster strikes and stated he felt Ogden was fully equipped to meet the issue if ever necessary. He pointed out that Ogden is not only susceptible to the usual hazards, such as floods, fires, pestilences, earthquakes, tornadoes and others, but two added ones — sabotage and bombing.

"It is imperative we Red Cross workers be ready to handle such disasters without chaos," he said. "No committee must wait for the other, but at the moment we are stricken, every committee should be ready to function in perfect harmony—each head taking responsibility for his part of the work."

He brought out the point clearly

MISSIONER FUND APPEAL SOUNDED

Major Heggum Explains Activities of Army Across Seas

Under auspices of a reorganized advisory board, Major I. H. Heggum, local Salvation Army commander, has intensified efforts to raise $200 for "Army" missionary funds.

"Long before war and famine gripped the world, the Salvation Army was mobilized and ready for anything," Major Heggum said. "In 100 countries we are caring for destitute people and refugee families by the thousands."

This is not a new venture of the organization, the officer said, but is as old as the Salvation Army itself.

"Present world conditions are focusing more attention on our missionary program today," he said.

Various Projects

Tracing the course of the Salvation Army's relief project, he mentioned maternity homes in cities under shellfire; Red Shield huts for enlisted men; mobile canteens serving both soldiers and civilians; orphanages; day schools; farm colonies.

"We are turning thousands of Chinese refugees back to their homes now after caring for them for months," Major Heggum continued. "With each of them, as a parting gift, goes a bag of grain."

"Nowhere is money more carefully expended than in China. Because the needs are so crushing, the resources so limited, we must use care. In one province we spent $70,000 for famine relief and barely scratched the surface. The big job in China remains yet to be accomplished."

"American funds largely support this work because this nation seems to be one of the last sanctuaries of humanity."

Quota Set

Major Heggum said the Salvation Army is acutely in need of local support. The Ogden quota is $200.

"A family of average size, going without dessert or meat during the Lenten season and contributing the saving to the missionary fund of the Salvation Army could buy scores of steaming bowls of rice for hungry Chinese children, or hospitalization for a suffering mother in India, or a safe haven for European refugee families," Major Heggum stated.

At the reorganization of the local advisory board, during a meeting in Ben Lomond hotel, Fred A. Kuhlmann became chairman of the board, succeeding David J. Wilson. Mr. Kuhlmann previously was secretary.

H. E. Henningway was named treasurer and L. Wesley Robbins is the new secretary.

Farewell Tendered

The meeting was in the form of a farewell party for P. M. Thompson, member of the board for 10 years, who resigned because he is leaving the city. E. C. Outman will take Mr. Thompson's place on the board.

Speeches honoring Mr. Thompson were made by Mr. Wilson, Mr. Kuhlmann and Major Heggum.

Mr. Kuhlmann reported completion during the past year of the Army's building project and outlined work done by the local group since the building was erected.

Seventeen members comprise the advisory board.

PLANS FORMED FOR EMERGENCY

Red Cross Unit Makes Ready for Possible Action

The disaster committee of Weber county chapter, American Red Cross, met Monday at Dick's cafe to discuss plans for mobilization of resources in the county if disaster should strike.

The meeting was chairmanned by the committee head, A. T. Barrett, and second in charge, Claude E. Armstrong, and was attended by L. Wesley Robbins, vice chairman of the county chapter, and Leah P. Greenwell, executive secretary, from the Red Cross organization.

Making reports on the progress of their work were Leonard G. Diehl and Harmon B. Barton of the committee on transportation and communication; Lynn B. Cornish of the committee on clothing; Leland Shreeve and Ella O'Neill Ballantyne of the committee on registration and information; E. R. Buckner on shelter.

Chairmen who were not present to report are C. J. Olsen, survey; L. H. Griffin, rescue; C. H. B. Seybert, food, and Dr. R. L. Draper, medicine.

Explanation Made

The various activities were explained by their directors to the others, so that each one would know the method of operation in case of necessity.

A "fire drill" will be held in about three weeks, Mr. Barrett announced, and each chairman is to report and show how his committee will work.

When disaster strikes, the survey committee gets to work at once to determine the amount of damage; the transportation and communication committee organizes trucks, boats, planes and other mobile equipment, commandeers telephone lines and radio equipment and organizes its messenger service. Rescue, medical, shelter, food and clothing chairmen report to await the results of the survey and make ready to care for all needing their services.

Two Hours Allowed

Two hours is supposed to enable each committee to get into full swing of the activity. Heads or vice-heads of each committee are to report to the central office, probably to be set up in the city-county building, every hour. Information will be released to the public every two hours while the emergency lasts.

All committees are to be completely organized and ready to function by the time the "fire drill" is called, Mr. Barrett said. Workers on each committee are voluntary.

Mrs. Harry H. Simmons entertained at a double foursome Wednesday afternoon at her home. Attending were Mrs. Clair Rasmussen, Mrs. William Engstrom, Mrs. L. Wesley Robbins, Mrs. M. J. Seidner, Mrs. Lee D. Reynolds, and Mrs. Eugene E. Carr.

HEADQUARTERS SELECTED FOR FUND CAMPAIGN

United Service Effort To Be Directed From City-
County Building

City commissioners today designated a portion of the main floor of the Ogden-Weber building as the headquarters of the local committee of the United Service Organizations for National Defense, Inc., which is pledged to raise $7,500 as the Ogden city and Weber county share of a national fund to be used in providing recreational facilities for men in military training camps.

Another Session

Procedure for raising the money is under study. E. R. Buckner, local chairman, has called members of his committee to another meeting this evening at seven-thirty o'clock in the chamber of commerce office.

It is the desire of those in charge to complete the fund-raising drive before July 4, on the theory many people will be "broke" after the national holiday.

Mr. Buckner said indications are that everybody will contribute to the fund because of the "absolute worthiness of the cause."

Termed Privilege

"Our city and county, in common with others in the nation, are sending young men every week to national defense training centers, and it is the duty—and privilege—of those back home to provide them with recreational centers," Mr. Buckner said. "I'm sure none of us wants our boys roaming the streets because they haven't anything else to do."

Included on the executive committee are Ross C. Glasmann, vice chairman; L. Wesley Robbins, treasurer, and Helen Corry, secretary.

NURSES URGED TO ANSWER CALL FOR U. S. DUTY

Shortage Is Claimed the Weakest Link In Defense

The recent disaster drill in Ogden conducted by the local Red Cross chapter is said to have revealed that mobilization of nurses for emergencies is the weakest link in the county's preparedness chain. "Although the Red Cross operates training classes in Ogden for practical nursing and the Thomas D. Dee Memorial hospital has a large graduating class of trained nurses every year, it seems that more are needed immediately," said L. Wesley Robbins, vice chairman of Weber county chapter, American Red Cross.

Ogden is not alone in its dearth of women able to assist in giving aid to the sick and injured. The Red Cross, which supplies nurses for the army nurse corps, is casting around for more and more "angels of mercy," he said.

More than 10,000 of America's nurses will be serving with the army or navy within the next year, Miss Mary Beard, national director of the Red Cross nursing service, has predicted. The authorized total of the army nurse corps alone for the 1942 fiscal year is 8,237, she pointed out.

Miss Beard requests all qualified registered nurses to enroll immediately in the Red Cross first reserve of nurses. This reserve, which furnishes the army and navy nurse corps with competent personnel and is the source for nurses needed in Red Cross disaster relief work, now totals 24,000 nurses, but that is not enough, the service states.

"As a result of the national defense program," Miss Beard said, "there is an acute need for more women and girls to take up nursing as a career. To help meet this need the American Red Cross this summer is sponsoring the Red Cross nurses' training camp at Bryn Mawr college, where 200 women college graduates will be trained in a shorter time than the usual 36 months.

"I cannot urge too strongly that all young women give immediate and careful thought to the possibility of entering nursing schools this year. Various steps are being taken to increase the student body capacity of these schools."

In Ogden, the Thomas D. Dee Memorial hospital and Weber college collaborate on the training of nurses. Courses in home hygiene and care of the sick are offered under Red Cross sponsorship to make practical nursing a more general accomplishment. First aid courses, too, are offered at many places in the city.

Girls and women who wish to take advantage of one or more of these training programs may obtain complete details as to classes at the Red Cross office on the ground floor of the City-County building and at the office of the supervisor of nurses at the Dee hospital.

GROUP DEBATES POLICE METHODS FOR EMERGENCY

Survey Needed, Officials
Say, to Determine
Danger Points

How Ogden could be properly policed in case of emergency or sabotage was outlined Thursday evening at a special meeting of state, county and civic groups in the office of Mayor Abbott.

Present at the discussion were Gus P. Backman of Salt Lake City, state coordinator of civilian defense; Grover A. Giles, state attorney general and chairman of civilian defense for the state; R. Whitney Groo, superintendent of state patrolmen and executive officer of civilian defense; A. T. Barrett, chairman of the Red Cross disaster committee of Weber county; E. G. Bennett, chairman of Weber county Red Cross chapter; C. H. Taylor, chief of police; Ora Bundy, Lee D. Turner and L. Wesley Robbins of American Legion alert committee, Herman Baker post No. 9.

Survey Needed

Immediate need of a survey to determine points of danger and available police protection in case of emergency was uncovered in the discussion. Ogden and Weber county, already organized far more than any other locality in the state through its Red Cross disaster committee, were praised by Mr. Backman for their foresight in preparing the setup.

Ogden representatives at the meeting, which was called by the mayor, official local coordinator of civilian defense activities, expressed themselves as favoring a new state guard under new laws. Considerable opposition was raised by state officials, however, and no recommendations were forthcoming.

Others participating in the discussion were Leonard G. Diehl, chairman of the Red Cross disaster committee's transportation and communication section; A. L. Fish of Salt Lake City; C. I. Canfield of Roy, Police Captain Dewey F. Hawkins and C. E. Armstrong of Ogden.

ADVISORY UNIT OF NYA SELECTS OFFICIAL STAFF

Program Not for Relief,
But for Defense, Says
State Official

Officers of the Weber county and vicinity advisory committee of the NYA were elected at the first meeting of the group Thursday evening in the office of the district NYA supervisor, 440, Twenty-fourth. The officers are as follows: Dr. Robert A. Clarke, director of vocational education at Weber college, chairman; Mrs. Marie D. Peterson, vice chairman; Don C. Sparks, NYA district supervisor, secretary.

Dr. Irvin Hull, state director of the student work program, suggested committee members familiarize themselves with NYA activities in Weber county and vicinity and explained that the NYA program is not a relief effort, but a definite part of the defense program. He also explained in school and out of school work projects.

A discussion which followed brought out the value of the organization, which aids deserving youth to complete a formal education. Dr. Hull stated a council of state administrators, composed of directors of NYA vocational training in the state employment service, will conduct a survey to show the number of youths and adults employed or seeking employment on defense projects and to give the youths an insight as to opportunities offered.

In attendance at the meeting were Dr. Clarke, C. J. Olsen, L. Wesley Robbins, Marie D. Peterson, Wayne Christensen, Dr. Hull and Arthur J. Sperry, NYA area director, representatives of business and civic organizations, youth, industry and education.

Red Cross Leaders Slate Roll Call Nov. 11 to 30

Workers Outside S. L. Will Attempt To Reach Goal of $75,000; Defense Plans Hike State Quotas

With a goal of $75,000 for all of Utah except Salt Lake City, American Red Cross chapters throughout the state are preparing for their annual roll call November 11 to 30, according to Allen E. Kolb, state representative for the mercy agency.

Mr. Kolb reported the amount sought for a vastly enlarged program under the national defense program this year represents an increase of about two and a half times that sought last year.

Red Cross membership in Utah last year was 28,562. He pointed out the Red Cross has set up a $6,000,000 national budget for this year for dispensation among a variety of new activities under the defense program, whereas the budget for all activities last year was only about $4,000,000.

Roll call chairmen of each chapter in the state hope to enroll at least one adult in each family, pointing out that through such a contribution each wage earner can take a personal and direct part in strengthening of the national defenses.

This year the Red Cross contemplates furnishing nurses, social workers, first aid and swimming instructors, recreational advisors and recreational facilities, classrooms for enlisted men and a host of other similar activities in conjunction with the defense program, according to Mr. Kolb.

Mr. Kolb explained that the Salt Lake county chapter will not participate in the roll call at this time, inasmuch as it is now operating under a grant from the Salt Lake Community Chest and its expenses are allowed for until January. The chapter will conduct its own drive for funds the first of next year, having already withdrawn from the Community Chest, he said.

Roll call chairmen for the various Red Cross chapters in Utah were announced as follows by Mr. Kolb:

Mrs. Merlin Patterson of Beaver, Beaver county chapter; R. L. Fishburn of Brigham City, Box Elder county; Mrs. Allie F. Burgoyne of Logan, Cache county; Earl F. Hills of Price, Carbon county; Mrs. C. C. Jones of Manila, Daggett county; Oscar Yarbrough of Bountiful, Davis county; Max Bishop of Fillmore, east Millard county; Mrs. Audrey Sandberg of Huntington, Emery county; Mrs. Rita Alexander of Panguitch, Garfield county; Mrs.

Virginia Johnson of Moab, Grand county; Mrs. Lloyd Baker of Greenriver, Greenriver chapter. Moody of Milford, Milford county; Albert Williams of Morgan, Morgan county; Mrs. Charles Foote of Nephi, Nephi chapter; Mrs. D. G. Burgess of Salina, north Sevier county; John Oscarson of Marysville, Piute county; Mrs. A. W. Larson of Randolph, Rich county; Mrs. Cleone Cooper of Monticello, San Juan county; Mrs. H. G. Brown of Manti, Sanpete county; Mrs. H. W. Keate of Richfield, south Sevier county chapter.

Crockett of Provo, Utah county; Mrs. Emma Wherritt of Heber, Wasatch county; Mrs. Lee C. Owens of St. George, Washington county; Mrs. Lucretia DeBerry of Loa, Wayne county; L. Wesley Robbins of Ogden, Weber county, and Mrs. Deona Black of Delta, west Millard county chapter.

According to Allen E. Kolb, state representative of the Red Cross, 28,502 adults were enrolled in Utah, outside of Salt Lake last year.

Under this year's plan of activities, the Red Cross will provide nursing service, social workers, first aid and swimming classes, recreational advisers and facilities for enlisted men in addition to its regular program.

Several Counties Intend To Send Envoys to Red Cross Conference

Plans for the national Red Cross roll call will be outlined for Weber, Cache, Box Elder, Morgan, Rich, Davis and Tooele counties next Monday, Nov. 3, at ten a. m., when the chapter, roll call and publicity chairmen of the chapters from those counties meet in Utah Power auditorium, Ogden.

E. G. Bennett, chairman of Weber county chapter; L. Wesley Robbins, roll call chairman, and W. F. Smiley, publicity chairman, will represent Weber county at the planning convention.

A standard first aid class organized by Weber county chapter is holding meetings in room 204 of Lewis school with Carl Taylor as instructor. The course is open to adults, without cost.

The number of students who can take the course is unlimited. Should more applicants seek the training than Mr. Taylor can prepare, additional instructors will be provided.

"In these troubled times it becomes necessary for the American people to prepare themselves in every possible way to meet any emergency that might arise," said Mrs. G. T. Greenwell, Weber county executive secretary. "We are anxious to have as many men and women trained in first aid as we can get. What they learn in these classes today may be what saves their lives or the lives of their loved ones tomorrow."

The class meets at seven p. m. every Thursday.

Ogden Rotary club is guaranteeing expenses for the orchestra members in order to have them present at a two-fifteen o'clock matinee at Ogden high school auditorium, one of its young people's concerts. In addition to the matinee, the orchestra will present an evening program at eight-fifteen o'clock in the high school auditorium for the public.

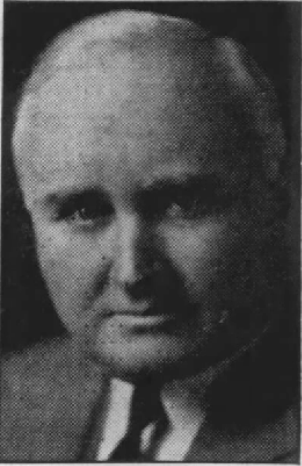

The matinee program will include such popular numbers for young people as Tchaikowsky's Nutcracker Suite, Wagner's Ride of the Valkyries and Mozart's Minuet, Symphony G Minor.

OGDEN RELIEF NEED GROWING, AVERS HEGGUM

Salvation Army Leader Tells of Increasing Burden

The relief situation is more serious in Ogden now than it was a year ago, Major I. H. Heggum, commanding officer of the Salvation army post, reported to his advisory board at a meeting held in the Hotel Ben Lomond.

"Ogden is advertised all over the nation as a place where people may find work, and as a result they come here in great numbers," Major Heggum said. "A certain percentage of them are bound to need help until they can find employment and get their first pay check, or else decide to move on."

Major Heggum said this has been the experience of all cities where large government programs have been instituted. The shift of population to such areas brings increased welfare and relief problems.

Figures Compiled

"The public notion that there is work for everyone and should be no need for assistance is wrong," Major Heggum said. "We expect the situation to grow even worse next year."

To support his contention, he cited figures which show that during the 11 months from Jan. 1 to Nov. 30 of this year the Salvation Army here furnished 7,117 beds, compared to 5,067 furnished during the full 12 months of 1940.

Other figures presented show that 15,978 meals were served during the 11 months of this year, and 6,909 single men assisted. Food, shelter, or grocery orders were furnished 82 families.

Employment was found for 188 men, and 1,285 days of work in the Salvation Army establishment were given men and 188 days of work were given women.

Attendance List

Present at the meeting were Fred A. Kuhlmann, chairman of the advisory board, H. E. Hemingway, treasurer, L. Wesley Robbins, secretary, the Rev. John Edward Carver, Frank Johnson, J. W. Arrington, V. P. Campbell, Louis H. Griffin and Major Heggum.

They're Lining Up Forces for Fund Campaign

PREPARATIONS . . . Willard L. Eccles (left), president of Ogden community chest; E. G. Bennett, general chairman, and Fred A. Kuhlmann, associate chairman of the Red Cross-community chest united fund campaign, study plans for organization of the campaign, which is getting under way this week.

Manpower Mobilized for City and County Effort

Red Cross-Chest Drive Arrangements Getting Under Way

Inspired by their slogan, "Remember Pearl Harbor," officials and group chairmen of the Ogden city-Weber county Red Cross-community chest fund raising campaign have launched with enthusiasm the opening phases of their work.

Under leadership of E. G. Bennett, general chairman of the joint campaign; Fred A. Kuhlmann, associate chairman, and Willard L. Eccles, chest president, the work of mobilizing the necessary manpower for raising the city-county funds is well under way.

Already Started
Dates for the major effort have been set as of January 12 to 24, and intensive city-wide solicitation by all units will get under way during the week beginning January 15. Mr. Bennett announced. Work in the special gifts solicitation division is already being carried on under personal direction of Mr. Bennett, who will devote his time and energies particularly to this phase.

Mr. Kuhlmann indicated Ogden is one of the few American cities to unite the Red Cross war relief campaign with that of the regular community chest appeal. "By doing this, much time and effort will be saved by our volunteer workers, and the public will be saved the necessity of multiple solicitation," he said.

Will Study Requests
The Red Cross war relief portion of our campaign will be in connection with the nation-wide appeal for $50,000,000. A major portion of the local campaign fund realized will be for the Red Cross relief, the Weber county chapter of that organization being an agency of the Ogden community chest. While no figures are available as yet, it is assumed the Red Cross will receive approximately one-half of the funds raised during this united campaign. Budget requests of the chest agencies are now in the hands of the organization's budget committee and its recommendations must be passed upon by the chest's board of directors before the total campaign quota can be set.

"The organization structure for this campaign will be the same as that used in the local chest campaign last year, and the so-called unit account plan will be followed. There will be 358 organized units consisting of business concerns and public employe units. Allowing for one solicitor in each unit, there should be 630 volunteer workers in the city proper.

New Divisions
Three divisions are being added for this united campaign. A special Weber county division will carry the Red Cross appeal to every home in the county. L. Wesley Robbins has been named chairman and is organizing the county by appointing a chairman in each of the 14 wards outside Ogden city. A military division will contact all individuals connected with defense and military operations in and near Ogden to afford them an opportunity to contribute. George I. Elderberg has been named chairman.

The special gifts divisions, the other new one, will contact corporations and executives in this city. This and the other two divisions will carry on their part of the campaign immediately.

recreational supervision; $8000 for new park stier; $2000 for Snow Basin improvements; $5000 for Al-Buck park improvements. (A residue of $23,000 for construction of the Snow Basin aid lift will be carried into the new budget as a starting surplus.)

Health department—$14,478 for all purposes, compared with the $27,536.96 spent this year, and including $25,000 for a "new garbage collection and disposal system," and $2280 for salary increases.

Library—$31,000 for all purposes, and including $9000 for construction of a branch building at Sixth and Washington. This includes a starting surplus of $3000, which had been earmarked for the building during 1941.

Probable Income
The following sources of revenue for 1942 were listed by Auditor Critchlow:

Taxes and tax sales, $428,000; business licenses, $46,000; city court receipts, $26,860; dog licenses, $3000; franchise fees and occupation taxes, $12,175; cemetery fees, $17,400; parks (swimming pools, baseball, etc.), $3060; health department fees, $5280; state license plate money, $81,600; parking meter receipts, $42,200; starting surplus, $21,000—total $730,400.

DEE HOSPITAL SEEKS TRAINEES

Young Women Invited to Take Regular Three-Year Course

An extra class in the regulation three-year training leading to the title of "registered nurse" will be started February 1 at Thomas D. Dee memorial hospital, according to Lawrence H. Evans, superintendent. Mrs. D. B. Glasscock, nursing supervisor, is in charge.

Announcement of the need of over 50,000 more student nurses by the federal government was made by Mr. Evans.

Strong Demand
"With our country at war, the demand for student nurses far exceeds the supply available. Our civilian population is poorly equipped to care for the increased population associated with our defense projects. The government is appealing to young women who are anxious to do what they can for national defense. The army and navy alone need over 7500 more nurses. With expanded facilities and increased demands being made upon them, civilian institutions are asked for another 10,000 trained personnel."

To those who might anticipate a possibility of over-supply of nurses beyond the present emergency, Mr. Evans pointed out that there has been an insufficient number to meet requirements of public health nursing, schools, homes and industry.

"We haven't had enough nurses to go around," Mr. Evans declared. "To prevent the epidemic experiences during periods of post-war recovery, large numbers of nurses will be needed to care for our citizenry in the home and those employed in other branches of public service," he said.

Requirements for nurses' training are minimum age of 18, graduation from high school, good physical condition and a desire to help Uncle Sam. A new class in nurse training will begin at the hospital February 1. Mr. Evans said the need for nurses is really acute and more serious than the average person is aware.

County Soliciting Crew Organized By Red Cross

Joint Funds Campaign
With Community
Chest Underway

Organization of Weber county, outside Ogden city, for the annual Red Cross roll call and war relief campaign was begun Friday by L. Wesley Robbins, chairman, and William P. Miller, vice chairman, of this phase of the local Red Cross-community chest effort.

"Workers will be assigned in every L. D. S. ward outside the city," Mr. Robbins said, "in order that the opportunity will be afforded every member of all homes in the county to contribute to this year's campaign fund. Every man, woman and child must become conscious of the great need for support of the Red Cross effort at this time. We are confident that this county's quota of the $50,000,000.00 national fund will be over-subscribed when the people realize the importance of it now."

Under chairmanship of George L. Ellerbeck, the military division of the Red Cross-chest campaign has been organized and is already functioning. Under this division, five groups have been assigned to the fund solicitation work at Hill field, Ogden ordnance depot, constructing quartermaster offices at Utah general supply depot, Utah area engineers headquarters offices.

A. J. Bybee, purchasing agent under Lieutenant Colonel William L. Mays, and W. J. Kinner, personnel manager, are in charge of the campaign work at Utah general depot. W. D. Jordan, superintendent of construction, together with his secretary, Miss June Shupe, of the constructing quartermaster general's personnel, under command of Lieutenant Colonel Elmer G. Thomas, is directing the campaign in this department.

AT HELM . . . L. Wesley Robbins (top), chairman of the county's annual Red Cross roll call and the war relief campaign, and William P. Miller (lower) vice chairman, are taking active part in the current Red Cross-community chest collection effort.

Red Cross-Chest Forces Make Arrangements for Victory Luncheon Friday

Report Gathering Held
Jointly With Ogden
Kiwanis Club

TOTAL NOW $61,732

New subscriptions to the Red Cross-Community chest united campaign fund reported today brought the total to $61,732. This leaves a balance of $2,628 to be raised by noon Friday, when the victory luncheon will be held.

Workers at the luncheon today were guests of Fred M. Nye Co. and Commercial Security bank.

The Red Cross-Community Chest campaign workers today were within striking distance of their goal of $64,360 when subscription reports were turned in at the luncheon meeting held conjointly with the Ogden Kiwanis club in the Hotel Ben Lomond.

All were urged by E. G. Bennett, general chairman of the united campaign, to follow through to a successful conclusion by contacting every prospective subscriber whose names were on his or her lists. Also he said he hoped any citizen who may inadvertently have been missed in the solicitation work will call campaign headquarters, phone 4623, and ask for the privilege of subscribing. He announced the victory luncheon will be held Friday noon at the hotel.

Transfers Gavel

George T. Hone, Kiwanis president, conducted the club's business session and then turned the gavel over to Mr. Bennett. Community singing was conducted by Paul Cragun, with piano accompaniment by Dorothy P. Radle.

The Rev. Dr. John Edward Carver, co-chairman of the campaign speakers' bureau, gave an inspirational talk to the workers.

L. Wesley Robbins, chairman of the Weber county campaign, outside the city, has notified all county district chairmen that they are expected to attend the Friday luncheon in the hotel. In his circular he urged them not to be content until every family in their districts has been contacted and given an opportunity to subscribe to the fund.

CLEARING PLAN GETS APPROVAL

Proposal States Street
Space Will Be Needed
In Emergency

Provision for clearing certain city streets in event of an emergency was made today by city commissioners at request of Leonard G. Diehl, of the transportation and communication division of the Weber county defense council.

Commissioners adopted Mr. Diehl's recommendation that the police department be instructed that in event of a disaster their first duty would be to clear the following streets for use of emergency units: Both sides of Kiesel between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth, all the parking area in the rear of the city-county building, and both sides of Lake street between Kiesel and Grant.

"The disaster committee would need every inch of this space as we would have hundreds of trucks and automobiles in case of emergency," said Mr. Diehl.

Subscriptions Add 'Grand And Glorious' Conclusion To Red Cross-Chest Effort

Board Will Soon Decide How Extra Funds Will Be Utilized

Subscriptions to the Red Cross-community chest united campaign fund continued to flow into headquarters in the Hotel Ben Lomond today, it was stated by Willard L. Eccles, chest president. He said it is expected they will roll in for some little time, and for this reason the office in room 404 of the hotel will remain open daily for one week. Following that, subscriptions may be delivered to the Red Cross office in the basement of the city and county building or at the chest office, 215 Eccles building.

Already the campaign quota of $64,360 has been oversubscribed by more than $12,000, and Mrs. Eccles said in reply to queries that as soon as a complete audit of the funds has been made, a meeting of the chest board will be called to determine how the surplus is to be handled.

Fred A. Kuhlmann, associate campaign chairman, who has been confined in a hospital during the past week, expressed his appreciation to all who participated in the campaign. He said, "I keenly appreciate your splendid spirit of co-operation and the way you have carried through. We have had an esprit de corps that has brought success. Thanks for what you have done. Ogden is a better city because of your efforts in this united campaign endeavor."

CITIZENS OF WEBER COUNTY AND OGDEN CITY:

On behalf of the officials of the Red Cross-community chest campaign, as well as myself as president of the chest, I desire to express appreciation of the generous way in which you have responded to the appeal for funds in the campaign just concluded. To me it is an indication of our determination as members of this community to stand together during this emergency which has been thrust upon us, and to maintain a bulwark of moral strength on the home front, as well as provide aid for our men at the front and their families at home.

This is indeed the true American spirit and it is very gratifying to the officials of this campaign to know that the citizens of Ogden city and Weber county possess the attributes so necessary to our national defense. In the past drives we have gone over the top in dollars, as we have in this drive, but in the 1942 campaign we have gone over the top in individual patriotism as well. By continuing to maintain this spirit of unity we will be victorious.

Sincerely,
WILLARD L. ECCLES,
President, Ogden
Community Chest.

A subscription of $2400 from the L. D. S. church is not included in the above.

Mr. Eccles today again expressed appreciation of results accomplished by the volunteer workers, and said he particularly wished to commend L. P. Hopkins and T. J. Foley, co-chairmen of the transportation group. "They and their group of railroad employees responded nobly, contributing an average of more than $6 per man."

Post Auxiliary To Entertain At Reception

The American Legion auxiliary will entertain at a reception Monday evening at seven-thirty o'clock at Hotel Ben Lomond in honor of Mrs. M. G. Andresen of Olympia, Washington, national vice president of the American Legion auxiliary, western division. A dinner will follow at eight p. m.

All members of the Legion post and auxiliary are invited to attend. Reservations must be made with Mrs. David A. Scott, phone 2-2802, or Mrs. L. Wesley Robbins, phone 9872, not later than Sunday evening.

Mrs. Andresen is leading the activities of the legion auxiliary in the western states this year. She was elected national vice president in Milwaukee last September after more than 28 years of prominent service in the auxiliary in Washington.

Born in Greene, New York, Mrs. Andresen was brought to Washington at an early age by her parents, who took an active part in the development of the state. Her father organized the first Sunday school class in Olympia, serving as superintendent for 15 years.

Her husband, Magnus Gustav Andresen, served in the World war and is active in the American Legion and Forty and Eight. They have no children.

During the war, she was employed as secretary to the assistant secretary of state of Washington. She assisted in Liberty loan drives and did other war work.

Soon after the war she joined Alfred William Leach unit of the auxiliary in Olympia and has been continuously active in the work of the organization since that time, serving in many local, district and state offices. As chairman of the state national defense committee, she organized the first women's national defense conference held in Washington. As president of the Washington department, she gave state organization a year of progressive leadership, after which she represented the state on the auxiliary's national executive committee.

A graduate of Oregon State college, Mrs. Andresen is a charter member of the American Association of University Women. She served as executive secretary of the Thurston county chapter of the Red Cross for ten years, and state secretary of the Pythian Sisters for five years. At present she is recording secretary of the State Capitol Historical association, of which she is a charter member.

Mrs. Andresen is deeply interested in community service activities. She organized the first free clinic in her county for the treatment of under-privileged children and organized the first supervised play field in the city. Workers Meet To Discuss Chest Canvass

OGDEN — Simultaneously with opening of the regular Ogden-Weber county United War chest campaign Monday, volunteer workers will meet at the Ben Lomond hotel as guests of the hotel Monday noon to hear reports of advance solicitors, it was announced Saturday by R. C. Duvall, general chairman.

S. G. Dye, Ogden business man and LDS church leader, who is cochairman of the speakers' bureau with Dr. John Edward Carver, pastor of Ogden First Presbyterian church, will be the principal speaker at the Monday meeting to inspire every volunteer worker to give the best he can to the job.

All Employes Contribute

Already reporting 100 per cent subscriptions to the combined war-community chest drive, winning first honors, were employees of the office of George E. Brown, Weber county assessor, said Mr. Duvall as he pointed to this record as an incentive to all other public and private groups to complete equally good subscription records.

Campaign supplies have been distributed during the past few days to most of the 357 business firms in Ogden and Weber county employing five or more persons, and soliciting of subscriptions within these firms is progressing satisfactorily, he explained.

Precampaign reports so far received indicate that the goal of $70,050, which will be divided among 12 participating agencies of the battlefronts, the allied fronts and the home front, will be achieved before the campaign closes December 4.

Red Cross Disaster Group Rallies For Emergencies

Echoes of gunfire and bomb explosions at Pearl Harbor had hardly died away when the disaster committee of Weber county chapter American Red Cross, was called into special meeting.

At the behest of Chairman E. G. Bennett and Vice Chairman L. Wesley Robbins of the chapter, Cochairmen A. T. Barrett and C. E. Armstrong summoned the disaster group to meeting at noon of Dec. 8, less than 24 hours after the first flash had been received here telling of the Japanese attack.

Almost at once, the committee began fearlessly looking itself over for weaknesses. And it found them.

Twenty First Aiders

The rescue unit reported that while it had 104 trained first aiders listed on its rolls, theoretically available in an emergency in actuality only about 20 of the group would be available in case of disaster or bombing because the others were occupational specialists who would be needed on their own jobs during such a time.

It also reported a shortage of emergency equipment—blankets, stretchers, bandages, splints—all the items that would be needed to administer first aid to a bombed community.

The transportation committee reported insufficient ambulances available and none of the equipment with which stake trucks could be converted into emergency ambulances. Other weaknesses were boldly ferreted out.

Hundreds In Training

Today, exactly two months later, through activity precipitated at that meeting, 2500 men and women are trained or in training as first aid workers, using the standard and advanced Red Cross courses in the subject. Kent S. Bramwell, appointed director of first aid training, has had as many as 75 classes in session over a week's period. This work will relieve the situation as to emergency first aid crews, but has caused a new problem. There are so many persons now seeking instruction in first aid work that instructors cannot be provided for all of them. However, by long-time planning of courses, this problem is expected to work itself out.

The establishment here of a Red Cross processing plant to supply the west coast with articles produced by the chapters west of the Mississippi offered a contact with national headquarters unavailable previously, and now plans are under way to have emergency units for the rescue division available at the Red Cross depot. Requested are units for transforming trucks into ambulances, splints, and blankets, particularly necessary in the event of a gas attack.

Nurse Shortage

Other units of the disaster group reported themselves well organized except for the medical aid department, which said there was a severe shortage of nurses. To obviate this need, at least partially, one class of nurses' aides has been trained and another is to begin this month.

Ogden is ready for any attack from the skies that Japan may wish to launch. Perhaps the organization is incomplete, but most of the difficulties now are of a nature that can be ironed out on the field of action.

PROPOSAL MADE FOR FULL-TIME DEFENSE CHIEF

Handle Campaign At Expense of City and County

Civilian Defense Coordinator James A. Howell, County Board Chairman J. W. Arrington, Mayor Harman W. Peery and several members of the state and county defense councils will meet this week, probably Thursday, with Capt. James R. Barker, Ninth corps area liaison officer between civilian councils and the army.

Purpose of the meeting, according to Mr. Howell, is to determine whether a full-time worker shall be hired by the city and county to tend to organization details of the defense council.

Probable Time

Captain Barker was in Ogden Saturday arranging for the meeting. Mr. Howell said it will probably be called for ten a. m. Thursday in the city commission meeting room, sixth floor of the city-county building.

Other defense council activities include the continuance of instruction of auxiliary firemen and auxiliary policemen started under R. C. Glasmann, chief air raid warden of Weber county, and L. Wesley Robbins, training officer of the protection division.

Against Sabotage

A general session featured Sam R. Waugh of Salt Lake City, presented to the Weber county group in Weber college auditorium by Lavere M. Hanson, Salt Lake City fire chief and chief of the state fire protection division of the civilian defense council. Mr. Waugh stressed protection from sabotage as a large part of the work of the local defense workers.

Another speaker was Capt. T. F. Collins, in charge of the auxiliary firemen training program in Salt Lake City, who said, "After Pearl Harbor, I wouldn't bet a nickel that Salt Lake valley could not be bombed."

MRS. L. G. DIEHL RESIGNS POST

Gives Up Portion of Her Duties in Red Cross Activities

Resignation of Mrs. Leonard G. Diehl as secretary of Weber county chapter, American Red Cross, was accepted at a meeting of committee chairmen representing the directors of the organization. Mrs. Diehl will remain on active service with the chapter as chairman of volunteer services and chairman of nurses' aides.

Appointment of a new secretary was left to E. G. Bennett, chapter chairman, who was represented at the meeting by L. Wesley Robbins, vice chairman.

Will Order Trailer

The board authorized the chapter to order a custom-built trailer for the disaster committee to carry emergency supplies, and A. T. Barrett, disaster committee chairman, said four or five inserts for trucks, to transform them into four-passenger ambulances, are needed. There is already one on hand.

Kent S. Bramwell, first aid instruction director, said 4,380 persons are training under 115 instructors.

A canteen is being constructed west of the waiting room at Union depot and will be operated by Mrs. R. B. Porter's canteen service committee for providing articles and information for soldiers traveling through the city by train, Mrs. Porter said.

More Trainees

Last Monday, Mrs. Diehl reported, 20 additional trainees for the nurses' aide went onto the floor of the Dee hospital. One group of 15 has completed the training and they are now contributing time as demanded by their agreement.

Sixteen members of the motor corps, headed by Mrs. L. T. Bass, will complete in the near future a training course in auto mechanics being given at Weber college. Because a shortage of tires may reduce the corps' efficiency, the chapter is considering whether it should purchase a truck to use as ambulance, delivery car or whatever might be needed.

NEW NURSE AIDE CLASS PLANNED

So enthusiastic are women about the nurses' aide work that a new class will be started May 3, it was announced Saturday after the second group of women to take such a class were graduated in a ceremony which saw them presented with caps and insignia.

Women interested in evening or day classes are requested to fill out application blanks at the Red Cross offices in the city-county building, or to contact Mrs. C. J. Carroll, dial 2-5806, for detailed information.

The program presented during the Saturday ceremony was under direction of Mrs. Thomas Farr and Mrs. Louis Vandenberg. Speakers were Dr. H. A. Dixon, Mrs. R. B. Porter, A. T. Barrett, L. Wesley Robbins, Miles Jones, Mrs. Leah Greenwell and Mrs. Farr.

Post Auxiliary Holds Easter Tea Saturday

Holding the spotlight in Easter social events, the past week was the annual Easter bridge tea given by members of the auxiliary to the American Legion, Herman Baker post No. 9, Saturday afternoon.

The event was given in the Crystal ballroom of Hotel Ben Lomond with a large number of guests attending. A Pan-American theme prevailed in the entertainment and decorative scheme. Adding to the enjoyment of bridge were the table entertainers, Privates Gonzales and Ruiz, who sang Spanish songs; and the following program: A Spanish dance by Miss Betty Davis; accordion solos and duets by Young and Finley; piano solo, by Private Paul Kent.

Tea was served in the Shakespearean and English rooms and the table was set on the mezzanine floor. A "Mexican Flower Vendor's Market" was depicted in the decorations. A Mexican femme figurine with bare feet, white blouse, red skirt and striped scarf sat on a pile of rocks placing colorful flowers in tiny floral pots. A little farther along was a Mexican figurine with a white suit and large sombrero hat and striped serape, holding a shoulder-basket of flowers. He was following a tiny donkey figurine carrying a load of wood and pottery on his back and pulling a cart of sweetpeas. A yellow Mexican cloth, embroidered with Mexican figures in gay colored wool covered the table, and orange, red and black tapers lighted the setting.

Large colorful South American hats and gay serapes combined with Pan-American flags adorned the walls. Poll parrots sitting on garlands of gourds added to the scene and large Mexican baskets symbolized the theme.

Those who poured were Mrs. Herbert B. Maw, Mrs. Harman W. Peery, Mrs. Melba Bills, Mrs. Goldie McShane, Mrs. Ruby Layton, Mrs. Madeline Swaner, Mrs. Roscoe C. Glasmann, Mrs. James A. Howell, Mrs. J. I. Smith, Mrs. James Kallas and Mrs. M. L. Fenstermaker.

Dealers Called to Adopt Air Raid Protection Plan

Retail merchants have been summoned to a meeting Wednesday at ten-thirty a. m. in Hotel Ben Lomond to map a plan of procedure for protection of business houses in the event of an air raid on Ogden.

Twenty-five air raid wardens will be chosen by the business men after R. C. Glasmann, commander of the civilian defense corps, explains the duties.

E. J. Fjeldsted, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said "Between Twenty-third and Twenty-sixth on each side of Washington, there will be one warden to the block and one assistant. Outside those areas, the warden will have perhaps two to 10 blocks on one side of the street.

"The purpose is to get business men, who know business and its needs, to serve as wardens rather than having someone appointed to the area who does not know much about the operation of a business."

After being selected, the wardens will be trained.

Starting on April 20, a new class for senior and sector wardens will be conducted in the auditorium Central building at Weber college. A. E. Wilfong, state ARP representative; R. C. Glasmann; Darrel E. Shaw, local defense corps controller; L. Wesley Robbins, training officer of the corps; A. T. Barrett, chairman of medical aid and expert on gas treatments; H. W. Brangham, county chief warden; J. H. Brown, C. H. Mueller and Clyde Peterson of the city fire department will conduct the phases of the classes with Mr. Glasmann in charge.

Two hundred men are expected to take this course. One recently completed school for the wardens graduated 147 senior and sector wardens. The new class will operate April 20 through 24 and April 27 and 28.

Thirty-five men representing as many industrial plants in the city, are now taking special fire training under the civilian defense council's leadership. This course started last Friday. A number of industrial plants have already had their key men trained in the various phases of protection from sabotage by fire and training in incendiary bomb handling.

Hospital Nursing Assistance Sought

Pres. H. A. Dixon of Weber college and Supt. Lawrence Evans of the Dee hospital will confer in Salt Lake City Tuesday with officials of the L. D. S. hospital and the University of Utah. The meeting is in the interest of expanding the nursing program given cooperatively by the Dee hospital and the college and to make the last two years of the training part of the University of Utah program.

MAYOR SOUNDS 'BUY COAL' CALL

Buy your coal now for the winter of 1942-43, Mayor Peery urged the citizens of Ogden today in a proclamation concurred in by Commissioners Saunders and Wood.

In issuing the proclamation, Mayor Peery pointed out that, according to information reaching him, "it is stated almost daily by authoritative government sources that shortage of transportation facilities will be the one major source of trouble," in the expected difficulty of obtaining coal next fall and winter.

During the last war, it was recalled, when coal was on priority, much coal was requisitioned in transit for urgent defense requirements.

Mayor Peery quoted a letter from B. P. Manley, executive secretary of the Utah Coal Operators association, in which Mr. Manley said:

"In the past, coal dealers and consumers have been able to get coal of any kind they wanted, whenever they wanted it. It will not be possible to provide this service during this war period, no matter how desirous the coal mine operators are to provide it. The only assurance of coal supply that can be afforded to both industrial and domestic users under present conditions is for all types of coal users to buy coal now during the season of mild weather while supply and transportation are available, and to store coal in their own bins."

STAFF TRACES TWO 'BOMBERS' AT TEST MEET

Several Defects Found As Control Room Put Into Operation

The staff of the citizens' defense corps, under direction of A. E. Wilfong, field representative of Grover A. Giles, head of the state defense council, protection division, Friday evening began its training in operation of the protection control room by plotting the course of two enemy bombers which theoretically caused serious damage in nine localities. The control room is in the basement of the city-county building.

Happily, the imaginary bombers crashed during the 58-minute raid.

Difficulties Noted

Several kinks in the operation of the control room were discovered as the "damage" and "casualties" were reported in, and staff members found what work they must do in advance to have actual control of the field units.

Seated at the controlling table were R. C. Glasmann, commander; H. W. Brangham, chief air raid warden; Darrel E. Shaw, controller, and the heads of the various departments—Rial C. Moore, police; Elmer A. Anderson, fire; A. T. Barrett, medical services; Win Templeton, public works, and Harry F. Irwin, utilities.

Operating the charts were L. Wesley Robbins at the control panel; Leonard G. Diehl and Parley Norseth, transportation and personnel officers (substituting for John Ira Davis), and W. F. Smiley, recording the incidents and action taken to care for them.

In the message room, there were no telephonists working, although the telephones have been connected. The incidents were prepared in advance by Mr. Wilfong, former U. S. army brigadier general. Acting as communications officer was Howard L. Blood, serving for Frank B. Sawyer.

Guard Maintained

Mark Tillotson was stationed at the entrance to the control room. He is guard, and is charged with allowing only regularly qualified persons to enter the control room. The room is at all times guarded and only those persons with keys or with passes are admitted.

Capt. James Barker, appointed by the Ninth corps area command as liaison officer between the army and the state defense council, will inspect the control room next Friday at seven-thirty p. m.

Following that date, the staff will continue training each Monday evening, so that operation of the control room will be smooth, swift and effective.

CLASS RECEIVES NATIONAL HONOR

It's Largest of Its Kind Ever Gathered in United States

The largest class of trained first-aiders ever to receive certification at one time in the United States was honored at Ogden high school Friday. There were 586 girl students receiving Red Cross certificates.

The group formed the major portion of the more than 1100 trained at the school as part of their regular physical education program under Mrs. Helena B. Case. Kent S. Bramwell, director of first aid for Weber county Red Cross chapter, was master of ceremonies at the assembly held in the school auditorium.

Medal Conferred

Recognition of practical life-saving through application of first aid was given at the assembly when Lieut. D. B. Ballantyne of Ogden city police pinned a medal on Officer Russell Fort for his quick action on the morning of April 26 in staunching the flow of blood when D. Clarence Trostelle was cut across the face in a collision between a passenger car and a taxicab at Twenty-fourth and Washington.

Doctors who later attended Mr. Trostelle told police that Fort's action definitely saved the life of the injured man, who otherwise would have bled to death before arriving at the hospital.

Six volunteer workers of the Red Cross in their uniforms, three members of the motor corps and three nurses' aides, helped distribute the certificates to the near 600 girls.

Several Speakers

Brief remarks were made by Paul Walters, American Red Cross field director from Fort Douglas; L. Wesley Robbins, vice chairman of Weber county Red Cross chapter; Supt. W. Karl Hopkins of the city schools; Dr. R. L. Draper, past chairman of the chapter; Principal Ralph B. Sanford of the high school and Dil Young, high school student body president.

Music was provided by the girls' chorus, the band, Paul Cragun and Glenn L. Hanson of the school instructors' staff.

Recognition of the uniqueness of the size of the graduating group was given Mr. Bramwell recently at San Francisco, when officials of the Pacific branch of American Red Cross said that never before has so large a class been certified by the Red Cross as being trained in first aid work.

PRAISE OFFERED TO VOLUNTEERS

They Back Up Soldiers In Field, Declares Speaker

Twenty-six members of the Weber county Red Cross nurse's aides third unit received caps and insignia at exercises held in the Utah Power auditorium, with Mrs. Leonard G. Diehl as general chairman. Mrs. Thomas Farr was in charge of the program.

Speakers lauded the voluntary work being done by the aides, stressing the value of the service rendered through relieving many registered nurses for duty with the armed forces.

Greater Morale

"Persons like those working as Red Cross nurse's aides doing noble work of sacrifice, are those who are making history, but whose names are seldom mentioned," declared the Rev. John Edward Carver in addressing the unit.

"The morale of men at the front is greatly strengthened by the knowledge that, through work such as the nurse's aides are doing, their families at home are safe and being taken care of," he said.

"It is very fortunate that in this world war, women are being trained early for the task of assisting nurses in times of disaster and epidemic."

Dr. Frank K. Bartlett, in a brief address, commended the aides for their service, emphasizing their importance in relieving registered nurses. He stressed the fact that, although the six weeks training does not permit the aides to serve in the full capacity of registered nurses, it does train them sufficiently to enable them to render valuable assistance.

Offers Thanks

Miss Verle Baker, district health nurse in charge of volunteer supervisors for nurse's aides, thanked the supervisors for their service. Miss Baker also gave a report on the nursing convention in Chicago which she attended, reporting that Mrs. Walter Lippman, chairman of the national Red Cross nurse's aides, declared in an address there that the aides are doing an honest work.

The presentation address was given by L. Wesley Robbins, vice chairman of the Weber county chapter Red Cross, and the program of the disaster setup was outlined by Mrs. A. E. Brown, chairman of Red Cross nurses.

Bars Presented

White bars to nurse's aides of unit one and two who have already given 150 hours of service this year, were presented by Mrs. J. T. Ruhnner, vice chairman of the aides committee.

OVER THE TOP . . . J. S. Brady Dirker is shown here on Bugler, getting ready for the Soldiers' Benefit Horse show, slated at the stadium August 28 and 29.

Plans are rolling along in a big way for the Soldiers' Benefit Horse Show which will be sponsored at the Ogden stadium August 28 and 29, by the Ogden Advertising and Sales club. This event promises to be one of the most gala of its type.

Besides the excellent animals displayed and expert horsemanship . . . there will be some added features including a cavalry drill with twenty-eight horses from the Ogden Ordnance depot, an exhibition by the Weber county posse and other interesting events.

It will be fun . . . and doubly so, because the proceeds from the event will go toward making the day rooms at the camps for enlisted men more homely and inviting and better equipped for the pleasure of these boys. A part of the fund will go also to hospital service for the men and a part to the center for Negro soldiers at Twenty-seventh and Wall.

Word comes from Mrs. Stuart P. Dobbs and her committee members that the sale of tickets is going nicely and it is anticipated by them that this will be one of the most widely patronized entertainments of the season.

The committee members in charge of the event are: Al Hyde, general chairman; E. P. Shurick, vice chairman; central committee, Ezra J. Fjeldsted, Al Epperson, Merrill Bunnell, Frank Kauli and Winston Fillmore; tickets, Mrs. Stuart P. Dobbs, chairman, Mrs. J. S. Brady Dirker, vice chairman, John N. Spargo, John Ira Davis, Mrs. W. Utahns Eagerly Awaiting Soldiers' Benefit Horse Show At Stadium August 28 and 29

Enthusiasm is catching! And it's going around Ogden like an epidemic . . . all for the Soldiers' Benefit Horse show which will be held at Ogden stadium August 28 and 29.

Entries are coming in thick and fast including some of the finest horses and riders in Utah, Idaho, and Montana, as well as army horses from the Ogden ordnance depot, Hill field and Fort Douglas. Classes will include five and three-gaited, stock horse, jumping, Shetland pony and officer's charger groups.

Another special feature that is meeting with popularity this year is the pleasure horse class. In this particular group three-gaited and five-gaited horses will be eliminated so that those having pleasure saddle horses or Shetland ponies may have an opportunity of showing them. Anyone owning a saddle horse, or a Shetland pony, who wishes to enter this class is requested to place his entry with J. S. Brady Dirker at 1371 Twenty-fifth street.

Tickets are going like hotcakes and new box seats placed closer to the ring are being erected to insure the crowds the best possible seating capacity. Box seat tickets now may be obtained at the chamber of commerce.

Attractive special features for the show will include a twenty-eight horse cavalry drill by the Ogden Ordnance depot, a jeep demonstration by Hill field, a Weber county posse drill as well as selections by the Utah quartermaster depot band.

Reports from the various committees are that army folks and defense workers as well as Ogdenites in general, are responding to this project with unusual enthusiasm. It promises to be one of the outstanding attractions of the summer season. People are not only showing interest in the show itself, but in its cause . . . the proceeds going toward the furnishings of the day rooms at the camps for enlisted men in this vicinity and hospital service for the men, as well as to the center for Negro soldiers at Twenty-seventh and Wall.

Mrs. J. S. Blazebrook and Mrs. Philip J. Dix have been added to the list of ticket committee members.

The committee members in charge as previously announced are: Al Hyde, general chairman; E. P. Shurick, vice chairman; central committee, Ezra J. Fjeldsted, Al Epperson, Merrill Bunnell, Frank Kauli and Winston Fillmore; tickets, Mrs. Stuart P. Dobbs, chairman, Mrs. J. S. Brady Dirker, vice chairman, John N. Spargo, John Ira Davis, Mrs. W. Howard Christensen, Mrs. Jack Wilcox, Mrs. Wesley L. Robbins, Mrs. Donald Woolsey, Mrs. Marie Wyman, Mrs. W. H. Ogden Starts Chest Drive On Monday

All out for Ogden! That is the hope of committee members for the United War Chest this year when they start the drive on Monday, Nov. 30.

Since Pearl Harbor . . . many things have happened to change the tranquility of the United States and this year there will be three fields represented in the United War Chest. The first concerns the needs of our brave allies who have stayed the attacks of the cruel aggressors with the result that they have delayed, if not prevented, the time when our own land might be invaded. The second field of service concerns our men in the armed forces, and the third, the home front which is and must be the source of power for the fighting front and for help to our suffering allies.

To take care of the many drives that Ogden has been asked to promote, the Community Chest has combined its efforts with those of the United War Fund, merging the two organizations into one . . . the United War Chest.

Ogden's goal this year is $70,000. Besides sending all the aid we have been asked for to the suffering allies, prisoners of war and the other projects to be covered by this fund, the amount will take care of the needs of the organizations at home.

Among the organizations in Ogden, who depend upon this fund for their functioning are the Children's Aid society, the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Salvation Army, Ogden Adult Blind association, and Ogden Dental clinic. The American Red Cross, which organization was previously included in the Community chest fund, has withdrawn, due to war demands. The drive for this organization will be put on some time in March.

The Children's Aid society takes care of neglected, abused and abandoned children, provides permanent adoption homes for them, aids unwedded prospective mothers and finds homes for their children, and also find foster homes for children whose parents are doing war work. The demand on their services has been greatly increased since the influx of war workers into Ogden. Mrs. W. O. Fell is president of the organization and Mrs. R. E. Edens, secretary. A large number of Ogden's prominent club women are directors of the group.

The Girl Scouts receive basic training in citizenship and character building and preparedness in future leadership of the community.

The Boy Scout program is one of character training for citizenship through activity with recognition, serving 2,600 boys in Ogden and Weber county. About 700 men are serving as leaders of the organization.

The Salvation Army gives individual help, protection and character building. Also renders emergency care for homeless men and non-residents; rehabilitates homes through religious and character building programs.

The Ogden Adult Blind association cares for recreational, educational, social and mutual welfare needs of the adult blind of the community.

The Dental clinic provides dental care for all needy children ranging from first to seventh school grades, inclusive . . . realizing that proper care of the teeth is an important factor to future health.

The other projects represent USO national and local; war prisoners aid, British war relief, Russian war, Greek war relief, war emergency and war victims' aid, Polish war relief, United China relief and Yugoslav war relief.

The officers and committee members of the United War Chest are Mayor Harman W. Perry, Ogden city council; Lynn B. Cornish, president, Community Chest; J. W. Arrington, chairman, Weber county board of commissioners; V. P. Campbell, Willard L. Eccles, Robert M. Haggan, Louis F. Hopkins, A. W. Holmquist, George H. Lowe, Lieut. V. L. Lewis, W. I. Lowe, Lieut. C. S. Menger, W. R. McDermott, J. H. Riley, C. Stuart Spence, Ensign E. O. Underhill, William F. Wood, Jr., Major Frank E. Young, Jr., executive council, United War Fund; Ralph C. Duval, chairman of campaign organization and Carl C. Gaskill, vice chairman.

Welfare Service

J. W. ARRINGTON, Chief

The emergency welfare service includes those types of services and assistance provided to meet the varied social and economic needs of civilians which result from enemy action. Such needs include not only emergency food and housing for those who are rendered homeless by attack, but also those social services necessary to re-establish families and get workers back to their jobs as quickly as possible.

A special order transferred this week from the wardens service to a special service of its own, the emergency welfare service.

The responsibilities of the service include information and registration, temporary rest shelters where food is distributed and other forms of emergency aid should be immediately available; provisions for rehousing families; cash assistance to those who have lost all immediate resources; removal and storage of furniture and other effects from damaged buildings; minor repairs for homes, and the replacement of tools and other working materials to return workers to productive status.

The Red Cross committees on food, housing, clothing, registration and information are all parts of this service. They operate on the basis of mass care. When the welfare and social work gets on an individual basis, then an additional welfare committee takes over the work.

The staff is manned by John W. Arrington, chief of service; L. Wesley Robbins, assistant chief; food committee, C. H. B. Seybert; housing, Elmer R. Buckner; clothing, Lynn B. Cornish; registration and information, L. R. Roylance and Ella O. Ballantyne.

Regional Red Cross Aids Meet

OGDEN, Jan. 30.—Responsibilities and objectives in administration organization and service of the Red Cross were outlined by state and western area organization heads at a regional meeting held yesterday with Red Cross workers attending from Weber, Box Elder, Davis, Morgan and Rich Counties.

L. Wesley Robbins, vice chairman of the Weber County unit presided.

Kenneth Duffin, field director at Kearns, pointed out that it was the purpose and function of the organization to coordinate services for men in the service not provided by strictly military functions, and also to help civilians adjust themselves to new environments through recreation and other means.

The function of the Red Cross in providing aid for the sick and wounded soldiers and sailors was told by Dr. John Edward Carver of Ogden. He also told how the organization assists in building up the morale for service men and their families at home.

It was announced that Richard C. Badger will serve as chairman of the annual war campaign to be conducted in March.

Red Cross Leader To Come to Ogden

ALBERT EVANS
... Disaster authority

Albert Evans, assistant to the manager, midwestern area, American Red Cross, St. Louis, Mo., is expected to arrive in Ogden Thursday morning for consultation with the disaster committee of the local chapter, announced L. Wesley Robbins, vice chairman.

"Mr. Evans has been prominently identified with the organization since World war I", stated Mr. Robbins. "He recently returned to the United States after 18 months in China and India as acting director of China relief for the American Red Cross. While in foreign service, his principal task was to arrange for supplying the Chinese national health service with medical supplies and equipment.

"Before his foreign assignment Mr. Evans was director of disaster relief for the midwestern area headquarters for 13 years. During this time he directed the major disaster relief operations of the middle west, including devastating Republican river valley flood of 1935, the Helena, Mont., earthquake, and a large region in the Ohio and Mississippi valley flood of 1937.

"Mr. Evans' experience in Red Cross disaster work will be of material assistance in preparing for any eventuality in this community," stated Mr. Robbins.

Mr. Evans will speak at the noon luncheon of the Kiwanis club on Thursday, on recent observations in China.

MILLIONS HEED RED CROSS CALL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 — Since America's entry into global warfare more than 5000 women volunteers of Weber county have enrolled in various services of the American Red Cross, Mr. L. Wesley Robbins, vice chairman of Weber chapter, announced today.

"The women of this community have spent long hours in the production of garments since Pearl Harbor," he said. "By their record they have demonstrated that the women are conscious of the necessity for self-sacrifice in these hectic times."

In commending the work of the Red Cross volunteers in Weber county, Mr. Robbins pointed out that they have joined a national corps of more than 3,500,000 active Red Cross volunteer workers in all parts of the land.

"The articles have been distributed to the service men in camps both at home and abroad," he said. "Many of them have been distributed in the heat of battle thousands of miles from here. These garments were knitted by Red Cross volunteers in production rooms similar to the ones in this community," he said.

Of great importance at present is the production of huge quantities of surgical dressings. This work is conducted in Ogden under the direction of Mrs. F. G. Brown. During the past 14 months Red Cross volunteer workers in the nation have made 520,000,000 of these dressings and quotas for the chapter may be increased in the future.

Newest program of Weber Red Cross chapter is the packing of kit bags for distribution to each and every service man who is assigned to duty overseas. The kit bags contain soap, playing cards, cigarets or smoking tobacco, a shoe polishing cloth, envelopes and paper, chewing gum, shoe laces, a waterproof match box, razor blades, a pocket sized comb and a sewing case.

Weber chapter has also produced many garments for the needy refugees of war-torn countries of Europe and Asia. Mrs. Joan Emmett is chairman of the sewing room. Orphans, bombed-out victims, torpedoed sailors, and refugees from fire and destruction are benefitting from the many hours of work by the Red Cross women volunteers of Weber chapter, Mr. Robbins declared.

"All of these services," he said, "are supported by the Red Cross 1943 war fund."

Ogden Rotarians Pick Ballot Roster

OGDEN—The list of nominees for elective offices in the Ogden Rotary club was completed Wednesday at the club's luncheon meeting in the Ben Lomond hotel, and directors prepared to conduct the annual election next Wednesday.

The revised list of candidates follows:

For president, A. Walter Stevenson, Reed W. Bailey, Don E. Leader and F. A. Child; for vice president, L. Wesley Robbins, Samuel C. Powell, Lorenzo Williamson and LeRoy B. Young; for secretary, Carl Gaskill, incumbent; for treasurer, W. H. Jackson, incumbent; for directors (two to be elected), James T. Renell, Frank Rounds, Hugh Broadbent, Harold Olsen, Earl Rushmer, Stuart Spence and Dr. J. R. Morrell.

The luncheon meeting Wednesday featured a summary of elaborate postwar plans for the expansion of Utah's industrial, recreational and agricultural resources by Ora Bundy, member of the state commission of publicity and industrial development and director of the Utah postwar planning board.

Among Mr. Bundy's proposals was the suggestion that semi-permanent, government-built homes in the Utah defense areas—which may not be required by the temporary populations after the war—be transferred to recreation areas and parks to provide shelter for the anticipated influx of tourists. This, he said, would take the substandard houses out of competition with permanent real estate after the "boom" and remove the threat of their depreciating the value of high-priced homes.

The speaker foresaw a bright future for Utah's expanding steel industry. Development of the Ogden, Weber, Colorado and other rivers is being planned to bring thousands of acres of new agricultural land under cultivation, the speaker reported.

Military Style Show and Tea Highlighted Social Activities

There was a buzz of excitement at Hotel Ben Lomond on Saturday afternoon when the Military Style show and tea given by the Women's auxiliary to the American Legion Herman Baker post No. 9, highlighted the social activities of the week in Ogden.

What is smart in military fashions was demonstrated by attractive models, as were charming creations for afternoon, evening and street wear, featuring gay hats and bags.

Those modeling for various branches of the American Red Cross were Mrs. Frank G. Brown, surgical dressings; Mrs. Elmer B. Dudman, ambulance; Mrs. J. C. Allen, nurses aides, and Mrs. Lynn B. Cornish, canteen.

Others who modeled were Miss Marian Moyle, Miss Ann Whitmeyer, Miss Barbara Stratford, Miss Betty Nelson and Mrs. Ora Bundy.

A special feature of the event was the show put on by the special service group of the army air force technical training command of Camp Kearns, Utah.

After the show, the guest retired into the Shakespearean and English rooms for tea. The table was especially attractive and developed a color scheme of red, white and blue. A large white figurine in the nature of a fountain, topped with a golden eagle, which was placed on a mirror reflector formed the centerpiece. Red and white carnations combined with blue iris encircled the reflector and streamers in matching colors were extended from the wings of the eagle to a white four-branch candelabrum at either end.

Those who poured were Mrs. Herbert Maw of Salt Lake City, Mrs. Harman W. Perry, Mrs. David Scott, Mrs. Helen Anderson, Mrs. Golda McShane, Mrs. Millie Wilkins, Mrs. James A. Howell and Mrs. Russell D. Rockwell. Serving the guests were the Misses Lorna Lindquist, Mary Wadsworth, Margaret Ellis, Noreen Barton, Ardel Chambers, Donna Grose, Jane Montgomery and Thelma Anderson.

and Mrs. H. M. Tuttle of Long Beach.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. L. Wesley Robbins, president, Mrs. Carl A. Lindquist and Mrs. R. D. Rockwell.

Mrs. Wilford Gwilliam was general chairman, assisted by the following committee members: Mrs. Beulah H. Gavin, Mrs. Jack Falne, Mrs. W. R. Stephens, Mrs. L. Jesse Holther, Mrs. Spencer S. Eccles, Mrs. Ora Bundy, Mrs. J. E. Nelson, Mrs. Ronald Wadsworth, Mrs. Arthur Woolley and Mrs. E. G. Cross. About 300 guests attended the event.

Culley Says:

With 40,000 doctors in the Army . . . with home-front doctors carrying on under the strain of extra patients and longer hours . . . you owe it to them . . . and Uncle Sam . . . to ease the load as much as you can.

Don't engage your doctor in long telephone conversations.

Don't ask him to come at once unless it's a real emergency.

Don't wait until night to call him to see a patient who has been sick all day.

Don't ask to see your doctor right away, because you have another engagement.

Blood Offered By Ogdenite To Sick Tot

Arthur B. Foulger, Lion Coal Co. executive, is willing to do anything possible to save the life of the two-year-old, Tommy James, son of Thomas V. James, who is reported dying in a Chicago hospital of a streptococcus infection.

Only a blood transfusion can save the lad, and the Ogden man had and recovered from the rare infection two years ago. His address is 304 Goddard, Ogden, and telephone number is 5323.

Press dispatches said Tuesday that the Sacramento, Calif., sheriff's office located Miss Anna Stanley, 22, who had had the infection. She was living on a pea farm on Little Liberty island in the Sacramento river delta area. She was given a telegram from the anxious father, asking that she give her blood to save his son.

Miss Stanley, although sympathetic, said she was still too ill from the infection to give a transfusion.

Among those offering to give their blood also were Mrs. Lillian P. Daniels, 2755 Jefferson, and another man at the Broom hotel.

Washington Earns First Place in Drum Festival; Majorettes Attract Eyes

Fifteen Hundred Attend Event Sponsored by American Legion

Fifteen hundred people witnessed the colorful performance of seven Ogden junior high schools participating in the first annual drum corps contest and festival Friday evening at the Ogden stadium. The contest was held under the direction of Ray Minter and was sponsored by Herman Baker post, American Legion.

Adding beauty and interest to the contest were the uniforms in school colors of the majorettes.

Awarding of the prizes for best performances was made by John Ira Davis, commander of Herman Baker post, assisted by A. Reed Michelson, adjutant of the post. Awards went to Washington school as winner of first place, Mound Fort school, second, and Quincy school, third. Judges were Lieut. Col. William A. McAdam, Col. Ralph Poulton and L. Wesley Robbins.

The program started with the American Legion miniature cannon firing the salute and the raising of the stars and stripes, after which the entire audience pledged allegiance to the flag. Schools performed in the following order:

Quincy school with Jack Bookas as drum major and Claire Marie Jay leading majorette; Lorin Farr school with Ray Lubeck as drum major and Helen Walker leading majorette; Washington school with Bruce Keyes drum major and Carla Salmon leading majorette; Polk school with Gordon Mortensen drum major and Margene Reese leading majorette; Madison school with Dale Wilson drum major and LuJeanne Barnett leading majorette; Pingree school with Jay Hunt drum major and Elaine Richins majorette; Mound Fort school with Leroy Nelson drum major and Norma Hadlock leading majorette.

The most impressive sight of the evening was the massing of 125 majorettes, as they twirled their batons to the accompaniment of the massed drum corps, playing "The Legion Drummer." This is the largest group of majorettes ever to be assembled at one time in the state of Utah.

At the lowering of the flag, taps was sounded by Duane Aldous and Allen Pike. By vote of those present, the drum corps festival must be repeated every year.

POLICE PUZZLE INCLUDES TRIO

Members of Civil Service Commission Are Crux Of Difficulty

To be policemen or not to be policemen, that is the question—for the members of the city civil service commission, Henry Combe, Maurice J. Schooff and Dr. W. E. Grimm.

Everybody had more or less accepted it as a fact that the three were now special policemen — having been appointed by Mayor Harman W. Peery to serve without pay—but it ain't so, apparently.

A routine report by Chief of Police Rial C. Moore to the city commission had in it a paragraph stating that the three civil service bosses are now full-fledged officers on active duty.

The report was promptly sent back to Chief Moore for correction, by vote of Commissioners William D. Wood and Edward T. Saunders, who maintain that City Attorney George S. Barker has ruled against the advisability of naming quasi-judicial officers to serve as active policemen. Mayor Peery objected strenuously to the procedure, on the grounds that Mr. Barker had not said it was illegal to appoint the civil service commission members.

Mr. Barker, who was present, said it's true that the appointment is legal, but inferred it ain't proper. The three commission members had offered their services without pay to help things along.

OGDEN — Drummers of the Washington school drum corps were in possession Saturday of the first place award in the first annual city-wide school drum corps contest, which was conducted Friday night in the Ogden municipal stadium under auspices of Herman Baker post No. 9, American Legion.

Drum corps units of seven elementary schools in the city participated in the colorful program which was directed by Ray Minter. The festival was designed to replace the traditional Loyalty day celebration, which features a parade of Ogden city school students and musical units. Loyalty day observances have been discontinued for the duration.

Second prize went to the Mound Fort school unit and third place to the Quincy school corps. Judges were Colonels William A. McAdam and Ralph Poulton and L. Wesley Robbins, past commander of the legion post.

Special features were the salute to and the raising of the American flag, the pronouncing of the pledge of allegiance to the flag by the 1500 spectators, and the massing of 125 drum majorettes in a twirling exhibition.

Standing in rear are Lorna Grix (left), Janice McKay, Catherine Whetton and Madelyn Hillis, detachment captains.

Ogden high school girls today had come in for a share of glory after being presented with certificates of merit for establishing four first aid detachments at the school, the first of their type in Weber county. The detachments are made up of 180 girls who have completed standard and advanced first aid courses.

Each detachment during mock air raids, gathers at a predetermined station in the school building and establishes first aid posts.

The group was trained by Helena B. Case. Captains of the detachments are Lorna Grix, Janice McKay, Catherine Whetton and Madelyn Hillis.

As the girls are graduated each year, replacements will be recruited from those who completed standard training, so that the detachments will be carried on continuously.

Coroner's Jury Schedules Hearing on Slaying Of Ex-Convict During Quarrel in Ogden

By Telegram Leased Wire
OGDEN—A coroner's jury was scheduled to hear details of the fatal shooting of Robert William Savich, 31-year-old ex-convict, early Sunday morning in a lower Twenty-fifth street room at 2:30 p. m. Monday. It was announced by M. Elaine Peterson, Weber county attorney.

Meantime, the three-man jury Monday morning examined the body of the dead man at Lindquist and Sons mortuary, preparatory to the inquest during the afternoon.

Members of the jury, impaneled by Sheriff John H. Watson, were L. Wesley Robbins of 1148 Twenty-fourth street; E. R. Buckner of 823 Twenty-third street, and Ernest Wangsgard of 1120 Twenty-fourth street.

Paul Erz, partner in the Grill tavern at 261 Twenty-fifth street, above which the shooting occurred about 3:15 a. m. Sunday in residence quarters, was being held in Ogden city jail without bail pending outcome of the inquest to be conducted by Heber C. Carver, city judge pro tempore.

The Savich slaying, which makes Ogden's seventh case of homicide to go on record within a period of 30 days, came as a result of a quarrel between Erz and Savich. According to witnesses, Erz fired the fatal shot from a .30 caliber Luger automatic pistol in self-defense.

The shooting, reconstructed from statements by witnesses and reported by Police Lieutenant D. B. Ballantyne, is as follows:

Erz and his business partner, Lewis Cash, were in the tavern at about 5:45 a. m. Sunday checking Saturday receipts when Savich started up the stairway leading to the living quarters above the tavern. Mrs. Savich remained in their automobile in front of the tavern.

Savich previously had been warned by the partners to stay off the premises, and when they heard a noise overhead Mr. Cash went up to investigate. When he did not return immediately, Erz went upstairs after obtaining a pistol. He told officers he did this because Savich always carried a gun and it was a case of self-protection.

The two partners pleaded with Savich to leave and when Savich drew his .38 caliber revolver, Erz fired, according to A. H. Harkness, tavern bartender, a resident in the upstairs quarters and a witness to the shooting.

Savich, wounded, fled down the stairs and out on the street into his car, where Police Patrolman Frank W. Reader found him in the right front seat, blood dripping from his abdomen and from the fleshy part of his back. An ambulance took Savich to an Ogden hospital, where he died at 7:42 a. m. of internal bleeding.

The victim's widow, Mrs. Rinda Savich, 27, was booked at police headquarters on an open charge and released after she signed a statement. Statements also were obtained from Erz, Harkness and Cash.

Savich has a police record dating from June 22, 1931, when he was arrested in Tooele for investigation. The record also lists

Crowded Court Calendar Delays Inquest on Ogden Killing

OGDEN — Because witnesses were unable to finish their testimony Monday, the coroner's inquest on the shooting of Robert William Savich, 184 Twenty-fifth street, in an upstairs rooming house over the Grill tavern, 264 Twenty-fifth street, was continued until Wednesday at 10 a. m.

Paul Erz, 52, 3028 Jackson avenue, coproprietor of the Grill tavern, alleged slayer of Savich, is being held in the Ogden city jail without bail.

Members of the coroner's jury were E. R. Buckner, 823 Twenty-third street; L. Wesley Robbins, 1148 Twenty-fourth street, and Ernest Wangsgard, 1120 Twenty-fourth street. They listened to testimony until late Monday afternoon before continuing the inquest to Wednesday. The delay was explained as necessary because of the crowded calendar of Heber C. Carver, city judge pro tempore and acting coroner.

Mrs. Rinda Savich, the victim's widow; Lewis Cash, partner of Mr. Erz; "Bud" Logan, former prize fighter, near whose room the shooting occurred, and "Pat" Lockyer, who had been with Savich earlier Sunday morning, and J. H. Harkness, reportedly the caretaker of the upstairs apartments for the Grill tavern operators, were the chief witnesses present at the inquest Monday. Mr. Harkness was not called to testify.

Other witnesses who will testify Wednesday are Police Lieutenant D. B. Ballantyne, who was in charge of the investigation; Jack Delamare and Joseph Carroll. District Attorney John A. Hendricks questioned the witnesses Monday.

The circumstances surrounding the quarrel between Erz and Savich were brought out in the testimony. Mr. Cash told of hearing a commotion in the upstairs apartments and upon investigating found Savich and told him to leave the place. His partner joined him and gave a similar order to Savich.

Savich backed toward the doorway leading downstairs and reached toward his pocket, and Erz reportedly said:

"Don't reach for that gun."

Mr. Cash and Mr. Erz both said that they did not know he had been hit with a bullet that Mr. Erz fired when Savich drew his own gun.

Coroner Inquest Recesses In Ogden Shooting Case

Tribune Intermountain Wire

OGDEN — Failing to complete testimony as to details of the fatal shooting early Sunday morning of Robert William Savich, 184

Twenty-fifth street, in an upstairs rooming house over the Grill tavern at 264 Twenty-fifth street, a coroner's inquest was recessed late Monday afternoon until 10 a. m. Wednesday.

The delay was explained as necessary to accommodate the crowded court calendar of Heber C. Carver, city judge pro tempore and acting coroner.

Pending completion of the hearing, Paul Erz, 52, 3028 Jackson avenue, coproprietor of the Grill tavern and alleged wielder of the 30-caliber Luger automatic pistol with which the former McNeil Island federal prison inmate was killed, was held in Ogden city jail without bail.

The body of Savich was taken Monday afternoon from Lindquist and Sons mortuary in Ogden to the Tooele funeral home in Tooele, former home of Savich, where funeral and burial arrangements will be announced.

Go to Mortuary

Prior to removal of the body from Ogden, the three-man coroner's jury impaneled by Sheriff John R. Watson viewed the body at the mortuary here in preparation for hearing testimony at the inquest during the afternoon.

Members of the jury were E. R. Buckner, 823 Twenty-third street; L. Wesley Robbins, 1148 Twenty-fourth street, and Ernest Wangsgard, 1120 Twenty-fourth street.

Sitting through the Monday afternoon inquest session were the victim's father, Mike Savich; two sisters, Mrs. Bessie Helich and Miss Rose Savich of Salt Lake City, and a brother, Steve Savich of Tooele.

Placed under $500 bail bonds each by the court, at the request of M. Blaine Peterson, Weber county attorney, who conducted the interrogations, were five of those said to be key witnesses. One of these, J. H. Harkness, reportedly the caretaker of the upstairs apartments for the Grill tavern operators, was not called to testify Monday.

Witnesses Named

Those who testified and were later placed under bond to appear further if needed were the victim's wife, Mrs. Rinda Savich; Lewis Cash, partner of Mr. Erz; "Bud" Logan, former prize fighter, near whose room the shooting occurred, and "Pat" Lockyer, who had been with the Savichs earlier Sunday morning.

Other witnesses who were sworn Monday, but have yet to be called, include Police Lieutenant D. B. Ballantyne, who was in charge of the investigation; Jack Delamare and Joseph Carroll. Merle Gaul, another witness, testified only briefly.

Participating in the questioning of witnesses Monday was District Attorney John A. Hendricks.

Also at the counsel table sat Arthur Woolley, Ogden attorney, who took notes throughout the hearing. He indicated he was counsel for Mr. Erz, but since this was only an inquest, he did not take part in the questioning of witnesses.

Army Service Depot Wins Bond Award

Tribune Intermountain Wire

OGDEN — The office of the secretary of war has notified the Utah army service forces depot that it is to receive the "T" award flag for attaining the 90-10 goal in war bond sales. This award is made to the installations in which at least 90 per cent of all employees subscribe to a 10 per cent pay roll deduction for war bonds.

The Utah A S F depot is one of the first military installations in the Salt Lake valley to receive such an award.

Depot officials are forming plans to permit the award to be presented at an appropriate ceremony Saturday. Major General Kenyon A. Joyce of the Ninth service command is expected to present the flag, which will be received for the depot by a civilian employee elected by popular vote among the workers.

An open house will be held from 1 to 4 p. m. on Saturday to permit all depot personnel to invite guests to view the installation. Visitors will be welcome at this time to visit the depot. Guides will be on duty to supervise the tours.

Decision of Felonious Homicide Returned In Shooting of Savich

Ers Report to Police Will Be His Testimony

By Dorothy Porter
Standard-Examiner Staff

A decision of felonious homicide was returned today by a three-man jury at the conclusion of the coroner's inquest into the details of the fatal shooting early Sunday morning of Robert William Savich, 34, Twenty-fifth, in an upstairs rooming house over the Grill tavern at 364 Twenty-fifth.

The jury's decision read as follows: "Robert W. Savich came to death by a bullet fired from a gun held in the hand of Paul Ers, 384 1/2 Twenty-sixth. The bullet was fired with felonious intent."

Robert C. Carver, city judge pro tempore and acting coroner, ordered Ers held in custody without bail pending further action by the county attorney.

Four Witnesses

Four witnesses examined today by the county attorney told practically the same story as was told by witnesses called Tuesday, however, two of them, Joseph A. Carroll and Jack Delamar, both of the occupants of rooms over the Grill, testified they at no time saw a gun in the hand of Savich.

Ers did not take the stand. His attorney, Arthur Woolley, stated that Ers had given a written report to police officers and asked that this be admitted as his testimony.

Ers stated he had guns upstairs and had taken a gun because he saw Bob go up and was expecting trouble.

The two other witnesses called were Albert Harkness, bartender at the Grill and in charge of the rooms over the tavern, and Lieut. Dave R. Ballantyne of the Ogden police department.

Witnesses claimed the trouble started when a mysterious stranger picked up by Mr. and Mrs. Savich, Bud Logan and Pat Lockyer at the Apollo club, accused Savich of taking his money belt.

According to the testimony of Albert Harkness, he was asleep in an upstairs room when his wife awakened him and told him there was trouble in the hall.

"I went into the hall and saw Ers and Savich standing there. They were quarreling. Ers was asking Bob to leave."

"Bob and I were good friends and I thought I could stop the fighting. I walked over to him and asked him to cut out the rough stuff and get out. He wouldn't answer me. I turned then and saw a gun in Ers's hand, so stepped to one side and at this time saw a gun in Bob's hand. I heard neither make any remark about shooting the other. I went both to cut it out but didn't want any rough stuff. Ers and I saw Bob turn and head downstairs."

"I went into the kitchen and Paul (Ers) came in a few seconds later. We went back into the hall and Paul and Lewis Cash, partner of Mr. Ers in the tavern business, went down stairs. I went back into my apartment."

Near Line of Fire

Harkness testified he was standing so near to the line of fire he felt either the heat of the bullet or powder as it sped past.

Jack Delamar, roomer, said the first he knew of the trouble was when he heard someone complaining of losing a money belt. "I thought it was Red (Joseph) Carroll, another roomer, so went out to investigate," Delamar said. "Red was in the hall, but the rumble was coming from a room occupied by Bud Logan. Red and I walked over there and saw Bob, a girl (identified as Pat Lockyer), Lewis Cash and a stranger in Logan's room."

"Bob was just leaving the room, but making no particular effort to go any place. Cash asked the people to leave and the stranger went downstairs. Bob hangered and again Cash asked him to leave. Carroll said he was tired of it all and went downstairs and whistled. I suppose he was whistling for an officer. Soon Ers came upstairs, followed shortly after by Carroll."

"Ers asked Bob what he was doing there and Bob replied it was none of his business. Ers said it was none of his business as he had told Bob he didn't want him up there and didn't want any trouble with him."

"I later heard Ers say, 'don't go for that gun or I'll blast you, Bob,' at no time saw a gun in Bob's hand."

Officer Testifies

Lieut. Ballantyne testified that when he reached the scene he saw Bob lying on his left side in the room out of his ear. No one else was with him. Arrangements had

Traffic Safety Urged in Talk

The goal of Weber county safety council is no more traffic fatalities this year, it was announced by A. G. Nord, council president, who was Rotary club speaker today.

This is to be accompanied by more traffic safety education, aid of public spirited citizens, removal of traffic hazards, and better traffic law enforcement.

The reduction of traffic fatalities from 19 in 1937 to seven to date this year, is largely due to the cooperation of members of the Rotary club, Mr. Nord said. The club has an active safety committee which is producing results, Mr. Nord said.

The speaker pointed out that with Ogden's present population the city should have 24 traffic officers instead of only six at present.

Traffic Sgt. Darrel E. Shaw of the Ogden police department scored women with children and business men who endanger their lives by jay-walking. He pointed out in discussing safe driving evidently some citizens are proud of their homes and proud of their victory gardens but are not proud of their driving.

The cost per capita for traffic fatalities is higher than the per capita for crime or fire, the officer said. He gave these figures: crime costs 20 cents per capita, fire $1.80 per capita, and traffic fatalities $17.20 per capita. The figures were for 1942.

Jury Returns Verdict of Felonious Homicide Against Slayer of Ogden Ex-Convict

OGDEN—Robert William Savich, 31, of 184 Twenty-fifth street, came to his death above a Twenty-fifth street tavern by a bullet fired from a gun held by Paul Erz, 52, coproprietor of the Grill tavern, and "the jury finds the act was felonious homicide," was the verdict of a coroner's jury shortly after noon Wednesday.

As the result of the jury verdict, Erz, held in Ogden city jail since the fatal shooting Sunday morning, was returned to his cell without bail, pending decision of M. Blaine Peterson, Weber county attorney, and Ogden city police as to charges to be filed.

Members of the jury were E. R. Buckner, L. Wesley Robbins and Ernest Wangsgard of Ogden.

The hearing was concluded before Heber C. Carver, Ogden city judge pro tempore, with M. Blaine Peterson, Weber county attorney, conducting the questioning.

Claims Self-Defense

Savich was allegedly shot by Paul Erz, 52, coproprietor of the Grill tavern at 254 Twenty-fifth street, at the rooming house directly above the tavern. According to most of the testimony introduced at the inquest, the shooting followed Savich being ordered out of the upstairs hallway, and after Erz believed Savich was going to shoot him.

Testifying Wednesday morning were J. H. Harkness, bartender in the tavern and in charge of renting the upstairs rooms; Jack Delamare and Joseph (Red) Carroll, roomers, and Police Lieutenant D. B. Ballantyne, who conducted the investigation following the fatal shooting.

Harkness testified that he saw Savich raise his gun "almost level" before Erz shot the former federal prison inmate, and then "ducked into my kitchen" before the shot was fired.

Neither Carroll nor Delamare, according to their testimony, saw the gun allegedly held by Savich, but both men saw Erz with his gun after ordering Savich out of the upstairs hallway several times. They also said they heard Lewis Cash, partner of Erz, order Savich to leave the place before Erz came up from the tavern with his gun.

"I first saw Bob (Savich) emerging from the room of Logan, occupied by Pat Lockyer and a strange man I had never seen before nor since," said Mr. Delamare.

Ordered Victim Out

After Mr. Cash had argued with Savich, and Savich had "seemed to stall," Erz came upstairs and said:

"What are you doing here?" Mr. Delamare testified.

"None of your business," Savich reportedly answered.

"Bob, it is my business," Erz reportedly answered. "I've told you before I don't want you here, and I want you to leave now."

Savich, the testimony continued, still "stalled" near the door to the stairway leading down to the Twenty-fifth street sidewalk.

"Don't you go for that gun," Erz was said to have warned, and Delamare said he "ducked" out of the expected line of fire.

"I got out of the line of fire," Delamare said with all seriousness. "I couldn't understand why Bob didn't get out. The next thing I knew there was the report of a gun fired, and Bob went down stairs."

Witness Testifies

A corroborating story was told by Mr. Carroll, who said he got up and came out into the hallway when he heard someone say, "I want my wallet," and he saw a man in "shorts" talking to Savich.

"I haven't got your 'poke,'" Savich reportedly answered.

"Bob was coatless, and he didn't have a gun in his hands when I saw him," Mr. Carroll said. "I knew there was going to be trouble, so I went down to the sidewalk and whistled twice, hoping I'd find a police officer. Then Erz came out of the tavern and went upstairs and I followed him."

"Then I went into my room, because I knew there was going to be shooting. Erz had his gun raised level three or four times. When I came back into the hall after the shot was fired the hall was empty, but I saw the bullet hole in the door panel and thought Erz had missed. I said to myself, 'My God, how could a man miss that close.'"

"He then started down the stairs, and Savich was running down ahead of him," he said. "I then went into Harkness' room for a minute and then back to my own room and went to sleep. I did not know Bob had been shot until I woke up about 1 p. m.," he added.

Four Odd Fellows to Get Jeweled Service Pins

George W. Dearing, noble grand of the Salt Lake lodge No. 2, IOOF, will be presented with a jeweled 50-year pin for continuous service at a special program in the lodge hall, 41 Post Office place, Friday at 8 p. m.

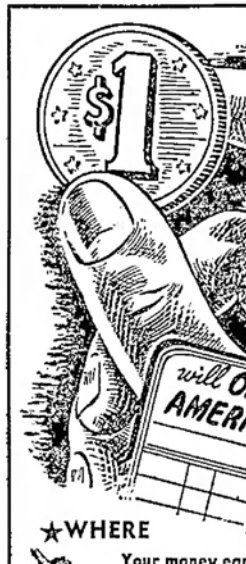

Three other members receiving jewels for continuous service are L. L. Duquette, past noble grand, 30-year pin; Dr. John W. Sugden, past grand master, and Charles A. Osborne, both 25-year pins.

Lieutenant Ballantyne told of being summoned to the scene of the shooting by radio car and finding Savich slumped in his car, his head to the west, with no one else with him. Later, after talking to Cash and Erz and coming back to the car, he saw Mrs. Savich with the gun Savich allegedly had put in her handbag. He asked for the gun, then ordered Mrs. Savich taken to the police station and held until he later questioned her there.

The unidentified "Mr. X," as he was referred to by Mr. Peterson, was not known to any witnesses, nor has he been seen since he was said to have occupied the room of "Bud" Logan in the rooming house with "Pat" Lockyer, a witness last Monday afternoon, before the stranger allegedly lost his wallet.

Witnesses Monday included Miss Lockyer, Mr. Cash, Mrs. Rinda Savich, widow of the slain man; Mr. Logan and Merle Gaul.

Mr. Erz has been held without bail in Ogden city jail since the shooting. His attorney, Arthur Woolley, informed the court his client had made a typewritten, signed statement to the police Sunday after the shooting, and declined to make a further statement during the inquest.

Charges Loom in Ogden Rooming House Killing

Tribune Intermountain Wire

OGDEN — Filing of murder charges against Paul Erz, 52, of 3028 Jackson avenue, Wednesday loomed when a coroner's jury returned a verdict of felonious homicide in the fatal shooting early Sunday of Robert William Savich, 31, in an upstairs rooming house on lower Twenty-fifth street.

Study of the verdict and evidence brought out in the two-day session of the coroner's inquest was being made Wednesday afternoon by County Attorney M. Blaine Peterson.

"That I will have to file charges of murder became inevitable with the return of the jury's verdict," Mr. Peterson explained late Wednesday afternoon. "However, since hearing the testimony of the inquest, I have not yet thought the matter through to determine the degree of murder to be alleged in the complaint I shall file."

Further conferences with District Attorney John A. Hendricks were to be held, he indicated. Actual filing of the complaint was expected to be done some time Thursday.

Returns Verdict

After hearing testimony of six witnesses called by Mr. Peterson before Heber C. Carver, Ogden city judge pro tempore and acting coroner, Monday afternoon, and four others Wednesday forenoon, the jury brought its verdict in shortly after noon Wednesday.

The verdict read:

"The above-named Robert William Savich came to his death on August 22, 1943, by a bullet fired from the gun in the hand of Paul Erz at 262½ Twenty-fifth street, Ogden, Utah. The jury finds the act was felonious homicide."

Foreman of the jury was E. R. Buckner, with Ernest Wangsgard and L. Wesley Robbins, all of Ogden, members of the jury.

Questioning of witnesses Wednesday brought out corroborating evidence that Savich, a former McNeil Island federal prison inmate, had gone to the rooming house above the Grill tavern at 264 Twenty-fifth street, and that Lewis Cash, copartner in the tavern and rooming house with Erz, followed him up, attempting to get Savich out of the place.

While J. H. Harkness, bartender in the tavern and in charge of the rooms upstairs, testified Wednesday that Savich took a gun from a back pocket in his trousers, Jack DeLaMare and Joseph (Red) Carroll, roomers in the upstairs place, testified they did not see a gun at any time in the hands of the victim of the shooting.

Tells About Gun

Mr. Harkness definitely testified Savich had a gun, and when Erz ordered him to leave he "took a gun out of his right hind pocket," and Mr. Harkness said "I ducked into my kitchen and stayed until Paul (Erz) came in after the shooting."

Other witness at the Wednesday hearing was Police Lieutenant D. B. Ballantyne, who told of being called to the scene of the fatal shooting by police radio, and finding Patrolman Frank Reeder already at the place.

He said he saw Savich slumped over in his car, but Mrs. Savich was not there at the time. She later came to the car, and when Mr. Ballantyne asked her for her purse he opened it and found the gun she said "Bob asked me to ditch it" when he came downstairs after the shooting. He, also, declared he had never found any trace of the mysterious "Mr. X" other witnesses testified had been in Logan's room with Miss Lockyer.

Savich died shortly after 7:30 a. m. Sunday in an Ogden hospital while doctors were attempting to relieve his shocked condition prior to any attempted surgery.

In Ogden Club World

With clubs going into full swing in Ogden these days a number of new officers are taking up their respective duties. Among the outstanding club events of the week was the installation dinner held at Hotel Ben Lomond on Monday by the Women's Auxiliary to the American Legion, Herman Baker Post No. 9.

Mrs. L. Wesley Robbins, retiring president, with her staff of officers was in charge of the affair. Mrs. Blanche Anderson of Farmington, president of District No. 2, officiated at the installation and was assisted by Mrs. Joe Drysdale, sergeant-at-arms. Acting as toastmaster was Mrs. James A. Howell. Mrs. Beulah H. Gavin was in charge of decorations and Mrs. R. L. Harlin and Mrs. Marvel Reeve, reservations and tables.

The officers who will head the organization this season are: Mrs. Arthur Woolley, president; Mrs. Clifford Huss, vice president; Mrs. I. N. Butler, second vice president; Mrs. J. L. Roush, recording secretary; Mrs. Aaron Horne, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lester Patten, treasurer; Mrs. Cecil Frew, historian; Mrs. Elizabeth Bell Christensen, chaplain; Mrs. Joseph Drysdale, sergeant-at-arms.

Officers assisting Mrs. Robbins at the banquet were Mrs. Wilford Gwilliam, Mrs. R. C. Glasmann, Mrs. J. L. Roush, Mrs. Aaron Horne, Mrs. Cecil Frew and Mrs. Jennie Steed. Mrs. David A. Scott presented Mrs. L. Wesley Robbins with a past president's pin. There were forty members and guests attending the event. A number of state department officers were special guests.

Students Lauded For Sacrifices

Another unit of volunteer nurse's aides from Ogden received their caps Friday evening at exercises conducted in the L. D. S. institute of religion on Twenty-fourth. Principal speakers were Miss Lillian Wurzel, field director of Red Cross activities at Bushnell general hospital, Brigham City; Lieut. Sarah Corcoran, also of Bushnell, and Vera B. Thorpe, Red Cross field representative for Utah.

Friends and relatives of the graduating class, other nurse's aides and others attended the exercises.

Without Payment

Particular credit should be given to nurse's aides because they go through long hours of intensive training without pay, it was pointed out.

Dr. J. G. Olson spoke briefly, complimenting the class in its special effort and sacrifice of time and pleasure.

Mrs. Leonard G. Diehl, committee chairman, was congratulated by L. Wesley Robbins, Weber chapter vice chairman, for her diligent effort to recruit and train competent nurse's aides.

The roll of membership was called by Mrs. O. C. Hammond, class instructor. As each member came forward she was presented with the regulation blue uniform cap by Mrs. Earl Harris, class supervisor, and the Red Cross pin by Dr. R. L. Draper, class advisor, certifying to the completion of the prescribed training course. This requires three hours per day for six weeks of technical study and practical application.

Nurse's aides with a minimum of 250 hours of practical training are being assigned to assist at Bushnell general hospital.

Class Members

Those graduating were: Mary E. Ashcraft, Lucille Blaes, Luella Bouwhuis, Ruth Chugg, Janice Daley, Helena Danielson, Lula Decker, Thelma Fleming, Mary Lou Flynn, Virginia Gailey, Rosemary Gould, Mary Louise Hadlock, Helen Heimke, Phyllis June Hilton, Wanda Jacobson, Carolyn Johnson, Jessene Pack, Mrs. Blaine Parrish, Irene Pope, Elizabeth Richardson, Twila M. Sundall, Olive Wilkie and Donna Mae Woodbury.

Nationally, this group has grown from 364 nurse's aides in 19 chapters on Dec. 7, 1941, to more than over 950 chapters, at the present time. Their services are much in demand to help maintain community health in hospitals and clinics where staffs have been seriously depleted as a result of doctors and nurses joining the armed forces, stated Mr. Robbins.

One hundred thousand volunteer nurse's aides are needed this year to relieve trained nurses of many routine hospital duties, so the latter may devote their time to more technical work. Recently the army requested that the services of nurse's aides be made available to army general and station hospitals.

A new class will be started about Jan. 1 next and Mrs. Diehl is now accepting applications and inquiries for this important work.

Bennett's Report

A report of the highlights of accomplishments by Weber chapter and present state of finances was given by Chairman Bennett.

"American National Red Cross has reached an all-time peak in performance," stated Mr. Bennett. "The duties of Red Cross workers fall into two general categories. One is the traditional service in response to the charter obligation given the Red Cross by congress to 'act in matters of voluntary relief' and 'as a medium of communication between the people of the United States of America and their army and navy.' The other is the expanded program of recreation set up to help meet a definite need in morale."

"Workers in Weber chapter are more than doing their share both on the home front and in materials furnished and service rendered the boys overseas and I wish to express my appreciation."

Growth Increase

L. Wesley Robbins, recently back from a meeting at Red Cross headquarters in San Francisco, reported a tremendous increase in Red Cross activity overseas for men and women in military service.

"The first objective of national Red Cross is now service overseas and all funds, supplies and personnel will be concentrated hereafter on that effort until the war is won," he said. "Home front service will be minimized as far as possible."

Mr. Robbins also reported on the favorable reaction service men are bringing Ogden and Weber county through the Red Cross canteen in the union depot. Some 41,000 service men and women have called at the canteen for luncheon refreshments during the past year, with a total close to half a million since the canteen was opened in March, 1942.

Mr. Robbins stated that Weber chapter also rates well in the Pacific area because "every phase of volunteer service is organized and operating in this county."

Club Hears Talk On Red Cross

At the Speech club meeting Walter E. Mann gave a 10-minute talk on the functions of the Red Cross and the importance of this organization. Mr. Mann also acted as chairman for the evening. Enthusiasm in speeches was stressed by James D. Jeffs in his review of the textbook, Chester O. Garlick talked for five minutes on the subject, "Should Fathers Be Drafted?" Mrs. P. C. Richardson acted as critic for the evening. The three-minute talks were on experiences and current events.

Next Monday evening Mrs. George Sawyer will act as chairman, E. M. Frichard will give the book review, Mrs. Hazel L. Newey will give the 10-minute talk and E. R. Cunningham will give the five-minute talk. James D. Jeffs will act as class critic. The three-minute talks will be on Christmas or a current event.

Mr. Pryor will be interested in meeting applicants for all types of positions in the Red Cross organization. The greatest need at this time is for women as staff assistants in overseas clubs and hospital staff aides.

Mr. Robbins added:

The Red Cross organization has a tremendous task ahead and we welcome applications for this work for duty here at home or for overseas assignment. Arrangements can be made for an interview with Mr. Pryor by calling telephone 2-6345 or 7961.

Dads Advised to Get War Jobs

An appeal for fathers to get into critical war industries was made today by L. Wesley Robbins, chairman of draft board No. 5, who pointed out that there are still 5,000 unfilled jobs at the U. S. employment service, 2620 Washington, which need to be filled. "Pre-Pearl Harbor fathers must support these war industries or face possibility of being drafted," said Mr. Robbins.

He pointed out that fathers after they are ordered to report to Fort Douglas for examination, may not be inducted into the U. S. armed forces even if they pass their examination," said Mr. Robbins, "as will the case of Harold Clifford, father of six who was mentioned in Tuesday's paper."

"We need more men in critical war jobs as well as in the armed services in this area," added Mr. Robbins, appealing for support of war industries.

Giles Takes Bramwell Probe Task

State to Sift Resignation Of Ogden Mayor

Special investigators working under Attorney General Grover A. Giles will begin an immediate investigation of the "circumstances surrounding the resignation" Tuesday of Mayor Kent S. Bramwell of Ogden.

Decision to initiate the inquiry under state direction was reached Thursday afternoon at a brief conference between Attorney General Giles and M. Blaine Peterson, Weber county attorney, in the state capitol. Reason given for the procedure was that Mr. Peterson felt it would be more difficult for the county to make the proper investigation than it would be for the state.

According to the request of the Weber county official, Attorney General Giles agreed to assign special investigators to the task.

In Ogden, assurances were given by Chief of Police T. R. Johnson, City Commissioner Harold L. Welch and Mr. Peterson that the inquiry would go into all the rumors and speculation resulting from the sudden resignation of the 31-year-old mayor, who was elected last fall.

Denies Irregularities

Mr. Bramwell, now a private in the U. S. army, has firmly denied any irregularities in his brief administration, insisting that his action was prompted by a desire to get into the armed services.

Mr. Peterson emphasized that the request of his office for an investigation was not an "attack" on Mr. Bramwell but an effort to clear up reports and rumors in the interest of the former mayor, the city and its residents.

Meanwhile, interest in Ogden shifted from speculation on the reasons for the young mayor's resignation to speculation on his successor, who will be named by Commissioners Welch and William D. Wood, who is expected momentarily to return from Fort Worth, Texas.

A group of citizens and business men reportedly were urging Police Chief Johnson to apply for the position, but his name was not on the list of applications received by Commissioner Welch.

Services Offered

E. T. Saunders, former city commissioner who was defeated by Mr. Welch in the 1943 election, and J. W. Arrington, former Weber county commissioner, offered their services personally, the commissioner reported.

A labor delegation, headed by Clinton F. Carroll, presented the name of W. I. Lowe, president of the Ogden Trades and Labor assembly.

Recommendations also were made in behalf of Carl A. Lindquist, Ogden mortician and former Kiwanis club president; William J. Rackham, former city commissioner, a candidate for mayor last fall and now superintendent of city waterworks; George W. Crawford, railroad labor leader; Chester J. Olsen, U. S. forest service official and immediate past president of the chamber of commerce; John A. Junk, principal of the Central high school; L. Wesley Robbins, music store manager; C. Angus Wright, who opposed Mr. Bramwell in the final election last fall; W. R. White, speaker of the state house of representatives; J. R. Bachman, executive of the Amalgamated Sugar company and president of the Associated Civic clubs of northern Utah; George F. Simmons, chairman of the Weber county commission; R. C. Duvall, Ogden financier and president of the chamber of commerce, and Harman W. Peery, Ogden's four-term "cowboy" mayor. Former Mayor Peery was eliminated in the qualifying primary last fall.

The Bramwell resignation will not become official before Thursday at 10 a. m. and then only if Commissioner Wood is back from Fort Worth.

Before the conference in the state capitol Police Chief Johnson conferred with County Attorney Peterson.

"It is my opinion," he said after the meeting, "that a full and complete investigation should be initiated at once. However, I am an appointee of the mayor, and the police department was under his jurisdiction. Therefore, I believe any investigation should be made by a competent independent investigator."

Chairman Sawyer Thanks All Who Had Part in Successful Fund Drive

With the sum of $136,262 raised against a goal of $125,000 and additional funds still coming in, the jubilant Weber county Red Cross war fund drive organization was disbanding today with the exception of a headquarters staff. There was checking and double checking to be done in preparation for the complete audit of the campaign.

Chairman Frank D. Sawyer, in thanking everybody who had a part in the successful campaign, pointed out that the $136,262 does not represent the entire accomplishment. His organization collected additional thousands which, however, came from residents of Davis county who are employed at the military depots and so will be transferred to Davis chapter of the Red Cross.

"All divisions of the drive performed smoothly and efficiently, upholding the reputation of this community for public spirited team work," Chairman Sawyer said. "All divisions have exceeded their quotas by substantial amounts. I wish to thank all the persons and organizations who have given so unstintingly of their time to make this campaign a success. The sponsors of the luncheons we have enjoyed, the newspapers for widespread publicity, KLO radio for valuable support, the many firms using Red Cross newspaper advertising space, the management of the theatres of Ogden for their co-operation, the hundreds of committee workers who willingly contributed their time and effort, the office girls for their unceasing efforts, and the loyal contributing public, who are, of course, actually the ones who provided the funds. Citizens of Ogden and Weber county may sit back with a satisfied feeling of a job well done.

Costs Held Down

"Our campaign costs have been held to less than seven-tenths of one cent, which was the national average last year. I feel very pleased with this showing, which was possible only because all services and facilities were donated to the cause. Invited to the final luncheon were the officers and board of directors of Weber county Red Cross chapter, including E. G. Bennett, chairman. They are:

L. Wesley Robbins, vice chairman; G. M. Jones, treasurer; Dr. Frank Douglas, secretary; Mrs. Leah P. Greenwell, executive secretary, and Directors A. Parley Bates, W. J. Critchlow, Jr., Frank D. Sawyer, Harold S. Campbell, June Stimson, Major Russell L. Baker, Colonel W. I. Moore, Rev. George Argyle, Dr. E. P. Mills, J. H. Riley, Lucille Chambers, Mrs. Val Browning, Mrs. Elva A. Kunz, Mrs. H. A. Benning, Rev. John Edward Carver, George F. Simmons, Dr. Aldous Dixon, Merrill J. Bunnell, W. I. Lowe, Rod E. Edens, Frank G. Brown, Ross C. Glasman, Lawrence H. Evans, W. G. Hall, Samuel G. Dye, Rev. W. J. Giroux, C. B. Doty, Walter E. Mann, Richard C. Badger, L. R. Roylance, William Wood, Samuel C. Powell, Fred Kuhlmann, E. R. Buckner, Don Leader, Leonard G. Diehl, A. Levin, Roy Young, L. B. Cornish and George W. Craddock.

Offices Remain Open

War fund campaign offices in the Hotel Ben Lomond will remain open for business until the end of this week, Mr. Sawyer said. Chairmen should continue their work until solicitation of all areas has been completed and all funds and reports turned in. After this week all records will be transferred back to the Red Cross headquarters on the fifth floor of the city-county building, he said.

Collections by Divisions

The final computation of collections by divisions gave the following figures: Men's division, $5,988; residence, $12,638; men's and women's clubs, $1,884; Weber county, $6,768; public employees, $7,532; public service, $27,274; military, $35,423; commercial, $16,842; industrial, $15,513; special gifts, $6,380. Total collected to date, $136,262.

Plans Formed to Aid Veterans' Return to Jobs

"Organization of the veterans' advisory council, under the sponsorship of the war manpower commission and the Ogden area post-war coordinating council, has been perfected and plans are now progressing which are designed to aid returning veterans to make the transition from military to civilian life with a minimum amount of confusion," a statement said.

"An increasing number of men and women of all ages and conditions are being released from the armed forces and will face bewildering difficulties during their period of readjustment," said Harvey N. Rich, manager of the local U. S. employment service office and executive secretary of the council. "There are many things they will want to know, many questions which must be answered, and many benefits to which they are entitled."

"Realizing the obligation Ogden owes to its veterans, and in order to carry out orderly and direct services to these discharged, the council is now outlining definite responsibilities of the member agencies," Rich concluded.

The council is composed of Chester C. Olsen, president, representing the chamber of commerce; R. A. Clarke, vice president, Weber college; Harvey N. PAWLING, N. Y. — The public has gained the impression that Mrs. Tom Dewey is shy and retiring, but her neighbors disagree. I asked the butcher, banker, beauty shop operator, druggist, dry goods merchant, pastor, editor of the country weekly, and her close friends in this village.

They all say Mrs. Dewey is a good mixer, has a keen wit, and tells good stories. Mrs. Lowell Thomas, wife of the news commentator and a close friend of the Dewey family, is one of her ardent admirers. "She has a gift of repartee that makes you mentally rise to your toes," Mrs. Thomas confides.

Her more observant neighbors say she's an astute politician. Few suspect her gift for political acumen because of the self-effacing role Mrs. Dewey plays as wife and mother. Governor Dewey has more faith in her keen powers of analysis than he has in many associates more obviously labeled as politicians.

Reports News of Day

While she's nursing Tom Jr., aged 11, and John, 9, through the whooping cough, measles, chicken pox or attacks of tonsillitis, Mrs. Dewey is conning the day's radio opinions, which will be delivered in a succinct package to her busy husband. While she's about her wifely duties shopping in the village or running back and forth to New York on errands for her family, she will chat with the local

Draft Units Call Farmers to Take Winter War Jobs

Selective service boards and the U. S. employment service, working jointly, today issued a call to all men engaged in agriculture, with a 2-C classification, to take jobs in essential industries during the winter months.

L. Wesley Robbins, chairman of board No. 2, opened the meeting of officials and growers, held in the Weber college auditorium, by commending the farmers for the work done in food production and explained the attitude of selective service toward deferred registrants who take industrial employment during their slack season.

"Your draft boards knew that you were good farmers when they deferred you," said Mr. Robbins, "and they want you back on your farms in the spring, but now that winter has come they are urging you to take jobs in the war plants and in local industries with high priority rating where your services are urgently needed."

Termed Imperative

"It is imperative," said Mr. Robbins, "that all registrants who have been granted occupational deferment be employed full-time in support of the war effort. The 2-C registrants who are still occupied with farm work or who were unable to attend the meeting are therefore requested to go to the U. S. employment service as soon as they are available and take essential work. Several industries have indicated a willingness to arrange a work schedule which will permit farmers to feed their livestock and milk their cows before going on shift."

The group was informed that accepting employment for a limited time or on a part-time basis will in no way affect their 2-C classification. Mr. Robbins stated that a few registrants who are now 2-C will shortly be placed in 1-A but that reclassification will be made regardless of whether they take work in industry or not.

Harvey N. Rich, local manager of the USES, cited the critical need for male labor in this area and listed the industries where the most urgent manpower shortage exists and which directly contribute to the war effort.

Fifty Men Signed

Mr. Rich introduced the interviewers who were prepared to place the men on the jobs of their choice within the approved category. Approximately 50 men immediately took placement at the war plants and with concerns which have high priority ratings and a critical shortage of male workers.

According to instructions issued by selective service, all agricultural workers who intend to take employment in industry are required to notify their draft board in writing of the type and location of the job and the approximate dates they will be employed and obtain the board's approval prior to going on the job, and again when they return to the farm.

valley will be given permission to work until March 1 and those from Huntsville and other localities in the upper valley, where the planting season is later, may work in industry until April 1, if they desire.

Let's Get Acquainted

A new name has been added to our town—that of "Robbins"—L. Wesley Robbins and family. Mr. Robbins is manager of the Glen Brothers Music Company, holds the position of Vice-Chairman of the Weber County Chapter of the American Red Cross, is Secretary of the Salvation Army Board, is a member of the Rotary and Executive Clubs and has played a prominent part in many civic affairs in Ogden.

He with his wife and family have purchased and are now living in the Joseph Barker home. Incidentally they tell us that they are very pleased with their new home and surroundings and no amount of persuasion could take them back to the city. Mr. Robbins is a native of Burley, Idaho and his wife a native of Salt Lake City, but they have lived in Ogden since 1924. Just prior to moving here they lived in the 13th ward of the Ogden Stake, where Mrs. Robbins acted as secretary of the Relief Society for four years. For the past two years she has been working at the Administrative Branch of the New Specialized Depot at Hill Field.

Their eldest son, "Bud," is in the Marine Air Corps studying to be an aerial gunner, and is at present stationed at El Centro, California.

They have three other children—Sharon, Renee and Dick, who are attending the North Ogden School.

We welcome this new family to our ward and community.

Tribute Paid Nurses Aides In Banquet at Ben Lomond

Highlighting social events of the week was the delightful banquet given Tuesday evening at Hotel Ben Lomond for Nurses Aides of the local Red Cross by the staff of the Thomas D. Dee hospital, with Superintendent and Mrs. Lawrence M. Evans as host and hostess.

High tribute was paid to Mrs. Leonard G. Diehl, who organized the group and acted as chairman since its inception in 1941. Under her direction, the membership has grown from a mere dozen to 311, of whom 277 have been active. About 104 of these were present at the banquet.

The tables were especially gay with large valentine hearts and smaller ones for place card favors. Red tapers in a seven-branched circular candelabrum and three-branched candelabrum were placed intermittently along the table set for officials and special guests.

Mrs. C. M. McCain, Nurses Aides chairman of the 1946 group, introduced Mr. Evans as toastmaster, who welcomed the guests and presented the various speakers.

Community singing was held throughout the evening, led by Mrs. Stuart P. Dobbs with Mrs. Byron Wittemore at the piano. The Mtany was given by Mrs. Clyde T. Greenwell, solos by Miss Marie Noorda and comic readings by Miss Jean Binnie. Short talks and acknowledgments were given by L. Wesley Robbins, chairman of Weber county chapter of Red Cross; Miss Lucille Taylor, supervisor of nurses at the hospital; Miss La Verna Peterson, public health supervisor; Mrs. A. Earle Harris, day supervisor of Nurses Aides at the Dee hospital; Mrs. O. C. Hammond, director of nursing services; Mrs. J. Arthur Mathews, Mrs. Jules A. N. Dieu and Mrs. John L. Overman, they having served over 2000 hours; Mrs. C. A. Shreeve, night supervisor of Nurses Aides at the hospital; Mrs. William J. Rackham and Miss Lucille Wright.

Mr. Evans studied the evening with bits of sparkling comedy as toastmaster, and Mr. Robbins stressed the appreciation of patients for the service given by the Nurses Aides, as above all others, and stated that if the spirit of service demonstrated by these Aides could prevail throughout the world, there would be no future wars.

Mrs. Diehl, whose experience in Red Cross work, dates back to the days before she came here from Montana with her husband, Mr. Diehl, general manager of The Standard-Examiner, was presented with an elegant gift by the group.

In response, she expressed appreciation for the cooperation and unity of the Aides in sacrificing their time for service at the hospital, verifying Mr. Evans' statement that 58,000 hours were given by the organization.

"The greatest satisfaction in life," she said, "is service, and I do hope that these Aides will continue to help once in a while until this shortage of personnel at the hospital is overcome."

"We have a great place in the peace to come," she continued, and still have many days ahead of us before this place is a definite certainty."

Mrs. Diehl also commended the group for its excellent service, combined with the civilian defense and all other of the Red Cross organizations at the time disaster struck Ogden.

The Diehls both dynamos of energy, came here in 1937 and each have led exceptionally active lives in the community and have made many friends.

Director Calls Rehearsals For Friday Event

Final rehearsals for the fourth annual drum corps festival of Ogden city schools, scheduled for Friday at six p. m. in the municipal stadium, will be conducted among the nine participating units today, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, said Ray Minter, festival director.

In Groups of Three

Minter said rehearsals will be conducted in groups of three units each today, Tuesday and Wednesday at four p. m. in the stadium, and the massed units will assemble for the final rehearsal Thursday at four p. m.

Minter, trainer of the nine public school drum and bugle units, said the traditional festival was made possible through the cooperation of the city board of education; Supt. W. Karl Hopkins, and the principals of the respective schools.

Units participating will represent Mound Fort, Grant, Madison, Pingree, Polk, Lorin Farr, Washington, Hopkins and Quincy.

Judges Appointed

Judges named by the festival director are L. Wesley Robbins, Col. Ralph Poulton and Milton Boyle. The contesting units will be judged on the basis of cadence and playing, with emphasis on rhythm and twirling, 40 points; marching, with emphasis on alignment, 40 points, and general appearance, 20 points.

The festival, which attracted 5,000 spectators to the stadium last year, will be free of charge to the public. However, Director Minter asks that the entire audience be seated prior to the starting hour to avoid disturbance and confusion during the flag ceremony, which will initiate the demonstration.

Legion Band Assists

The American Legion junior band, also under Minter's direction, will lead the units into the stadium. Once on the field, the bands will stand at attention in formation while their respective flags will be advanced en masse to the reviewing stand. Then the Legion junior band will play the national anthem, and the audience will stand to recite the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

One of the colorful features of the program will be a mass twirling demonstration by the majorettes appearing with the various units, Minter said.

"Once again the citizens of Weber county are asked to support the American Red Cross," Chairman Hammond said Saturday. "All of us will want to give generously. We need no reminder of the outstanding services rendered by the Red Cross in time of disaster, need and helplessness."

"We have come to know almost instinctively that the Red Cross will be on hand in times of local disaster. In continuing its program to help war veterans in need and in its new program to establish blood banks for use by people all over the country, the Red Cross demonstrates day by day that it merits our wholehearted support. I am confident the people of Weber county will make certain that the $54,985 county goal is fully reached, for there is no more impressive indication of international good-will than through the actions of the Red Cross organizations."

Hammond announced that President Truman's addresses officially opening the Red Cross national campaign will be heard from Key West, Florida, tonight at seven-thirty. On the same program will be heard other governmental officials and well-known entertainers.

Group Sees Need For Delevoping Areas in Canyons

Persons attending a luncheon meeting to discuss recreation areas in Ogden and South Fork canyons agreed the community was lagging in developing such areas.

The Weber county commissioners' project for the purchase of the Buck Anderson ranch, South Fork, was applauded, but the consensus was that this is only a good start.

Immediate steps, it was agreed, should be taken to obtain 55 acres on the north shore of Pine View lake to make of this now privately owned land a public recreation area.

As an outcome of the meeting, held Friday the Ogden chamber of commerce recreation committee was urged to cooperate with the county commissioners to prepare a proposed project seeking state help in the recreation program.

The proposed project will be sent to the state publicity and development commission, of which Aaron W. Tracy is chairman.

The meeting was sponsored by the Ogden chamber of commerce. President Fred A. Kuhlmann presided. County Commissioners Lyman M. Hess and Arthur P. Brown and P. I. D. Chairman Tracy were guests. Chairman L. Wesley Robbins of the chamber recreation committee led in the discussion.

Salvation Army Recounts Helpful Actions of Year

Members of the advisory board of the Salvation Army at their annual meeting accepted a report of the functions of the religious organization, expressing satisfaction to Major George Engle.

Fred A. Kuhlmann, chairman of the board, presided. Resignation of L. Wesley Robbins as secretary was accepted and Mrs. W. O. Pell was appointed to the office. Robbins announced he is leaving for Great Falls, Mont.

Major Engle reported that during the past year the Salvation Army had cared for 10,097 persons, served 11,803 meals, provided beds for 10,012 persons, assisted 79 families, gave to needy persons, 1012 pieces of clothing, and assisted 233 individual women.

In addition, 1,808 men were taken off the streets at night and given shelter although sufficient beds were not available. Major Engle also reported good progress made in re-establishing the work which was hindered by a fire two years ago.

Major Engle added that a successful Christmas program was held a year ago and plans were under way for a like program this Christmas. He reported an addition to the building has provided more space for the salvage department, which the board said is very important, due to the fact that the department not only assists financially but provides labor for those seeking assistance.

Major Engle asks cooperation of business houses and others to assist by providing employment of from 30 minutes to an hour for those who apply to the Salvation Army for assistance.

Glen Bros. to Mark 50th Anniversary

In 1907 George and Jay Glen took over part of the floor space in a Washington Boulevard plumbing shop to try their hand at the music business.

Their success has been a lasting one evidenced by the fact that this month the company celebrates its 50th anniversary.

About 50 employees and guests from the company stores in Ogden, Salt Lake and Provo will attend a dinner in Salt Lake tomorrow night when tribute will be paid to the store founders and all employees with 20 years of service with Glen Bros.

The Ogden store, 2546 Washington Blvd., will close at 3 p.m. to observe the occasion.

GIVE HISTORY

A brief history of the company's founding and growth will be given at the dinner.

Thomas J. Holland, president and general manager of the firm, said token gifts of appreciation will be given to all 20-year employees. The company has about 17 such employees, he said.

Eldon L. Taylor, firm vice president and treasurer and current manager of the Ogden store, said there are four employees working in Ogden now who have a combined total of 129 years with the firm.

Mr. Holland said the Glen brothers moved about five years after they started in business and located on Hudson Avenue, known today as Kiesel Avenue.

The following year, 1912, Ralph

Roberts joined the firm as a partner and the business became known as Glen Bros.-Roberts Piano Co.

OPENED BRANCH

Jay Glen went to Salt Lake three years later and opened a branch store on Second South Street next to the Orpheum Theater.

A big expansion came in 1923 when the firm obtained a site occupied on Washington Boulevard by Blackman and Griffin, wholesale grocers.

Mr. Holland said the building was torn down and a new store erected. The structure stands today as present headquarters for Glen Bros.

In 1929 Mr. Roberts moved out of the firm when he exchanged his interests for ownership of a store previously opened in Pocatello.

A third branch was opened in Provo in 1951 under the management of L. Wesley Robbins, former manager of the Ogden branch.
